So He Burned Her
Aiming at Ford
Terrible Inconsistency
Mixed Florida News
—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IN New York a murder case interests a good many millions, including special writers, artists, and the general public.

A young man named Earle Peacox, according to his own admission, strangled his young wife. He did it, it seems, because she did not love him enough, or that he loved her too much, or in some other way true love's course was wrong.

AFTER killing the young woman he took her corpse to the woods, poured kerosene over it, and set fire to it.

This was done because a kindlier idea suggested itself that it would shock the young woman's mother to see her daughter's dead body. If she were burned up, she wouldn't be shocked.

THE question now is, "what idea will occur to the judge and jury trying this interesting case."

THE Senate approves, 46 to 31, the amendment to the tariff bill, forbidding "Americans with factories abroad to send foreign made articles into this country under an American trade-mark." Formerly, goods manufactured abroad and entered with an American trade-mark could be brought in with the consent of the trade-mark owner.

THE idea is said to be aimed at Henry Ford's tractor factory in Ireland, according to Senator Reed, and is "a movement to transfer American-owned factories abroad at lower labor costs."

HENRY FORD may easily manufacture his tractors in America. He did that before, until he needed the Dearborn tractor factory for his new car.

For the information of the tractor industry, it may be mentioned that Henry Ford before long will produce a new kind of tractor, made here in America.

MR. DORAN, federal commissioner of prohibition, is shocked by the "inconsistency" of leaders who regard liquor drinking as an evil for their employes, but feel the law should not interfere with their own drinking.

That "inconsistency" need surprise nobody. Prohibition is based upon it.

THE greatest steel manufacturer in the United States, recently deceased, told his friend, Mr. Gerard, "We have no trouble with the steel strikes. No strikes can succeed under prohibition. All we've got to do is keep whisky away from the men, which is easy, and they'll submit."

GREAT industrialists want their men to drink water so that they won't get caught in high speed, and so that they will come to work early Monday morning.

The great industrialists have their bootleggers that supply fairly good champagne.

THE farmers want prohibition so that the farm hand may not go to town and fail to come back. The farmer has his applejack and hard cider, and the law does not interfere with either.

The South wants prohibition because it is bad for Negroes to drink cheap gin or whisky. This does not mean that white gentlemen intend to forego their usual nourishment with mint in it.

THERE is reason in all things. Our prisons are not made for the man that steals a million. Our prohibition law is not made for the man that owns a million.

FRANK B. SHUTTS, owner of the Miami Herald, sends this information, interesting to friends of Florida:

"This country (where Miami is situated) and the southeast Florida coast is not infested by the Mediterranean fruit fly. The grapefruit crop this year is particularly fine both in quantity and quality. It is maturing 30 days ahead of time. One dealer in Miami has just received and is filling a New York order for 48,000 boxes, which we regard as a pretty good start."

THE newspapers will tell of a "tropical storm of great intensity leaping toward the Florida coast, taking in a region between Jupiter and Miami."

But like eastern stories of western earthquakes, Florida's tornado stories often resemble the report of Mark Twain's death, which he describes as "much exaggerated."

RUSSIAN Bolshevism has abolished all religious holidays, including Sundays. Russians, clinging to the old religion, object violently to this.

Some of them have been pacified by an official announcement that under the new plan they will have a day off every five days, instead of their Sunday every seven days. The only holidays will be celebrations in connection with the Russian revolution, including the death of Lenin, January 9.

Russia seeks to establish a 24-hour day, no man working more than eight hours. Resting every fifth day, machines and factories kept going constantly.

ON the Island of Hawaii, many live in dread of a frightful volcanic eruption. The Mountain of Hualalai, supposedly "dead," has been shaken by frequent earthquakes.

And Dr. Jaeggar, volcanic expert, expects a pent-up mass of lava to force its way to the surface of Mauna Loa.

Be grateful that you live in a land that remains reasonably quiet.

ALEX STEWART

GARAGE FUMES KILL BURGESS

First aid workers early today lost a battle against death when Alex Stewart, 65, burgess of Emsworth and treasurer of the Stewart Oil and Gas Company, died from carbon monoxide fumes at 5 a. m. At midnight he was found unconscious in the garage at the home of his nephew, James Stewart, Allegheny and Center avenues, Emsworth.

Burgess Stewart was found by the nephew, who became alarmed when his uncle did not return from the garage. The engine of the car was running.

FIRST-AID FUTILE

A call for aid brought firemen from Bellevue, and first aid crews from the Duquesne Light Company and the United States Bureau of Mines, who worked more than five hours in a futile attempt to save the victim's life. He died without regaining consciousness.

Stewart was born in Bellevernon and had lived in Emsworth 37 years. He had been active in civic and po-

BORAH-HOOVER 'BREAK' WIDENS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(INS.)—The "break" between President Hoover and Senator William E. Borah, his leading supporter in the last campaign, was widened this afternoon when the Idaho senator challenged the President from the floor of the Senate to state his views on the industrial schedules in the new tariff bill.

Taking direct issue with the President, Borah first condemned the flexible tariff provision as a "sinful waste of time and money." Then while asserting the right of the President to speak in defense of the flexible tariff, Borah demanded that Mr. Hoover similarly speak his views on tariff rates to the country.

Borah asked that the president answer three questions. These were:

1—Whether he approves the industrial schedules.

2—Whether he approves the agricultural rates, and

3—Whether he feels the new bill carries out his pledges and the party's pledges in the last campaign.

By a coincidence, Senator David A. Reed (Rep.) of Pennsylvania, by no means a warm friend of the president, rushed to Mr. Hoover's defense. Reed declared the constitution authorized the president to recommend legislation and he took sharp issue with Borah over the latter's charge that the tariff war is a struggle between agriculture and industry, declaring the issue was between one group "attempting to drag industry down to agriculture's level" and the Republican group "seeking to drag agriculture up to industry's level."

POLICEMAN CONFESSES BEATING

Struck Only in Self-Deefnse, Watts Testifies; Lyster And Slapikas Deny Attack

The three coal and iron police on trial in Criminal Court for the murder of John Borkowski, Tyre miner, today answered the charge.

Here is their defense:

Lieut. Walter J. Lyster did not beat and abuse Borkowski in the police barracks of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Imperial; he simply twisted his broken nose to revive him.

Harold Watts inflicted blows on Borkowski, but only in self-defense, and after Borkowski had stabbed him.

Frank Slapikas took no part in the fighting.

After Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk had rested the prosecution's case today Defense Counsel Charles B. Prichard immediately moved, at a side-bar conference, that the court instruct the jury to acquit Slapikas, Judge James H. Gray refused.

DRAMATIC MOMENTS

The most dramatic moment of the trial came during Prichard's outline of the defense case to the jury, and was supplied by the widowed Mrs. Borkowski.

"This was the beginning of it all," Prichard was describing the fighting at the Blussick home in Santiago.

Mrs. Borkowski, seated in the first row of spectators' seats, cried out in a voice that pierced the court room:

"But why did they kill my John?"

Tipstaffs rushed to her side and quieted her. Her four children

MRS. PANTAGES FOUND GUILTY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—(INS.)—Mrs. Alexander Pantages today is facing the penalty of one to 10 years imprisonment in the penitentiary for the death of Juro Rokumoto, a Japanese gardener.

The jury of five women and seven men last night returned a verdict of manslaughter after more than eight hours deliberation.

Mrs. Pantages, wife of the millionaire theater operator, was brought to trial on a charge of second degree murder after the automobile she was driving crashed into the flivver of Rokumoto, hurling his family into the street and injuring him fatally.

The state charged that she was intoxicated when the crash occurred.

NO PLEA FOR MERCY

According to reports from the jury room, the jurors at no time were in favor of acquitting the defendant. Their main point of de-

MACDONALD OFF TO U. S. SATURDAY

Dawes Bids Adieu as Prime Minister Prepares for Naval Talks With Hoover

LONDON, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—The desks of Downing street were being given a final clearing today, preparatory to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's departure from England Saturday, for his disarmament mission to the United States.

Yesterday, the British cabinet sat for four hours clearing up business, the details of which will be completed today and tomorrow, thus leaving the Premier free of all official cares while he is conducting negotiations with President Hoover at the White House.

SNOWDEN TO ACT

The cabinet also reviewed the work of the forthcoming session of Parliament, which will start before Mr. MacDonald returns to England, it is expected that Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, will be acting prime minister during MacDonald's absence.

Ambassador Dawes paid a farewell visit to the Prime Minister this morning.

The visit was purely of a personal nature, the general wishing the premier good luck and giving him useful tips about the United States.

GERARD ON BOAT

This is the last time that Ambassador Dawes will see Mr. MacDonald before the latter leaves tomorrow night for Southampton to board the Berengaria, which sails early Saturday. Mr. Dawes will not accompany him to the boat.

Among the passengers on the Berengaria will be James W. Gerard, war-time American Minister in Berlin, Sir Joseph and Lady Duveen, and Tom Van Oss, artist, who is painting Mr. MacDonald's portrait.

U. S. DISCLAIMS DELAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(INS.)—Reports from London that the delay in dispatching invitations to the proposed five-power naval conference was due to American objections to the text were officially denied here today.

Great Britain, it was said at the State Department, has not submitted the proposed text to this government for its approval, reports from London to the contrary notwithstanding.

The responsibility for calling the powers together is being assumed entirely by the British government, it was stated, and this fact precludes any necessity of London having to obtain Washington's approval of the text of the invitations.

Widow Takes Stand In Son's Poisoning

BELAIR, Md., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Mrs. Hattie Stone, 40-year-old Havre de Grace widow, was having her chance today to answer the charge that she poisoned her son, George, 15, in the trial in which, since Monday, she had listened to state witnesses who pressed the accusation. The defense began its presentation of evidence after the prosecution had presented the accusation of Mrs. May Baker, who said Mrs. Stone admitted the poisoning to her.

THIEF WITH $5,000 IS CAUGHT

Negro Trapped in South Side On Tip of Taxi Driver He Forced to Help Him Flee

A Negro robber, single-handed, held up the Merchants Savings and Trust Company, 1410 Fifth avenue, today and fled in a taxicab with $5,448.

Forty minutes later he was captured after a chase by police on the hillside above the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at the head of South Thirty-Sixth street, with the money in his possession.

After speeding to the South Side the robber alighted in South Twenty-fourth street. The driver, Jacob T. Keffer, of 437 Rosedale street, notified the South Side police of the holdup of the bank and that he had been compelled at the point of a revolver to aid the bandit to escape.

Patrolmen William Fallert, D. J. Tucker and Joseph Bell, along with Keffer took up the chase. They overtook the Negro as he was clambering up the steep hillside above Thirty-sixth street.

BANDIT GIVES UP

"Come down," commanded Patrolman Fallert.

The Negro reached for his gun. Fallert beat him to the draw and the robber did not pull his revolver.

In leaping across a gully to reach the side of the police, the bandit crashed into Fallert and broke his thumb.

At the South Side Station the Negro gave his name as Scott Wainwright, 23, of 3402 Carson street.

BANK JUST OPENED

The Negro entered the bank shortly after it opened at 9 o'clock this morning. He had timed the robbery to the minute.

Clerks had just taken rolls of bills from a vault and placed them in money drawers ready for business.

Approaching a cage occupied by E. J. Stack, of Wexford, a teller, the Negro thrust a revolver be-

MIAMI ESCAPES HURRICANE

HAVANA, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Father Gutierrez Lanza, of the Belen Jesuit College Observatory, was of the opinion today that storm danger was over along the east coast of Florida which, has made great preparations against a tropical disturbance centering yesterday in the Bahamas.

The center of the storm was said to be sweeping out over the waters of the Atlantic in a northeasterly direction.

According to Father Gutierrez Lanza, the Bahaman storm was unable to blow through a high pressure area which spread over the Atlantic seaboard from the northeastern states yesterday and last night.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—A message from the British freighter Domira, aground at Abaco Island, Bahamas, to Tropical Radio today said the crew was abandoning ship in its lifeboats, but that the captain, radio operator and one other were staying aboard.

Woman, Man Slain; Husband Arrested

GALESBURG, Ill., Sept. 26.—(INS.)—The bodies of Mrs. Mary Hawkinson, 42, and a man believed to be George Martin, 35, of Dayton, O., were found by police in the Hawkinson home here today. Both had been shot and their throats slashed with a razor.

The body of Mrs. Hawkinson was found in bed, while that of Martin was on the floor. Both were fully clothed.

Albert Hawkinson, husband of the woman, was taken in charge by the sheriff, and is being held for questioning. He denies complicity.

J. B. Leopold Leaves Estate of $40,000

In the will of J. B. Leopold, of South Aiken avenue, filed for probate today, an estate of $40,000 was left to his widow, Katherine J. Leopold, who was also named executrix. Mrs. Elizabeth R. Armstrong, of Harmar township, left an estate of $30,000 to her children and grandchildren.

3 Masked Bandits Get $15,000 Gems

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Three masked bandits bound and gagged Mrs. Florence Shaver in her Gold Coast apartment last night and escaped with jewelry valued at $15,000. Clyde Tennis, Detroit real estate man and business associate of Mrs. Shaver, also was a victim. An unset 12-carat diamond, valued at $35,000, was the goal of the bandits, but Mrs. Shaver had placed it with a jeweler for display.

Goebel Leads Fliers In Kansas City Hop

WEWOKA, Okla., Sept. 24.—(INS.)—Led by Art Goebel, who took off at 9 o'clock this morning, contestants in the international air derby left Wewoka airport at two-minute intervals on their last leg of flight for Kansas City.

Goebel was followed by Capt. Feliciano Flores, Col. Roberto Fierro and Capt. Louis Verdeja, all of the Mexican air corps.

Thieves Get 15 Suits From Tailor's Shop

Police and city detectives were seeking today the robbers who last night broke into the tailor shop of Max Rosenthal, 1104 Wylie avenue, and, after ransacking the place, escaped with 15 suits of clothes and three overcoats valued at $400.

Precinct Detective T. F. O'Connor, attached to the Center avenue station, said Rosenthal told him the intruders gained entry into the shop by tearing down a heavy wire screen on a rear door.

Pershing Shot Judge? Absurd! Says Host

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—A radio broadcast story that Gen. John J. Pershing accidentally shot and slightly wounded Richard P. Lydon, New York Supreme Court justice, while hunting grouse this summer on the Scotland estate of Bernard M. Baruch, was denied today by Mr. Baruch.

An account of the shooting was given last night over Station WOR by Alexander Woollcott, dramatic critic. aLter he told reporters he learned of the incident from two members of the shooting party. The general and the justice, he said, were in two shooting boxes and when Pershing fired at a grouse, some of the bird shot entered the justice's face inflicting slight injuries.

Mr. Baruch denied the story.

"I never saw a scratch on Justice Lydon's face," he said. "To my knowledge, nothing of the sort happened, and as I was host I think I should have heard of it if it had."

Mr. Baruch confirmed the fact that Gen. Pershing and Justice Lydon had been guests at the same time at Buchanan Castle, his estate on Loch Lomond. Gen. Pershing and Justice Lydon are still abroad.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—"There is absolutely nothing to it," said Gen. John J. Pershing today when informed of a New York report that he had accidentally shot and slightly wounded Justice Richard P. Lydon while hunting grouse in Scotland. The general declined to say anything further.

Lindbergh Will Explore Central America

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(INS.)—Shortly after his return to the United States, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will undertake an aerial exploration in the hitherto unexplored area believed to contain ruins of ancient Maya cities in sections of Guatemala, Honduras, British Honduras and the Mexican provinces of Yucatan and Quintama Noo, it was announced jointly today by the Carnegie Institution of Washington and the Pan American Airways, Inc.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's huge amphibian plane today was poised for a takeoff late this afternoon to trace a new westward air mail to Maracay, Venezuela. The flight is a comparatively short one, covering 415 miles.

Lindbergh, with his party, which includes Mrs. Lindbergh and Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways, and Mrs. Trippe, arrived here from Paramaribo at 1:10 p. m. yesterday, after the famous pilot had out-maneuvered intermittent squalls out of jungles and treebound river deltas of coastal South America. The flight from Paramaribo was the first leg of the homeward journey of the 7,000-mile air mail exploration through the West Indies, South and Central America and Mexico.

Prosecution Ends Its Case; Defense to Assail Story Told Jury by Eye-Witness alongside her joined her in tears. Prichard resumed.

WATTS TAKES STAND

In a quiet, confidential tone Prichard addressed the jury for an hour. Then he put on his first witness, Watts, the defendant.

Watts told of himself and Slapikas stopping in at the home of Mrs. Mary Blussick at Santiago when they noticed the house lighted. Lieut. Lyster had instructed him to determine whether John Higgins was selling moonshine there, Watts testified.

"We rapped on the door and John Higgins invited us in," Watts related. "Higgins and Caruso were in the house. We bought a half-pint of moonshine from Higgins and treated him and Caruso to a drink.

"Then Eddie Blussick and a couple of his friends came in. Blussick started an argument over cigarets and Higgins ordered him and his friends out of the house.

"I became suspicious. I knew their car was parked on the road in back of the house. I could not figure why Higgins wanted to get rid of the boys. I went out to the car and Slapikas followed me.

"I asked the driver for his license and while he was getting it I flashed my light into the back seat. I noticed a burlap bag between Eddie Blussick's legs.

"I reached for it and somebody stabbed me.

"I grappled with him. We fell to the ground. I secured possession of the knife and put it in my pocket. The man broke away. I grabbed him and we again fell to the ground.

"I wanted to place the man under arrest but he was fighting so much I could not hold him. He managed to get to his feet and in self-defense I pull my revolver and struck him several times with it. He broke away and started to run. I caught up with him and he tripped and fell. He fell very hard."

TELLS OF STRUGGLE

"When we got on our feet he struck me several times in the face with his fist. I overpowered him and turned him over to Slapikas.

"I went back for Higgins. As I was walking towards Higgins Mrs. Blussick came out of the house with two jugs. I went towards her to find out what was in the jugs. Higgins started to run towards us.

"I struggled with Mrs. Blussick for possession of the jugs. I got hold of one of them and she broke the other. Higgins tried to take the other away from me. In the tussle I struck him over the head with the jug. He got possession of it and broke it on the ground.

"Higgins ran into the house and closed the door. I opened it and arrested him.

"Higgins said, 'I'll go now; there's no more evidence.'

"I drove to the barracks with Higgins, Borkowski and Slapikas.

"I went upstairs and told Corporal Meckling I had been stabbed. I removed my coat and sweater and came downstairs."

(Watts identified for the jury cuts in the sweater and coat which he said were created when he was stabbed.)

DENIES BARRACKS BEATING

Prichard—Did you, at any time before or after Dr. Patterson's arrival, kick or beat or molest Borkowski at the barracks in any way?

Watts—No.

Q.—Did you have a blackjack at the Blussick home.

A.—No; it was in the pocket of my car.

ADMITS BLOW

On cross-examination Prosecutor Clunk asked Watts if he had hit Borkowski over the head with a gun.

"I struck him after he had me on the ground and hit me," Watts replied.

Watts, on the stand for more than two hours, was followed by a co-defendant, Slapikas, whose early testimony corroborated Watts' story.

Before Slapikas took the stand Judge Gray announced that a night session would be held from 7:30 until 11 o'clock.

Dr. J. M. Patterson, who testified for the Commonwealth of the beating Lyster inflicted on Borkowski, was confused, Prichard maintained in outlining his case.

Before resting his case Prosecutor Roy T. Clunk recalled Mrs. Borkowski and John Borkowski, Jr., to the stand.

They testified that the knife with which Watts was stabbed was not Borkowski's, that he never carried a knife.

Prosecutor Clunk felt that, with the testimony yesterday of the widow, Mrs. Borkowski, and Higgins, he had put in his most damaging testimony, along with that of Dr. J. M. Patterson, coal company physician who dressed Borkowski's wounds.

Higgins, from the prosecution standpoint, was the star witness. For three hours he answered questions. On cross-examination he withstood a severe grilling by Prichard and Coll.

EYE WITNESS TALKS

It was Dr. Patterson who had implicated Lyster with the fatal attack on Borkowski in the police barracks at Imperial.

Higgins said Watts slugged Borkowski first with the butt of a revolver, then with knucklers. He also linked Lyster with the beating at the barracks.

This threat Lyster shot at Borkowski, Higgins testified:

"If you don't admit you stabbed our man (Watts), you hunky, I'll kill you."

And Constable Ross Shaffer, who told of sleeping in the Imperial barracks during the Borkowski attack, testified that Watts had shown him the revolver with the bent trigger guard and said, "I used this on Borkowski."

Clunk put Mrs. Borkowski on the stand to establish Borkowski's death. Sobbing, she identified the blood-stained clothes of her husband.

Throughout the day the widow, dressed in mourning, sat in the first row of spectators' seats with her four children, weeping frequently.

O. J. Mechling and Thomas A. Donaldson, police of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, testified yesterday.

Mechling told of Watts slapping Borkowski so forcibly that the miner's head rocked. Donaldson testified to seeing wounds on Borkowski's head.

REPUDIATES CONFESSION

Mechling added that Slapikas was not active in the confusion in the barracks.

Mechling told of rewriting a confession which Higgins signed and repudiated yesterday. The confession named Higgins as the salesman of whisky to Watts and Slapikas and as having seen Borkowski stab Watts in Mrs. Mary Blussick's home, where the fighting started.

"It was a third-degree confession," Higgins maintained.

A DREAM COMES TRUE By QUIN HALL

BANK HELD UP, THIEF CAUGHT WITH $5,448

tween the bars of the window and commanded:

"Push out some change or I'll shoot."

Stack grabbed a stack of $1 bills and shoved them through the window.

The Negro pushed them back.

"Cut that stuff out," snarled the robber. "Take that back. I don't want that—I want big money. Somebody is going to get hurt if I don't get it."

Stack shoved a large bunch of bills of various denominations through the window.

The Negro stuffed part of the bills into his pockets, placed another roll under his arm and darted out the door.

Running to a new model Green taxicab a few doors away, which he previously had engaged, the Negro jumped into the car, poked a revolver in the driver's ribs and said: "Take me for a ride. I'm in a hurry."

DRIVER'S STORY

Keffer, driver of the Green taxicab in which the bandit made his getaway, told police the Negro threatened to kill him if he did not drive him.

"The Negro approached my cab in Pride street, between Fifth avenue and Forbes street," Keffer said.

"'I have some business to attend to and will be back in a few minutes,' he said after asking me to drive him to Clairton. I climbed behind the wheel and waited.

"In about five minutes the Negro ran up to me and jumped in the back, putting a pistol behind my right ear.

DEATH THREATENED

"'Drive or I'll kill you,' he said. 'Drive fast or I'll blow your head off.'

"He ordered me to drive out Forbes street and as we were passing Miltenberger street I told him to sit down and hide the gun or he would make me nervous and we'd wreck.

"He sat down, but kept the gun on his lap and told me to drive over the Twenty-second Street Bridge, over Sidney street to Twenty-fourth street and then over to Carey way and out to Twenty-sixth street. At Twenty-sixth street, the door signal light flashed and I looked around as the Negro was stepping out.

"'Don't stop or I'll kill you,' he shouted as he jumped off, and I kept going—to the police station."

Edward Breitweiser, vice president of the bank, was in his office when the holdup occurred.

THOUGHT HOLDUP JOKE

"I heard somebody say 'Stick 'em up,' and demand money but I thought someone was only joking" said Breitweiser.

"I came out of my office, however, to see what it was all about. I found my clerks and tellers lying on the floor. Stack was at the window with the robber pointing a gun at him.

'I got down on the floor. One of the tellers asked me to pass him a gun, but before either of us could reach the weapon the robber had fled."

GIRL SUSPECTED NEGRO

Miss Minnie Wishnev, a clerk in a furniture store at 1406 Fifth avenue, was about to go into the store a few minutes before the holdup occurred.

"I was at the door of the store when the actions of a Negro standing near the bank aroused my suspicions. I stood watching him, until he went into the bank. He walked nervously and hurriedly. A few minutes later he reappeared on the street and started to run. He wore a light suit and a light cap.

Among those in the banking room at the time of the holdup were Miss Mary E. Taafe, treasurer; Miss Dora Alpern, Miss Tess Bachmen, Miss Florence Hahn, Albert Korta and C. T. Saunders, clerks and bookkeepers. Saunders was seated at a desk with his back to the robber.

Ben Colker, of 3423 Beechwood boulevard, was sitting in an automobile nearby reading a newspaper.

"I saw the Negro running out of the bank," he said. "He had a roll in his hand, and started out Fifth avenue. A second later a teller, I suppose, appeared at the door with a revolver in his hand. He was asking which way the bandit ran."

"After the Negro ran down the street, it appeared as if he pulled out a gun and stuck up a taxi driver and ordered him to drive away. After the Negro got into the cab it went at high speed out Fifth avenue," Colker said.

$5,448 AND 85 CENTS

The money recovered was counted by Police Inspector J. N. Hoey at the South Side station. It totaled $5,448.85. The 85 cents belonged to the robber, police said.

Later Hoey turned $5,000 over to the bank. Police retained $448 to be used as evidence against the Negro at a hearing in Central Police Court tomorrow morning.

"I am a chainman on a crane at Jones and Laughlin," Wainwright told police, they said. "I was making very little and saw no future ahead, so I decided to make some money quick. I tipped the driver when I let him go."

WALTER J. LYSTER W. ELLISON CHALMERS

Lyster Schoolmate of Man Who Fought System He Symbolizes

That strange philosopher, Fate, who watches at crossroads for human adventurers, might well shake his head wisely at the coincidence involving Walter J. Lyster and W. Ellison Chalmers.

Lyster is on trial for his life for the murder of John Borkowski, miner. Chalmers is instructor in economics at the University of Pittsburgh, and secretary of the Civil Liberties Union, Pittsburgh branch.

Lyster is accused with others, of beating to death the man whose cause the Civil Liberties Union made the chief issue for the abolition of the coal and iron police system.

And Lyster and Chalmers are from the same little town; from the same grammar and high school. They played on the same teams. As prep students they were opponents.

Somewhere at the cross roads they took different roads.

Chalmers admitted that he knew Lyster as a boy, but failed to recognize him or connect him with Lansdowne and "home folks" until after the investigation.

"Then I saw a picture of him in a newspaper, after working several weeks investigating for the Civil Liberties Union," he said. "Somehow it revived my memory of an overgrown boy in the eighth grade of the Lansdowne school; of his cousins and uncle who are among my dearest friends.

"Then I remembered him, a few years older than the rest of us, going to war; his stories when he returned; and, much sophisticated and matured from his army experience, re-entering high school as a junior. We were classmates then, and played on the same football team. Later I went to Petty preparatory school and he went for four years to the Pennsylvania Military Academy. In 1921, with our baseball team, he pitched against us when our club met the academy's."

Chalmers went to Brown University and forgot Lyster.

Lyster joined the state police and likely forgot, if he had ever considered, Chalmers.

Chalmers is not attending the trial. He is at home with his two-year-old daughter.

And Lyster is the steel faced, grim defendant against whom the state is asking first degree murder—and the chair.

PEACOX HELD SANE AT KILLING

Alienist Testifies Against Young Husband on Trial For Strangling of Wife

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

COURTHOUSE, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Earle Peacox, the so-called "psychopathic personality," was of sound mind when he strangled his bride, Dorothy, on the night of April 21, the first anniversary of their wedding. He "knew what he was doing."

This testimony was given today by a noted alienist, Dr. Menas Gregory, head of the psychopathic department of Bellevue Hospital, New York City. Dr. Gregory was called to the stand by the prosecution to refute statements of two defense alienists who testified Wednesday that Peacox was a "psychopathic personality," who suffered an "emotional storm" at the time he was choking his wife, and therefore could not distinguish right from wrong.

ALIENIST QUESTIONED

Dr. Gregory was questioned by District Attorney Frank H. Coyne.

Q—Was Peacox sane at the time he was killing his wife?

A—He was in sound mind at the time. He was not insane.

Q.—In your opinion, doctor, did he know his acts were wrong?

A.—Yes.

Dr. Gregory was present when Defense Attorney Sidney A. Syme read a 20,000-word hypothetical question to the defense alienists yesterday, detailing all the major events in young Peacox's life—the injuries he had suffered in boyhood and the frequent outbursts of temper he displayed on occasions later in life.

ANALYZES DEFENDANT

The district attorney asked Dr. Gregory if he had "observed" Peacox in the courtroom. He had. He was aked to give his reaction to the defendant.

"I have observed that Mr. Peacox is alert, anticipating questions and showing good control and normal reactions," replied Dr. Gregory. "He seems in every respect an average young man of his type. My opinion is that he was of sound mind at the time of the crime."

"That's all," said Coyne.

Defense Attorney Syme cross-examined the witness.

With the iad of books defining psychopathic personalities, he tried to shake the expert's testimony, but the witness stuck by his guns.

"I don't need these books," declared Dr. Gregory, angrily. "There are many criminals among psychopaths and queer, eccentric people. That is our definition of psychopathic personality."

Syme and Dr. Gregory bickered over the definition of the word "psychosis" and the definition of "psychopathic personality."

Q.—Have you ever made any mistakes in diagnosis?

A.—I don't know. I may have. If you show me any mistakes I made, I will admit them.

HITS AT GREGORY

Syme tried to bring out that Dr. Gregory had made a report in another court case in which he had contradicted himself. Gregory denied it. Syme also sought to show Gregory had made an erroneous diagnosis in examining a prisoner in the Tombs. The attorney tried to show that several days after Gregory had said the prisoner was "shamming" insanity, the latter was committed to an asylum for the insane.

Dr. Frank B. Robertson, another alienist, testified he believed Peacox sane and knew the nature and quality of his acts on the night of the crime.

Attorney Syme pointed out he had showed Peacox once smashed his radio set to pieces and then wrecked the room.

"Isn't that emotional instability?" demanded Syme.

"No," replied the doctor. "That's temper. It could be cured with a spanking."

RIVER PAGEANT SET FOR OCT. 18

Pittsburgh's huge river pageant was definitely set today for Friday, October 18. The banquet will be held the preceding evening.

These dates were decided at a noonday meeting of the Ohio River Celebration committee in the Chamber of Commerce building. The members, with general chairman Alex W. Dann presiding, completed plans for the local celebration so that the details will link with the program arranged at Cincinnati.

Secretary of War James W. Good will be the principal speaker and James Francis Burke will be toastmaster at the banquet to be held in the William Penn hotel at 6:30 o'clock October 17. Other members of the cabinet and national figures have been invited to attend the celebration.

The river parade will start at 2 p. m. the next day, passing the Steamer Cincinnati, which will be the flagship. The parade is scheduled to reach the Ohio city on October 22, when President Herbert Hoover is expected to arrive there. The original date of the chief executive's visit had to be changed, which necessitated the local changing the parade date from October 12.

STONE QUIZZED ON FARM POST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—James C. Stone, of Kentucky, informed the Senate Agricultural Committee today that as vice chairman of the Federal Farm Board, he could give a life time experience in tobacco raising and marketing toward solving the farm problem.

Appearing as the first witness at today's hearing, he said he had relieved himself of all outside connections and that he had no financial interest in the processing or storage of tobacco.

He said the tobacco growers had not yet asked for any financial assistance but had begun to form a strong central marketing agency.

The committee is considering the nominations of the farm board members who up to the present have been serving under recess appointments. The committee yesterday concluded two days of questioning Chairman Legge.

Prisoner Ends Life In Uniontown Jail

He was a member of Bellevue Lodge No. 530, F. & A. M., the Knights Templar and Syria Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine; the Junior Order United American Mechanics, Odd Fellows, Lambskin Club and the Shannopin Country Club.

Stewart had been burgess of Emsworth four years, his term expiring next January.

He declined to run for re-election at the last primary. He leaves two brothers, J. M. Stewart, of Emsworth, and Louis A. Stewart, of Ben Avon. His wife died seven years ago.

Federal Utilities Probe to Reopen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Federal Trade Commission hearings investigating power and gas utilities, which have been adjourned since June, will be resumed on October 3.

The first hearing will be occupied with introduction by commission counsel of additional documents in connection with the publicity phase of the inquiry. Some witnesses also may be examined, but the commission said it was not prepared to announce who will be called at this time.

2 Negroes Convicted On Narcotic Charges

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Sam Gulmore and George Bonner, Pittsburgh Negroes, alleged to have sold narcotics to government agents, were found guilty by a jury in Federal Court here. Bonner was given two months in the Allegheny County Workhouse. Gulmore has yet to be sentenced.

STAY SENTENCE OF RACKETEER

It is probable that Judge William T. Darr, of Jefferson County, will await the return of Judge James B. Drew, who is now in Europe, before he pronounces sentence upon William Hanson, brother-in-law of Albert Forney, convicted during the graft crusade last spring of having slot machines in his possession.

Hanson was found guilty of one count in the indictment, which had charged him with being the operator of a string of machines. His attorney, Edward G. Coll, applied for a new trial to Judge Darr. The judge is again sitting in the Allegheny County court this week and it was thought he might rule on the motion for the new trial and pronounce sentence at this time.

NEW BUS LINE PERMIT ASKED

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26.—Application was made today to the Public Service Commission by the White Star Lines, Inc., to run motor buses between Pittsburgh and the Pennsylvania-West Virginia state line.

Two separate routes are proposed by the company. The routes would pass through Canonsburg, Washington, Claysville and Waynesburg. The Washington Transportation Company today asked the commission to permit it to discontinue service between Washington and West Alexander.

Beauty Cost Paid, Aimee Demands Correction

DETROIT, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—"Sister" Aimee Semple McPherson's demand of a correction of the "false beauty shop and hotel story" and the announcement that all of the Four Square Gospel Light House churches in Michigan except one had broken with Angelus Temple of Los Angeles, fountain head of Four Square Gospel, were developments in the secession movement begun earlier in the week by the Detroit Light House.

With the announcement of the secession of the additional churches, the Rev. Dawson MacCullough made public a telegram from Mrs. McPherson. It read:

"Please correct immediately false beauty shop and hotel story running in the headlines. While en route from Detroit, wired Dr. Fink (formerly pastor of the Detroit temple) $500 to cover the same. Ridiculous for the church to say they paid the bill. Such nonsense. God bless you all. Sister McPherson."

Dr. Fink was pastor of the Detroit church last July when Mrs. McPherson conducted a revival here.

NEW DAIRY CO. ENTERING CITY

Announcement was made today that the Isaly Dairy Company, with headquarters in Mansfield, O., is soon to enter the Pittsburgh field in competition with other dairy companies.

This was revealed following the granting of a charter at Harrisburg to the Isaly Dairy Company of Pennsylvania, with a capital of $500,000 and of which concern Henry Isaly, of Mansfield, is the president. The latter will open an office in Pittsburgh shortly.

The company already has a business at Ambridge, but recognizing the Pittsburgh field as a profitable one, the company intends to expand its business greatly, company officials announced. The Isaly interests, it was stated, have numerous dairies in Ohio.

Nap Under Trolley Costs Offender 30 Days

"I don't remember a thing about it, I must have been very drunk," John Bartell, 25, of 22 Mt. Oliver street said in South Side Police Court this morning, when he heard police testify that he selected the undercarriage of a street car to take a nap yesterday afternoon.

"Ten dollars or 30 days in the county jail," said Magistrate John J. Sweeney. Bartell was unable to pay the fine, and was committed to jail.

Bartell, police said, imbibed too freely in moonshine and crawled beneath the trolley, which has a terminal in South Eighteenth street. Efforts of the motorman, conductor and motorists to haul him out proved futile, it was said. Police dragged him from beneath the car. Bartell was charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

HUSBAND IMPERSONATOR FACES CONTEMPT CHARGE

SENATE RAPS TARIFF LOBBY

Connecticut Member's Act in Hiring Eyanson Under Fire in Bitter Debate

By JOHN A. KENNEDY
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—An amazed Senate was today awaiting more verbal fire from members of its body as a result of the Hearst newspapers' expose that "a confessed lobbyist" was on the Senate payroll and sat in the secret sessions of the Finance Committee when it was drafting the tariff bill.

One of the bitterest debates in many years was held yesterday in the Senate as a result of the expose.

A scathing denunciation of the action of Senator Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut, in hiring Charles L. Eyanson, assistant to the president of the Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut, as his tariff "expert" was made by Senators Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi; Robinson (Dem.), Arkansas, and Norris (Rep.), Nebraska.

Rocks Capital

No expose in a decade has so rocked official Washington as that of the complete story of the employment and Eyanson's activities disclosed yesterday in the Hearst newspapers.

The story was read on the Senate floor and served to make certain an investigation, not alone of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association, but all other activities of Washington's lobbying racketeers.

Senator Harrison opened the debate, calling attention to the Hearst expose as printed in the Washington Herald. He branded the action of Bingham as "a brazen affront at the fundamentals of American government."

Bingham, replying to the Mississippi Senator's scathing sarcasm, admitted the employment of Eyanson and took full responsibility for his action.

"If employing a man to look after the interests of my state is treason, then make the most of it," Bingham added.

Denounces Bingham

Senator Norris, veteran insurgent leader, denounced Bingham for his action in hiring Eyanson in order that "he might promote the interests of the Connecticut manufacturers in the tariff bill."

Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, Republican floor leader, defended Bingham, saying:

"Senator Bingham was entirely justified in hiring that man."

In opening a fiery denunciation of Bingham's employment of Eyanson, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, ironically characterized Watson's justification of selecting a lobbyist to help write the tariff bill "as a courageous speech." Robinson's indignation, the vehemence of his speech, left him pale and panting when he took his seat.

The debate of the Bingham-Eyanson incident got under way at the conclusion of a short speech by Senator Black (Dem.), Alabama, who demanded a general lobby investigation. His speech also contained a reference to the Shearer investigation, which is now in progress.

Senator Harrison took the floor at the conclusion of Senator Black's address. Harrison said in part:

"If Mr. Grundy (Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association), had been paid by the committee, of course it would have been terrible and the newspapers would have been aflame with it. But Mr. Grundy's friend, Mr. Grundy's coworker, sat in the secret councils of the majority of the committee and suggested changes in the cotton and wool schedules."

"Can any one doubt that he was in constant conference with his friend, Joe Grundy; that they were working in concert of action?

"Some one said this bill ought to be called the Reed-Grundy bill. I style it the Grundy-Eyanson bill."

HOOVER'S WIFE ELUDES GUARD TO SHOP

'First Lady,' in New York to Aid Girl Scouts, Wears Regulation Green Uniform

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, first lady of the nation, slipped away from her motorcycle escorts and guards of honor today to go shopping.

What she purchased and how much she bought may never be known. But those New York shoppers who appeared smiling and gracious today were accorded excessive consideration and rare attention by saleswomen throughout the downtown shopping belt.

The wife of the President planned to return to Washington this afternoon. It was her initial journey to New York alone as the wife of the nation's executive.

GRANTS INTERVIEW

She came here to aid the Girl Scout movement in its campaign to raise $3,000,000 for its five-year development program. And she brought the good news that the American relief administration had voted $500,000 for the Girl Scouts' national fund.

After formally opening an art exhibition for the benefit of the fund, Mrs. Hoover broke a precedent by permitting herself to be interviewed.

She didn't call it an interview, but merely "a few minutes' chat about the Girl Scouts."

Mrs. Hoover, honorary president of the Girl Scout Council, was dressed in a regulation green scout uniform.

FUND NEED STRESSED

"We can't give Girl Scouts all we want without it costing more money," she said. "All the girls must pay the same dues and many of our girls couldn't afford to pay any more. They aren't all rich little girls and it wouldn't be democratic for the rich to pay for the poor.

"The girls, of course, are the most important thing because of the joy they get out of it and because of what they put into it. But the leaders are the next important thing. The friendliness between the leaders and the little girls is the vehicle for exchanging our joys and sorrows."

"Any nice lady can be friendly, but she cannot be a scout leader without training, which takes money. So the important thing in the Girl Scout movement at present is money."

ACCUSED OF DIVORCE SUIT HOAX

Pittsburgher Admits Guilt in Accepting Service to Aid Woman in Winning Case

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 26.—His impersonation of the first husband of Mrs. Sallie Thornton Finegan, one of the best known women of Brownsville, has thrown Sanford Stuhlfire, secretary of a law firm in Pittsburgh, open to contempt of court.

On the witness stand the Pittsburgh man admitted the impersonation, saying that he accepted service in Mrs. Finegan's divorce when her first husband refused to come to Uniontown from Ohio unless given expense money for the round trip.

"FRIENDLY ACT"

When Mrs. Finegan explained the matter to Stuhlfire, she said he readily consented to pose as her first husband and have the divorce papers served on him.

The impersonation reached the ears of the court and a complete and rigid investigation was ordered. Mr. Stuhlfire admitted the impersonation, but said he considered it only a friendly act to assist in procuring the divorce.

FIVE DAYS TO FILE ANSWER

Stuhlfire said the deception was planned by him and Mrs. Finegan through a friend in Pittsburgh.

Stuhlfire has been given 15 days to file an answer as to why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court.

Sanford E. Stuhlfire is a clerk in the office of Walter L. Dipple, an attorney with offices in the Union Bank Bulding. Stuhlfire lives at 1731 Bedford avenue.

SHIP OFFICIAL DENIES LOBBY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—(INS.)—A vigorous denial that the Trans-Oceanic Corporation maintained any lobby or lobbyists in Washington to promote the four-days-to-Europe steamship service was made today by Lawrence R. Wilder, New York ship builder, who appeared as today's chief witness in the Senate's investigation of the activities of William B. Shearer.

Wilder organized and was former president of the American Brown-Boveri Corporation, one of the three shipbuilding firms which paid Shearer $25,000 to act as their "observer" at the Geneva naval conference.

Clinton F. Bardo, president of the New York Shipbuilding Company, one of the three which employed Shearer, brought Wilden into the probe when he testified Shearer was paid some of the money which went into organization of the trans-oceanic corporation set up to establish and forward a movement for a four-day trans-Atlantic shipping service.

Wilder told the committee that to regard expenditure of the money contributed by a number of shipbuilding companies toward the trans-oceanic proposition as a lobby was "too unfair to consider."

SUSPECT HELD AS E. END THIEF

Philip Major, 22, of 1791 Tier street, Penn township, was held for investigation today following a hearing before Magistrate William J. Soost, in Frankstown Avenue Police Court.

Police, who said Major admitted several robberies in the East End section, asked that he be held while they investigate charges that he is implicated in other petty jobs.

Major was arrested yesterday by Patrolmen James O'Donnell and Joseph Thompson on information made by Patrick Moran, proprietor of the Lincoln Roofing Company, 1704 Lincoln avenue, who said Major stole an air compressor drill and automobile tires from his place on August 24 last. Major also looted a private mail box containing a contract for roofing jobs on three new houses, Moran told Magistrate Soost. As a result, Moran testified, he lost the job. Major admitted the thefts. He will be turned over to postal authorities on the mail box looting charge, police said.

MAN BEATEN IN WOMAN'S HOME

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Charles M. Keckley, 62, well-to-do manufacturer, was found unconscious and probably fatally injured today in the South Side apartment of Mrs. Florence Jacobs, 35.

His skull had been fractured by a heavy blow behind the ear.

The woman, dazed with liquor and her dress stained by blood, was taken into custody.

"I cut my finger," she told police when asked to explain the blood.

She said Keckley had been a frequent caller, and this was confirmed by the man's son, O. C. Keckley, head of the manufacturing concern which bears his name. The elder Keckley was sales manager for the company. The son said Mrs. Keckley died seven years ago and his father had visited Mrs. Jacobs frequently for the last five or six years.

The police also arrested Leo Langlois, 30, who said he had roomed in the apartment four years.

FRANCE GREETS FLAG WINNERS

Escort of American Flag Champions Going Around the World as Guests of the Hearst Newspapers.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—The four champions of the United States Flag Association's flag contest were welcomed officially to France today by M. Francois Poncet, Minister of Fine Arts, who expressed great interest in the contest.

M. Poncet guided the youngsters on a tour of many of the points of interest in Paris and showed them many of the relics of Napoleonic days. Madame Ganna Walska was their hostess and also acted as interpreter at the reception and sightseeing tour.

The rooms where the peace treaties were signed 10 years ago were among the places of interest visited by the champions.

They first drove to St. Germain for luncheon in the hotel where France and Austria signed their document of peace.

After a visit at Malmaison, once the home of the Empress Josephine, wife of Napoleon, the champions went to what they declared was fairyland—Versailles. Before going to the hall of Mirrors, where Germany gave Alsace-Lorraine back to France, they wandered through the expansive gardens of the palace and were enchanted by the Swiss village flowers and wooded paths.

The luxurious finery of Louis XIV that caused the French Revolution, was inspected by the boys and girls.

ACTRESS HELD ON RUM CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Bee Montague, 21-year-old musical comedy actress, following a hearing on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated, was ordered to stand trial in Superior Court. Date for the trial was not set.

Oliver Wenzel testified his car was struck by Miss Montague's machine, which, he said, was on the wrong side of the street.

Officer C. C. Rice reported finding a small quantity of liquor in the actresses' automobile. The police surgeon reported that she was drunk when brought to the station.

bate was what charge she was guilty of—the count of murder or manslaughter, and the question of a recommendation for mercy.

The verdict, however, contained no recommendation for mercy.

Deathly pale and staring idly into space when the verdict was read by the clerk, Mrs. Pantages gasped audibly as the word "guilty" was uttered. Then she sat for minutes like a figure graven in gray stone while the court went through the red tape of legal procedure.

The jurors became on the instant something else than the cogs in the machinery of justice which they had been. Those who cried were unashamed of their tears as they sat, while the court clerk read their names in the final poll to which they answered, one after the other: "Yes, that is my verdict."

WEEPS HYSTERICALLY

Mrs. Pantages sat unmoving until it was all over and the court room cleared. Then she broke. Weeping hysterically, she was half carried, half led by her sons and daughter—her husband coming up somewhere behind—into a little room where she collapsed in sobs on a prisoner's bench while Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh did what he could to help her.

Then she was taken by a back elevator to the car waiting to take her home. She was not sent to jail.

Judge Carlos Hurdy granted the plea of her attorney, W. Joseph Ford, that she be allowed to remain out on her present bail of $50,000 pending the imposition of sentence at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The sentence he must impose is mandatory under the code, one to 10 years. Probation is possible, however.

Defense Attorneys Ford and William I. Gilbert would not say last night what action they planned to take. It is believed that they will appeal the verdict.

The district attorney's office will make no protest against probation for Mrs. Pantages, it was announced.

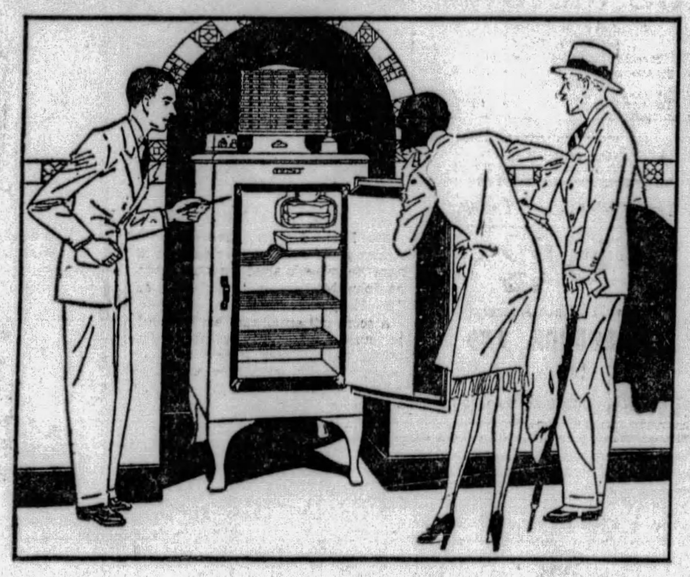
STOP... LOOK and LEASE
...when an apartment has a GENERAL ELECTRIC

HERE is a secret for apartment-seekers—examine the trade-mark on the refrigerator in the apartment. It can tell you so much.

For example, the General Electric name on the refrigerator tells you 3 things: first, that the landlord will probably prove to be a good landlord (the fact that he has made the necessary investment to install a General Electric means that he is interested in the permanent comfort of his tenant); second, the General Electric name tells you that your neighbors will be good neighbors (because the most discriminating people choose apartments that are equipped with General Electric Refrigerators); and third, it tells you that you will enjoy all the comfort and health-guarding refrigeration that the General Electric alone affords.



In addition to quiet, economical, amazingly trouble-free performance, the General Electric has another outstanding feature which makes it the ideal refrigerator for apartments. Each tenant has absolutely independent control of his own machine. He regulates its temperature to suit his needs. He defrosts it to suit his convenience. No action of any other tenant, or of the superintendent can in any way affect the service of his machine.

Look for the apartment with a General Electric. It's the sign of a truly modern apartment.

THIS RECORD STANDS ALONE

There are now more than 300,000 homes enjoying the convenience, economy, and protection of General Electric Refrigerators—and not one owner has ever had to spend a single dollar for repairs or service.

Every General Electric Refrigerator is Hermetically Sealed

CIVIL WAR VETS HOLD REUNION

ROCHESTER, Pa., Sept. 26.—Six of the 27 remaining member of the One Hundred and Fortieth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, answered roll call at the fifty-sixth annual reunion held here. The veterans were entertained at a luncheon by members of Junction City Circle No. 181, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic.

At the business session William P. McMasters, of Munhall, vice president, presided. President George Ryan, of Pittsburgh, died a short time ago. Members who answered roll call were: George E. Hamilton, Mercer; Michael Eddy, Waynesburg; James Dornan, Burgettstown; Isaac Minor, Vanport; Harry J. Boyde, Beaver, and William P. McMasters, Munhall. Other veterans present were Thomas Wilson, Beaver, and Noah Frederick, East Liverpool, O.

The following officers were elected: George E. Hamilton, Mercer, president; William P. McMasters, Munhall, and Michael Eddy, Waynesburg, vice presidents; Harry J. Boyde, Beaver, secretary-treasurer.

Donohoes Open South Hills Store

Another Donahoe store, the second in the South Hills district, opened today at Brownsville road near Sankey avenue, Carrick. This store is to serve residents of Carrick, Brentwood, Overbrook, Knoxville and Mt. Oliver. The store building is of brick and steel with front of limestone and copper settings. All display cases which will contain perishable foods are refrigerated and the temperatures controlled to safeguard the customers. The work was completed in 11½ weeks under the direction of Paul Northart, superintendent of construction for Donahoes.

Oil City Nurse Shooting Victim

DETROIT, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Mrs. Cordelia McCardle, 27, a nurse, who was on her way to Oil City, Pa., to join her husband, was wounded critically yesterday by a bullet fired from a revolver held by Dr. Henry W. Cadieux, who was demonstrating the weapon to her. Mrs. McCardle's husband, John, is conducting a theater orchestra at Oil City. Mrs. McCardle had purchased the weapon for protection on her trip to join him.

Bare-Foot Boy Dies, Shoeless Fad Blamed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Running around all summer in bare feet was blamed for the death of John Miller, Jr., who died at City Hospital of tetanus.

A score of small cuts and a nail puncture were found on the soles of the lad's feet after he was taken to the hospital Sunday night when the lockjaw symptoms first became apparent.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS CAUSE JAM

Nineteen traffic police were blowing whistles and waving their arms as of yore, in East Liberty today.

The automatic traffic light system, which had been operating perfectly hitherto, police said, failed to function properly when switched on at 7:15 o'clock this morning.

On some streets the lights shone unduly long, retarding motorists, while at other intersections the quick change of signals kept autoists puzzled.

Traffic Lieut. Bert Jackson discovered that no one had a key to old No. 8 engine house, Highland avenue and Broad street, where the master control apparatus is located. Police were dispatched to the principal crossings and turned off the lights. Then they took their old places in directing the stream of automobiles.

4 ACCUSED BY BEY FREED

Four members of the Moorish Holy Temple of Science, accused of conspiring to murder T. Crumbie Bey, of 182 DeVilliers street, governor of the temple, were acquitted yesterday in Criminal Court. Bey was shot in the head on July 11, but no evidence was presented to show who fired the gun.

The four defendants were J. Howie Bey, 1732 Arcena street; J. Brown and Mary Brown, his wife, of 16 Ledlie street, and Minnie Poilet Bey, of Arcena street. Visiting Judge William T. Darr, of Brookville, directed a verdict of acquittal on the conspiracy to murder charge because of lack of evidence.

G. Martin Bey, 1842 Cliff street, was acquitted on a charge of felonious assault. He was accused of firing a shot and missing A. Crumley Bey, brother of the governor of the temple. The testimony showed that the defendants and the governor had differences and disputes in the temple.

FALL OFF ROOF KILLS MAN

Injuries suffered nearly 10 days ago when he fell from the roof of a house in Detroit proved fatal early today for John McCallun, 73, of 112 East Third avenue, Homestead, in a Detroit hospital, according to word received by relatives.

Mr. McCullen suffered a fractured hip and internal injuries. His age aggravated the injuries and limited his chances for recovery, relatives said.

Mr. McCullen was repairing the roof of a relatives' home, Losing his balance he crashed to the ground. He was a retired steel worker and had resided in Homestead for more than 44 years. He was a member of St. Mary Magdalen's Catholic Church. Three sons and one daughter survive. The body will be brought to Homestead for burial.

Plane Hits Target In Mid-Air; Leap Saves Pilot

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—A last-minute leap from an airplane flying at sea, 1,400 feet up, was credited today with having saved the life of Lieut. J. P. De Shazo, Navy pilot.

De Shazo was 4,000 feet above the water north of here yesterday when his plane fouled a target towed by another craft.

The flier leaped, trusting to his parachute and life preserver. Half an hour later a fishing boat picked him up. He was not injured.

Fog Balks Refueling, Record Flight Fails

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Fog so heavy that the refueling plane could not be seen forced the Indianapolis Flamingo plane down at 5:40 o'clock this morning in its second attempt to establish a new refueling endurance record. The plane had been in the air 149 hours and 36 minutes.

MAKES RUG FOR COOLIDGE BRIDE

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—John Coolidge and his bride, the former Florence Trumbull, continued today to enjoy the quiet of life in this hamlet, where the thirtieth president of the United States was born.

Thanks to the industry of 97-year-old Mrs. Harriett M. Moore, a cousin of John's grandfather, the late Col. John Coolidge, the honeymooners have added to their gifts one whose sentimental associations will probably outweigh the monetary value of many more pretentious presents.

It is a braided rag rug made by Mrs. Moore last Monday.

There has been no indication as to how long they will continue to sojourn here or what their plans are.

THE CHILDREN'S FLOOR'S FIRST BIRTHDAY

Extraordinary Values--Friday and Saturday

ONE year ago we opened our floor of children's shops. This concentration of children's activities on one floor, supplemented by complete stocks and popular prices, has resulted in an extraordinary increase in the children's business of this store. The first birthday of this floor will be observed by special offerings, in every division of children's wear, similar to those which made the opening of this floor memorable and which served to introduce Horne qualities and values to thousands of parents and children. These special prices, which represent substantial concessions from regular figures, are effective only tomorrow and Saturday.

Real Estate

A three-story apartment building containing 12 suites at 5673-77 Hobart street, Squirrel Hill, has been sold by James A. West to Jacob Richter, who takes the property for investment. The lot is 62x156 feet. Mr. Richter deeded in part payment a six-family apartment house at 7536 Bennett street, Homewood, and 57 lots in the Baughman plan in Carrick and Baldwin Township.

The second floor of the Woolworth Building at 319 Fifth avenue has been leased through E. U. Snaman and Company to the East Liberty Bowling Association, who will install a number of alleys.

In Forest Hills, the Freehold Real Estate Company sold for the East Wilkinsburg Improvement Company to Thomas G. Caldwell a lot in Fairfax road, Edgewood Acres. The buyer has started the erection of a Colonial dwelling.

An English residence at 243 Pennsylvania boulevard, Mt. Lebanon, has been sold through the Colonial Realty Company for Ellis H. Schaffer, builder, to Paul C. McKenzie, who takes it for a home. The lot is 50x99 feet.

Elmer H. Johnson has purchased 60x164 feet in Orchard drive, Mt. Lebanon, from William F. Lusch and will build on it.

In Greentree, Thomas Kearney has conveyed to William Sarbin 25x100 feet in Rothesay avenue.

A six-room house and garage in Flemington street, Squirrel Hill, has been sold by John Ruhl to Alfonso Fragasso.

A property in Mill street, Wilkinsburg, has been sold by Clarence G. Love to Charles D. Zamaria. The lot is 24x68 feet.

The Goedecke Realty Company sold for Otto Schuchman to F. Walter Henk 10 lots and a frame dwelling in Sprucewood street, South Side.

Building permit applications included:

Fourteenth Ward—Edmund W. Mudge, alterations to private garage, Fifth and Morewood avenues, $20,000; F. Woytke, two brick dwellings, 4345-49 Ludwick street, $11,000.

Eighteenth Ward—Johns Lumber Company, brick building, 107 Warrington avenue, $20,000.

Twenty-second Ward—W. T. Shaffer, alterations, 18-22 Lacock street, $11,000.

New Device Winning Battle With Disease

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—(INS.)—An unusual battle against a dreaded disease was recorded today.

A specially prepared respirator, a new device invented by Dr. Philip Drinker, of the Harvard School of Public Health, has been keeping Barrett Hoyt, 22, Harvard senior, alive since he was stricken with infantile paralysis two weeks ago. The respirator virtually breathes for the patient.

"KONJOLA VERY MEDICINE THAT FIT MY CASE!"

Pittsburgh Resident Says: "I Tried Them All; Konjola Only Medicine That Helped."

Thousands of men and women have had the experience of trying scores of medicines and treatments without results, and then tried Konjola and found in this compound of 32 ingredients the medicine they always needed; the medicine they should have had in the first place.

One who had such an experience with Konjola in Pittsburgh is Mr. Edward Lamb, 5163 Jordan Avenue. To the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store, (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, this city, he told what Konjola had done for him. The Konjola Man, who is in Pittsburgh to tell the remarkable story of this remarkable medicine, hears many such reports daily, for Konjola does make good, even when all else tried has failed, in stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. No wonder Konjola makes good, for its 32 ingredients work together and singly, cleansing and stimulating the ailing organs and ridding the system of poisons and impurities. Konjola acts as a powerful aid to Nature, paving the way for the return of new and glorious health. Meet a Konjola Man . . . ask questions . . . delve into Konjola's astonishing record of success. Profit by experiences like that of Mr. Lamb, who says:

"What a medicine Konjola is. It proved to be exactly what I needed, after I had searched for and tried a score or more of medicines and treatments for constipation, indigestion and kidney trouble. Every meal caused misery, with gas, bloating and pains, no matter how plain the food I ate. Seemed like nothing agreed with me. I was so restless I could not sleep as I should at night, and this loss of rest told heavily on my general health. Terrible headaches, no doubt the result of constipation, added to my misery. I was so discouraged that I began to fear that there was nothing to help me, but I was wrong about this.

"Konjola soon woke me up, for the very first bottle gave results. Day after day I could note improvement in every way, and in two weeks I was feeling better than in years. I am still taking Konjola, for now it is building me up. My appetite is fine; headaches very infrequent and constipation is totally relieved. I am so grateful for what Konjola has already done for me that I could not resist the temptation to tell what this splendid medicine did for me, and I hope my experience acts as a guide to all who endured what I did while trying to find the very medicine that I should have had long ago."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such hazardous ingredients its seeming wonders to perform.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Smithfield and Diamond Streets, Pittsburgh. There is another Konjola Man at Dow's Drug Store, 5939 Penn Avenue, this city. Both are explaining daily, to all who come, the merits of Konjola, the new and different medicine.

Stage and Screen Reflections From Pittsburgh and Hollywood

TWO PITTSBURGHERS SCORE IN PROHIBITION PLAY JUST ON BROADWAY

By GEORGE SEIBEL

WHEN a new play, "Sweet Land of Liberty," opened at the Knickerbocker Theater in New York the other night, two households in Pittsburgh were on tiptoe to hear how it had fared. From the judgment of the critical fraternity the play seems to have been a success, and both the Pittsburgh households are happy because the players they were interested in scored personal hits.

George Seibel

The one was Anne Forrest, sister of Mabel Kroman, of the George Sharp Players. The other was Joseph Woodburn, son of a well-known Allegheny family. She plays a sentimental jade, while he is a bartender with sore feet.

Anne Forrest was the leading woman at the Pitt during several seasons of summer stock, and her many admirers here will be glad to know that the new play, which deals with prohibition and bootlegging, gives her an excellent opportunity.

Joseph Woodburn was a member of the old Avenue Stock Company with Thomas Meighan and Henrietta Crosman. His father, Dr. B. F. Woodburn, was for 36 years the pastor of the Sandusky Street Baptist Church and for 25 years president of the Allegheny General Hospital. A brother of Joseph Woodburn, Dr. S. S. Woodburn, was one of the original Solons appointed to the nine-men council of Pittsburgh. A brother-in-law, C. B. Aylesworth, is president of the Oakland Savings & Trust Company.

That is why "Sweet Land of Liberty" is a familiar phrase just now in two Pittsburgh households.

'Reborn,' Drama, Being Reborn

A famous dramaist once said that plays were not written, but rewritten. Irma Kraft, whose "Reborn" had its virtual premiere at the Nixon last Monday, is putting

Mitchell Engages Frances Neilson

Frances Neilson who recently closed with the George Sharp Players, has been engaged to support Grant Mitchell in his repertoire on a trans-continental tour across the country. Miss Neilson will be seen with Mr. Mitchell in "The Whole Town's Talking," "The Tailor-Made Man" and a new play that will open in Boston the latter part of October. The company will be seen in Pittsburgh later.

Season Under Way In Aldine Ballroom

The Aldine Ballroom has opened its new season. It is under the personal supervision of Al Bonack, who is well known in marathon dance circles.

Parisian Star

Irene Bordoni, French comedienne, will appear in the Alvin next week in "Paris," heralded as a comedy with songs.

Food for Game Causes Worry In State

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 26.—According to reports from sections where wild game is abundant, food for wild life this coming winter will constitute a serious problem. In Venango and Crawford Counties it is reported that the amount of food for small game is fair, but after the hunting season is over, feeding at designated points will have to be resorted to.

Varieties of foods which can be used at feeding shelters for game include commercial scratch food, good screenings, commercial chick feed, wheat, oats, barley, broomcorn, millet and sunflower seed.

STAGE PLAYS AND FILMS LISTED

Seats are on sale for next week's engagement of "The Front Page" in the Nixon. Monday night's performance will be featured by the presence of reporters and city editors of the Pittsburgh dailies, who have anxiously awaited the coming of the thriller.

Seats also are now on sale at the box office of the newly decorated Alvin for the one-week engagement, commencing Monday night, of the French comedienne, Irene Bordoni, in her latest success, "Paris."

The George Sharp Players will appear in another comedy, presenting next week, "The Bad Man," by Porter Emerson Browne, well-known playwright and novelist.

MARINES COMING!

In "What Price Glory" which made motion picture history, "Captain Flagg," portrayed by Victor McLaglen, and "Sergeant Quirt" played by Edmund Lowe, carried on a bitter feud. They are at it again in "The Cock Eyed World," the all-talking Fox Movietone picture directed by Raoul Walsh, which comes to the Aldine, beginning with a midnight performance Sunday night.

The latest all-talking picture of Leatrice Joy, titled, "A Most Immoral Lady," will be the screen feature in the Stanley, beginning tomorrow. On the stage Brooke Johns will present "Jazz Static."

A scion of British nobility, who conceals his identity under a screen name, is among the players in "The Unholy Night," mystery drama, which comes to the Penn Monday. He is Phillip Strange, and is the son of Sir Anker Simmons, head of the British Food Ministry.

DIGGING ON BROADWAY

"Gold Diggers of Broadway," Warner Brothers and Vitaphone's all-talking, all-natural-color production, starring Winnie Lightner, Nick Lucas, Ann Pennington, Conway Tearle and others, will remain in the Grand for a third week beginning Saturday.

Vaudeville and feature pictures in the Harris for the week beginning Saturday afternoon will include "Feather Creations," miniature musical comedy revue; Marie Russell, known as "Mammy of Songs;" Miller and Peterson, comedians, and other acts. The screen all-talkie will be "The Girl from Havana" with Paul Page and Lola Lane.

"The Great Divide," Dorothy Mackaill's latest all-talking picture, will open as the screen attraction in the Enright Saturday. On the stage Dick Powell will celebrate his five-hundredth performance with "Jubilee."

HOLLYWOOD BLONDES

Rose Louise and Her Hollywood Blondes will head the Keith Vaudeville in the Sheridan Square for the half-week, beginning Saturday afternoon. Other acts include Judson Cole in "Jest for Fun" and Romaine and Castle in "How's Your Mother?" On the screen will be "The Girl from Havana," starring Lola Lane.

"Two Men and a Maid," co-starring William Collier, Jr., and Alma Bennett, will be the talking attraction on the Olympic screen next week.

"My Lady's Past," featuring Joe E. Brown and Belle Bennett, will be the all-talking film in the Regent for three days, beginning tomorrow.

The all-talking screen adaptation of the stage play, "The Argyle Case," will be the screen attraction in the Liberty for a week and the Colonial for three days, beginning Friday. Thomas Meighan has the leading role.

Many Suitors

Leatrice Joy, married to one man in "A Most Immoral Lady," film opening tomorrow in the Stanley, finds several others are in love with her.

What a Night!

Dorothy Sebastian does the heroine act in "The Unholy Night," drama of ghosts and mystery, which comes to the Penn screen Monday.

Warns Women to Check High Blood Pressure

Thousands of women at the changing time of life are in danger of high blood pressure. It is caused by poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system or the weakening of one or more organs. This forces the heart to do more work and raises blood pressure.

The symptoms are dizziness, shortness of breath, head pains, flushed face, nervousness or sleeplessness. High blood pressure must be treated at once for everyone knows it is too dangerous and quick acting to disregard its symptoms.

Norma is a doctor's prescription for high blood pressure that has been used with great success.

Norma contains no habit-forming drugs, and works in such a way that it lessens the duty of the over-taxed heart and reduces blood pressure swiftly and surely. Often one bottle brings great relief. Get a bottle of Norma today from Dow Drug Co., or any drug store, and free yourself from the symptoms of blood pressure.

THEATER STARS TO AID JEWS

One and one-half million dollars already has been contributed by Jews throughout the United States toward the emergency fund started less than a week ago to aid sufferers in the homeland, according to a telegram received here yesterday from David A. Brown, of New York, national chairman. According to Irvin Lehman, treasurer of the Pittsburgh area, contributions in this district have been $1,000 daily.

Stars appearing at the theaters here will participate in a benefit performance to be given Sunday night in the Pitt Theater by the Montefiore Aid Society. Instead of cash, linen will be used as admission and this material will be sent to those made destitute by the Arab attacks.

Plaza Resumes Its Varsity Night

Varsity night in the Plaza will be resumed tomorrow night at Tracy-Brown's Plaza in the Plaza building. The second of the weekly Saturday afternoon tea dansants will be given from noon until three o'clock Saturday. Wayne Vargason is appearing as master of ceremonies. The floor show, featuring Marjory Barth, includes Jack Barry and his Piccadilly Prancers. The Tracy-Brown Orchestra will remain for the season.

Night Watchman Drops Dead on Duty

Howard Spiles, 55, of 512 Alpine street, a night watchman at the Dollar Savings Bank, Federal street, North Side, was found dead on the third floor of the bank building at 1:30 a. m. today. At Allegheny General Hospital it was said a hemorrhage caused his death.

Motor Causes Fire In Downtown Bank

Downtown fire companies were called to the Monongahela Bank Building, Wood and Sixth streets, at 6:30 a. m. today by a fire caused by an overheated motor in the cooling system. There was no damage.

Carnegie Instructor Joins Census Bureau

Prof. Fred E. Berquist, of the industrial economics department, Carnegie Institute of Technology, recently resigned to become a member of the bureau of census, Washington, will leave this week for the capital, he said today.

Kiwanians to Hear Illustrated Talk

An illustrated talk on "Columbia, Panama and Ecuador" features the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh today in the Fort Pitt Hotel. The speaker will be S. Q. Hayes, general engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, who served the French War Ministry on the Power Transmission Commission during the World War and who has traveled extensively in foreign countries. A musical program will be offered by the Red Arrow Quartet of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

"For doing your bit son ~ One Dow's big Double-Dip Soda every-day"

Little did Tommy dream that his reward for being a good boy, for obeying mother, for being kind to sister—for "doing his bit," as Dad expresses it—would be so big.

Just to think—one of Dow's Double-Dip Chocolate Sodas every day! Isn't he the happiest boy on earth? Just wait till he tells the other kids! Won't they be jealous?

And Dad knew what he was about when he selected Dow's Double-Dip Chocolate Soda for Tommy! He has tasted them himself. He knows how they're made—with two scoops of Liberty vanilla ice cream, Siren mild bittersweet chocolate syrup, cold, sparkling carbonated water and a topping of pure whipped cream.

If you, too, would know the joy of a real palate-tickling drink that will linger long in your memory, try a Dow Double-Dip Chocolate Soda. It's one of the best sodas for 15c you ever tasted.

GRIFFITH ASSEMBLES 50,000 WORD SCRIPT FOR HIS 'LINCOLN FILM'

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.

YOU can generally tell if a picture is good. If 'tis, then the director remarks at some time or other: "That's one I don't mind having my name on."

This may apply to any number of Lady Bluebeards. It hails from "Life," via "Passing Show," and concerns a much married fem picture star who takes her new and fifth husband to a party. The hostess greets her enthusiastically and the star turns to introduce her fifth gamble with:

"I want you to meet my husband, Mr.—er—Mr." Furious, she glares at him and cries: "Well, speak up, you fool, and tell her your name."

D. W. Griffith has dictated a preliminary script of 50,000 words for his forthcoming production, "Abraham Lincoln." I shudder with admiration.

Ben Turpin and Eyes in Flicker

FEELING proud but not overly haughty, Paramount previewed its pretentious bid to operatic laurels 'tother eve at its local theater, to wit: "The Love Parade," starring Maurice Chevalier in an Ernest Lubitsch production with a newcomer to the silver sheet—Janet MacDonald, the lady of the reels.

Opinions of the picture varied. Some raved. Others shrugged. The very few sniffed—not loud, to be sure, but sniff they did, suffering, mayhap, from professional colds. This bureau enjoyed the film in spots. Delighted over Chevalier's buoyant performance. Gasped a little at Miss MacDonald's beauty. Admired Travis Banton's gorgeous costumes. Chortled at the delicate slyness of Mr. Lubitsch's humor. Marveled at the pretentious settings. Stifled and finally succumbed to yawns over the music. Enjoyed acute irritation at the cross-eyed superstition the story wished on M. Chevalier and which dragged Ben Turpin in for a quick closeup that served to whisk the romantic atmosphere of the picture to custard pie level.

D. W. Griffith

Dorothy Mackaill has a hankering for Honolulu. This bureau, with habitual suspicision, wanted to know "who was the attraction in Honolulu." Whereupon Dorothy, with habitual sangfroid, claimed the attraction to be purely geographical and not "him-y." If plans permit, the Mackaill intends to sail for Honolulu upon completing her current vocalloid.

Dorothy Mackaill

Vivian and Nils A Bashful Pair

THEIR REAL NAME DEPARTMENT: Barbara Stanwyck (Mrs. Frank Fay)—Ruby Stevens.

SCREENALITIES: Vivian Duncan and Nils Asther are being mighty shy these days. T'other eve they traipsed to see Doug Fairbanks, Jr., in the local legit hit, "The Youngest." They ducked into the lobby after each act before the lights went up and returned to their seats after the lights went "down." But, bless your heart, they were seen . . . Loretta Young and Grant Withers at the same show . . . Connie Lewis, Lois Wilson's youngest sister, visiting her on the set at First National . . . Taylor Holmes is in pictures again, making a two-reeler for the Christies, yclept "The Bridal Suite," with Albert Conti and Helene Millarde making the cast a threesome . . . Dorothy Revier and Laura La Plante getting themselves beautified at Weaver Jackson . . . Pauline Frederick has been courting super-health, and successfully, at her Zuma Beach home . . . Mabel Normand has gone to a sanitorium in the mountains above Flintridge . . . Bessie Love left her purse on the set and an old meany saw to it that it was lost. Bessie is so darn popular with the gang that should the old meany's identity be discovered, heaven help him, or her . . . And—that's all.

Laura La Plante

News Trail

Lee Tracy, as the hero-reporter in the newspaper drama, "The Front Page," will follow the news trail on the Nixon stage next week.

that precept into practice. "Reborn" is being reborn. Changes are observable at almost every performance.

With her love of the theater and her knowledge of its traditions and exigencies, Miss Kraft ought to find ways to improve the motivation of her plot.

One reason why many plays fail is because the characters are pulled by strings, instead of being propelled by their interior organs.

One reason why Glenn Hunter's young millionaire is ineffective is because he is passive—things happen to him, he doesn't make them happen.

It's better to let the characters do their thinking between the acts. But even Robert Browning didn't know that.

It is to be hoped that Miss Kraft, who is from Wheeling, where the nails come from, will be able to make the play hold together.

60 Rebel Tribesmen Killed in Battle

JERUSALEM, Sept. 26.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—Sixty rebel tribesmen were reported killed and a large number wounded in a 13-hour battle between a punitive expedition sent by Ibn Saud, ruler of Nejd and Hedjas, against the rebel tribes under Feisal Dawish, who has avowed his intention to occupy El Haasa as part of movements to weaken and eventually unseat the Wahabi monarch.

Actors Wanted At Y Playhouse

Embryo Booths and Modjeskas will have an opportunity to qualify next Monday evening at the tryouts for the Playhouse of the Y. M. and W. H. A., at 315 South Bellefield avenue.

The tryouts are open to everyone who thinks he can act. The first two plays to be put on require about 40 speaking parts and about 50 more for the mobs.

Prof. E. Martin Browne of the drama department at Tech is to direct the first bill, which includes "The Beautiful Sabine Women," by Andreyev, and "The Shewing Up of Blanco Posnett," by Shaw.

Still At It

Edmund Lowe is still at the fighting and the romancing in "The Cock-Eyed World," the "What Price Glory" sequel, which opens with a midnight show Sunday night in the Aldine.

TRIO IN STOLEN CAR ARRESTED

City Detectives Joseph Leith and James Swearingen last night arrested three youths in a stolen automobile before the owner of the car was aware that it had been stolen.

The suspects, docketed as David Brown, 21, of Knoxville; Clifford Mooney, 19, of 4103 Winterburn street, and Virgil Lucot, 19, of 630 Maryland avenue, were arrested in Third avenue, after they had started off in the automobile of W. A. Duckham, of the Ruskin Apartments, the detectives said. Detectives said that the trio admitted stealing the car from in front of the Ruskin Apartments.

BRIDGEWATER, Pa., Sept. 26.—Carl J. Bowne, 34, 1820 Ley street, North Side, Pittsburgh, is in the Rochester Hospital with a fractured skull suffered when a truck he was driving crashed into the Big Beaver bridge here. He is an employe in the engineering department of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

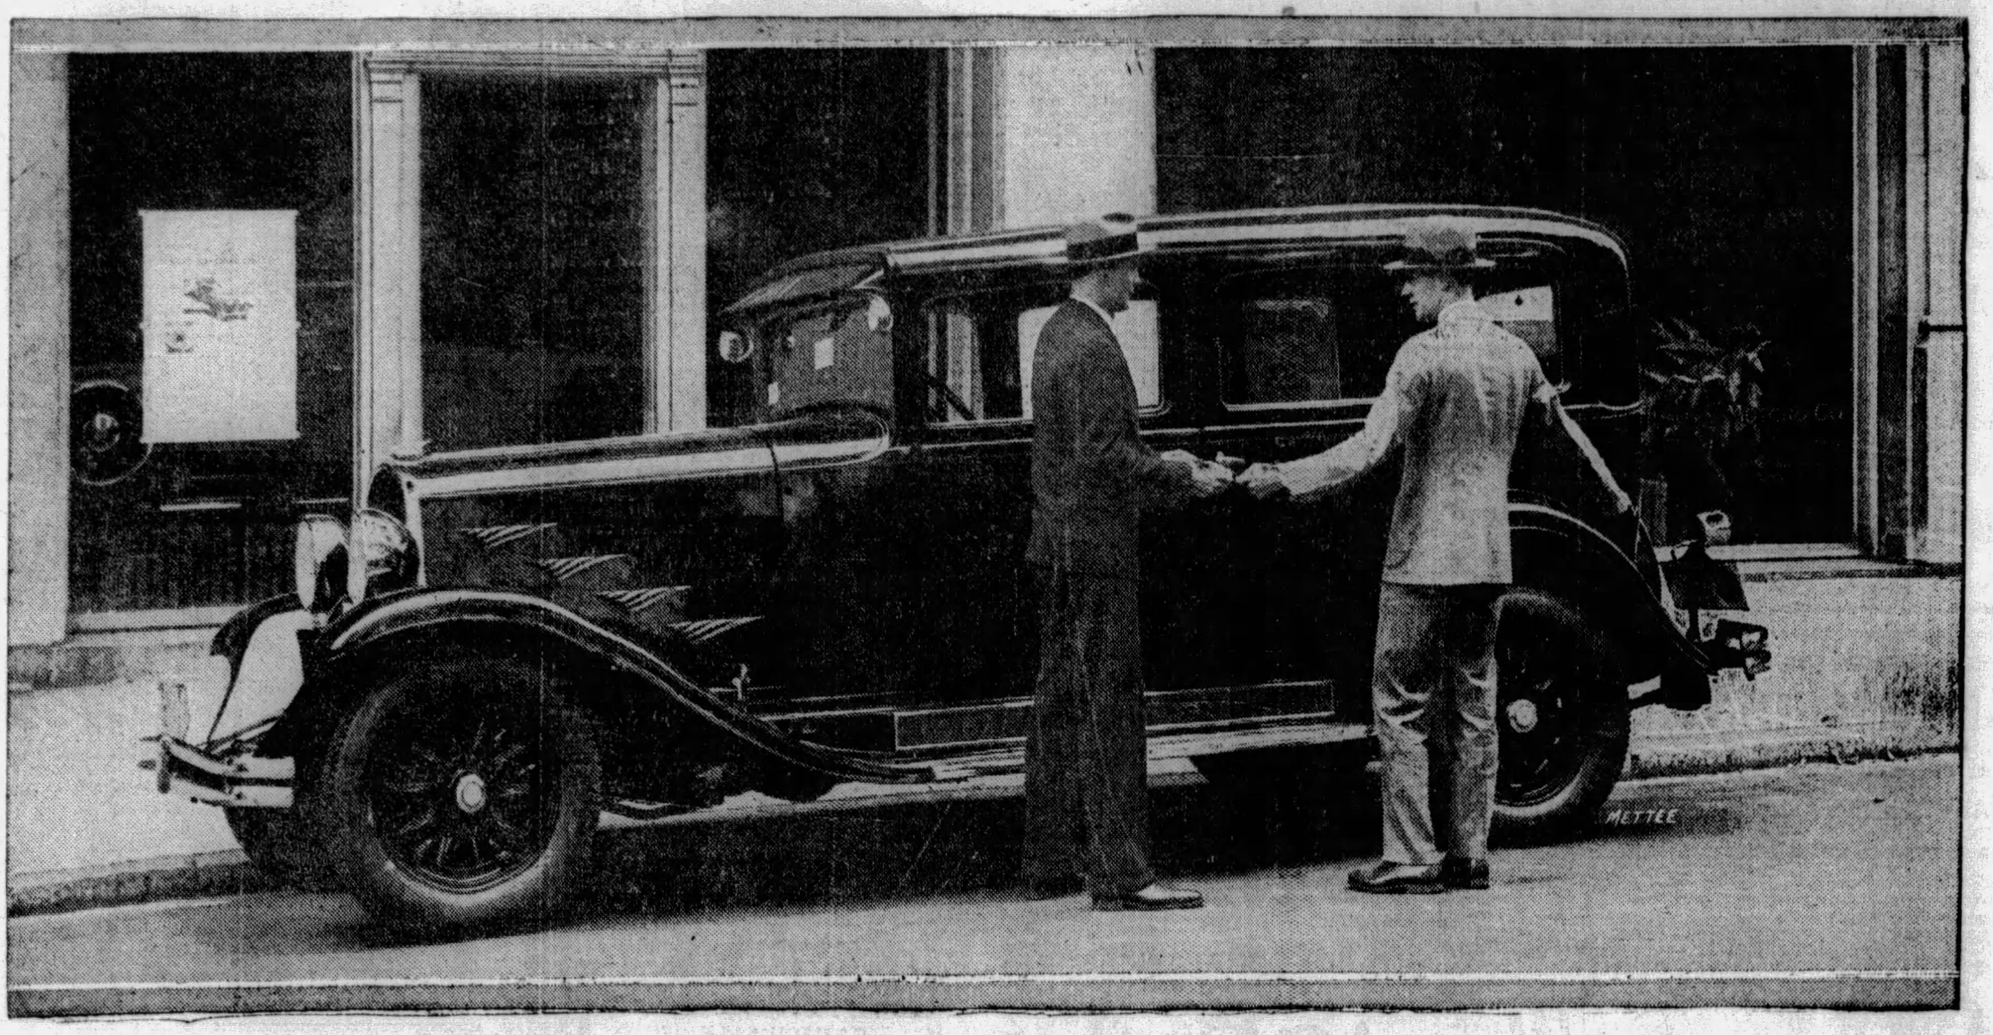
Baltimore and Ohio To Build Roundhouse

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 26.—At least five stalls of the 30-stall roundhouse of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, destroyed by fire nearly two years ago, will be rebuilt. The expenditure of $50,000 for that purpose has been authorized.

Mechanics have worked without shelter since destruction of the shops.

Child on Skates Struck by Auto

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 26.—Ernest Koss, 7, is in a hospital in a serious condition from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Durkas, of Hartford, O. Witnesses said the boy roller-skated into the path of the car.



"Mileage is what counts" -says the auto agent

"I'VE heard all sorts of reckless claims for gasoline and motor fuels. I've seen imitations of AMOCO-GAS without number--all of them boasting as something new and wonderful the things I've always known existed in AMOCO-GAS. But mileage is what counts with me. And show me any fuel that will match up with AMOCO-GAS in the number of miles delivered per gallon. Most miles per gallon--least cost per mile--these are the truest words you ever saw in an ad!"

Of course, there isn't any gas that can match up with AMOCO-GAS! For AMOCO-GAS has not only been delivering more power, freedom from knocks, greater flexibility and easier starting for years--but AMOCO-GAS always gives more mileage--the one true standard of measuring operating cost!

POWER

under absolute control

A hundred times more power pulsing through every tube! That's what Atwater Kent Screen-Grid means! Mammoth power tamed and harnessed!

Power to pick the faintest waves from the ether and give you even the subtle overtones of music. Power to bring you the living quality of the human voice.

Power to reach out with radio's longest arm and pull those distant stations in. Power to blot out the programs you don't want, bring in those you do.

Power that has banished hum!

Here it is—surge of enormous power—dream of radio engineers—mastered by the skill of science in the Atwater Kent laboratory—under complete control at the tips of your fingers! Why get a copy when you can have the original?

You'll never be satisfied with just a radio after hearing this new Atwater Kent Screen-Grid. Two Screen-Grid tubes in some models—three in others. Get the radio that made Screen-Grid famous! It is backed by the name that to millions means most in dependable radio reception. Yet it costs no more—in your choice of many exquisite cabinets. Insist on our Screen-Grid demonstration at your dealer's or in your own home. Today!

The amazing story of the set that has revolutionized RADIO!

WHY does the Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Set give you so much better reception than you have experienced before?

Here's the answer:

Screen-Grid is a new amplifying tube. It solves a problem that has held back the progress of radio for seventeen years.

This problem was: How to make a receiving set more powerful without causing some of the electrical energy within the set to "feed back" and ruin tone quality.

And why should a radio need more power?

Because Power unlocks the secret of better performance at every point and puts it at your finger tips in the form of lovelier tone, more flexible volume, finer selectivity and longer distance —the four aces of radio.

As engineers racked their brains over the puzzle of forcing more power through a receiver without sacrificing tone, they discovered that it could be done by completely shielding some of the amplifying tubes—shielding them inside and outside, and thus preventing wanton imps of electricity from straying off the road and causing trouble.

That's what Screen-Grid is. Now for the rest of the story.

How a dream came true!

To the Atwater Kent laboratory, one of the great laboratories of the world, came the news that the Screen-Grid tube was perfected. Exciting news! If ever there was a time for action, this was it. AND ATWATER KENT ACTED!

A completely new receiving set was designed to convert all the marvelous possibilities of the new tubes into better reception for the radio listener at every point.

Tubes by themselves are just glass and metal. It isn't merely the tubes that make the new Atwater Kent so much better. It's the way they are used—completely used.

Meanwhile Atwater Kent spent millions of dollars on devising and purchasing new machinery—much of it replacing machines which themselves had been the last word in up-to-dateness only a short time before.

Sets the pace for all others!

On May 1st Atwater Kent announced Screen-Grid Radio, told the public it was a sensational, perfected improvement, and that it could be had in the widest possible choice of exquisite cabinets.

Knowing that an Atwater Kent statement can be taken at its face value, thousands bought the first week and more and more thousands have bought every day since then and are doing it now.

That's the story of Atwater Kent Screen-Grid, the set that has revolutionized radio. Our advice to anyone is: Break any engagement you've got and listen to it. It's just that good! And it doesn't hum!

Bebe Daniels Headliner On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

TWO prominent personalities will face the microphone tonight in Bebe Daniels, "talkie" star, and Jess Hawley, former Dartmouth coach.

Bebe nearly lost her dinner check when talking pictures came in. Not to be defeated she learned how to sing, she has gone over big in the audible movies. "The River Song" and "You're Always in My Arms" will be offered at 8 p. m. over WCAE during the Sunshine Hour.

Hawley will introduce his successor, Jack Cannell, in a football party to be staged by the Vincent Lopez Kylectroneers at 7:30 o'clock through KDKA.

Thrilling details of a Los Angeles gem theft and the capture of the bandits through a minor clue furnished by a child will make the Detective Mystery, WJAS at 9, very much worth while.

The Temple Hour, WJAS at 10, will include "Some Day, Somewhere" as one of their selections.

Hits from movies and musical comedy successes will round out the Radio Victor Hour, WCAE at 10:30.

We Now Present

"Yes, it's a lot easier to sing before the microphone than it is to announce," answered Fred Webber, new voice at WCAE, to one of several questions shot at him last night by visitors.

Believe it or not, WJAS had 63 busy lines the other evening. The telephone applause for some features is tremendous.

KDKA boys have dusted their evening clothes for the coming winter nights.

Milton Tully, tenor, and Virginia Harmon, soprano, sang "Only a Rose" very beautifully on The Housewarmers' program.

WJAS voices actually "sandwich" their announcements. There is a restaurant in the basement of the Law and Finance Building where the boys go for a bite or two between talks.

Fans have a good chance to cop a Temple receiving set in the popularity poll to be conducted by Warner Brothers Theaters and Kops Electrical Supply Company, local Temple distributors.

Take advantage of the Sun-Telegraph's offer to attend the Pittsburgh Radio Show at half price. Clip the coupon today.

WCAE — Fleischmann Sunshine Hour.
Bebe Daniels Sings.

Bebe Daniels, famous screen star who met the challenge of the talking pictures by bursting into song, will sing two selections from her latest screen production, "Rio Rita." Miss Daniels' selections are "The River Song" and "You're Always in My Arms."

John Held, Jr., cartoonist, and Vic Murray, noted photographer and American sabre champion, will attempt to prove that "Accepted Standards of Beauty Are the Bunk" in a dialogue discussion. Held, whose cartoon portrayals of American college life have become an institution, has served as a judge in 26 college and two international beauty contests during the last 18 months. Murray has made the study of beauty a business.

Others contributing to this program include Welcome Lewis, contralto "crooner," the Cavaliers, a male quartet, and Ben Pollack with his orchestra. Graham McNamee is the announcer.

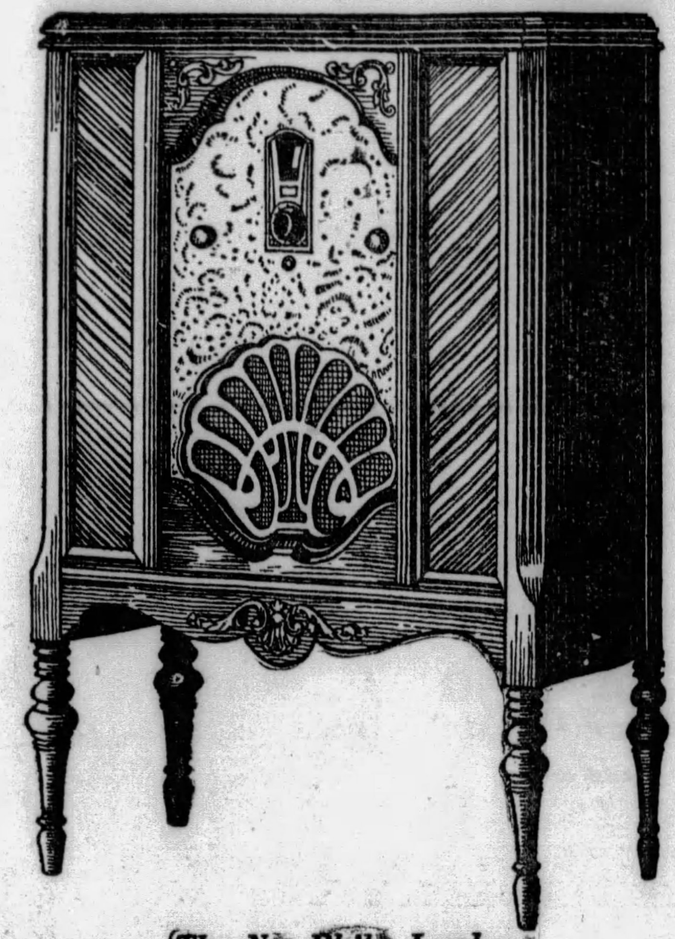
This Wonderful Balanced-Unit PHILCO SCREEN GRID

Lowboy Model $119.50 Tubes extra



The New Philco Lowboy

Handsome Walnut Cabinet, paneled in such costly woods as Matched Oriental Walnut, Bird's-eye Maple—and others. Equipped with genuine Electro-Dynamic Speaker and Acoustic Equalizers. Push-pull amplification. Balanced to take TWO of the wonderful new 245 power tubes. Never has such performance and appearance been available at such low cost.

This same handsome Lowboy can be had with the Philco NEUTRODYNE-PLUS, $129.50.

The most amazing distance getter in radio. Pacific Coast owners, in good locations, write of getting Japan, even Australia. Cross-continental reception is not uncommon. Under favorable conditions this Philco Neutrodyne-Plus will outreach any other set on the market.

See and Hear This Great Radio TODAY!

Other Models $67.00 to $205.00

Balanced-Unit Table Model Screen Grid Receiver $67.00
Electro-Dynamic Speaker . . . $32.50

IN THIS handsome Lowboy you have not only the well-known advantages of Screen Grid, but also the Philco Balanced-Unit principle, which has actually revolutionized radio. You can have all of this now for the amazingly low price of $119.50.

Think what it means:

Philco Tone—truer, richer, clearer—than that of any radio you've ever listened to—

Philco Selectivity—that brings in, sharp and distinct, station after station you've never been able to separate before—

Philco Distance Ability—that reaches out for thousands of miles in every direction—

Beautiful Cabinet—paneled in rare and costly woods.

Heavy Enrollment At Carnegie Tech

The Carnegie Institute of Technology began day classes yesterday, with enrollment of 2,285 students, a registration slightly larger than the one at a corresponding time last year. Many students have not yet registered and the end of the week will find the figure increased.

It is estimated that these late registrations along with the students who will enter the second semester will bring the total registration to approximately 2,600.

DOROTHY MACKAILL

Warner Brothers theaters and the Keps Electrical Supply Company, Temple distributors, will conduct a popularity poll among radio fans to determine the favorite Warner stars in Pittsburgh theaters.

Dr. Alexander Sails Aboard Mauretania

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Sailing in the company of a large group of distinguished persons, the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, of Pittsburgh, left for Europe early this morning in the S. S. Mauretania, bound for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton.

The Pittsburgh tourist will disembark at Cherbourg to start his early fall vacation abroad.

The notable list leaving in the Cunarder included Sir Auckland Geddes, former British ambassador to the United States; Capt. C. T. I. Roark, international polo star, and Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather.

400 PRIZES IN RADIO CONTEST

A popularity poll among radio fans to determine Pittsburgh's favorite screen luminary will be conducted by the Warner Brothers Theaters and Producers and the Keps Electrical Supply Company, starting tomorrow.

Four hundred gifts will be distributed, including a Temple Highboy and a Temple Lowboy.

Stars to be voted upon include Richard Barthelmess, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Alice White, Billie Dove, Dorothy Mackaill, Lila Lee, Marian Nixon, Dolores Costello, Grant Withers, Al Jolson, Jack Mulhall, Betty Compson, John Barrymore, Loretta Young, Corinne Griffith, Myrna Loy and H. B. Warner.

ENTRY BLANKS

An entry blank explaining full details and worth 1,000 votes in the poll will appear in Friday's issue of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Gifts will be presented the winners by the stars receiving the most votes. A personally autographed card of thanks and congratulations from the elected stars will accompany these awards.

Third prize winners in each of the four weeks will be rewarded with Warner Brothers' Merchandise Credits, applicable to the purchase of any Temple radio material in any of the dealers' stores. The fourth to twenty-ninth winners will receive smaller credits, and the thirtieth and one hundredth winners will be rewarded with passes to the Stanley, Grand or Enright.

VOTING AT STORES

Anyone excepting members of the Warner Brothers Corporation, the Keps Electric Company or the Temple radio dealers and their immediate families is eligible for the contest.

Votes may be cast to the credit of the person receiving them or added to the total of any other person already in the contest. All votes, excepting the entry blanks appearing in tomorrow's paper, must be cast at a Temple radio dealer's store. In case of an absolute tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Clip the entry blank in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph and mail it to Department D, Warner Brothers' Theater, 209 Clark Building, Pittsburgh, then go to any of the Warner Brothers theaters or the Temple radio dealers and receive additional votes, and make your favorite star the favorite star of Pittsburgh.

BASEBALL STAR FOUND GUILTY

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26.—(INS)—The second murder charge against Sam Crane, former major league shortstop, will not be pressed at this term of court, District Attorney Robert T. Fox announced today.

A jury in Dauphin County Court found Crane guilty of second degree murder for killing Della Lyter, and he still is under indictment for killing John T. Oren, brick salesman and his rival who was shot to death attempting to ward Crane's shots from Miss Lyter.

In his instructions, President Judge William J. Hargest told the jury to return a second degree verdict, carrying 10 to 20 years' imprisonment in Eastern penitentiary, if they found Crane had been in a drunken stupor the night of August 3, when he surprised the couple in the Bria hotel barroom.

The jury deliberated two hours, and then was forced to wait nearly an hour until 7:33 last night, when Judge Hargest was at dinner.

The defense had asked a second degree verdict, at beginning of the trial, and had introduced evidence that Crane was in a drunken stupor because of despondency at a break in his relations with the girl for whom he had given up a promising baseball career and even mortgaged his mother's home.

Fox said today he did not know when Crane will be tried for killing Oren.

Quits Tech Faculty For Census Post

Fred E. Berquist, associate professor in Industrial Economics, division of general studies, Carnegie Institute of Technology, has resigned as a member of the Tech faculty to take up his new duties at the Bureau of Census at Washington, D. C.

The "reducing diet" that stole her beauty

SHE was one girl who was going to be slim and beautiful—so she began a strenuous reducing diet. She counted calories. She shunned this and sought for that. But, all the time, she was missing something every diet should have. In the dishes she so carefully selected there was scarcely any roughage. Constipation gained a foothold. Her looks suffered as is often the case with constipated persons. She had headaches and her complexion became sallow.

Thousands of women and men are paying the price of diets which are lacking in bulk. Constipation continues to poison the system. No other evil is more widespread. It often ends with serious trouble and disease.

By adding Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to any diet, the ideal roughage is obtained to relieve and prevent constipation.

ALL-BRAN does not add fat to the body. It just sweeps the intestines clean of poisonous wastes. Its regular use restores health and above all priceless beauty and charm.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

No pills nor drugs can play the part of ALL-BRAN in a reducing diet. Their dose has to be constantly increased and they do not produce the natural results that ALL-BRAN does.

Don't trifle with pills

You will like the appetizing nut-sweet flavor of ALL-BRAN. It can be enjoyed in many ways. In soups. On salads. Soaked in orange, prune or fruit juice. As a cereal with milk or cream. Delicious with honey added. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily — in chronic cases with every meal.

If you write us we will gladly send you a valuable booklet on the subject of safe reducing. It contains many approved diet suggestions which promote beauty as they help you reduce. Grocers everywhere sell ALL-BRAN. Be sure to get the genuine—made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars.

GUARANTEED!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

This coupon and 25 cents will admit the bearer to the Pittsburgh Radio Show to be held at Duquesne Garden the week of September 30-October 5.

As a small boy Mr. W. S. Horner learned to take care of whatever money he had, no matter how small the amount. His successful career shows both the visible and the invisible rewards of thrift. Mr. Horner came to Pittsburgh as a young telegraph operator and stenographer. In a few years time he had acquired sufficient capital and experience to form a partnership with Mr. Homer P. Goff in the iron and steel brokerage business. Their joint undertakings flourished and they acquired important interests in various steel companies. Among other things Mr. Horner has been active in organizing and directing the W. S. Horner and Company, The Pittsburgh Shovel Company and the National Association of Sheet & Tin Plate Manufacturers. His interests are now chiefly devoted to the American Rolling Mill Company, of which he is Vice President, Director and member of the Executive Committee.

There are many evidences of thrift and its compensations throughout Mr. Horner's career, from the days when he walked to work to save the car fare until now when he is so busy helping to direct the affairs of a great company

In presenting this series of editorials by Pittsburgh's leading business and professional men, the Union Savings Bank hopes to show by modern example that thrift and saving are necessary for success.

The Union Savings Bank will be glad to help you with any of your banking business. A Savings Account is of the greatest importance. Encourage the children to save regularly. As Mr. Horner says, they will get both visible and invisible rewards.

Thrift Gives Invisible Benefit

by

W. S. Horner

Vice President
American Rolling Mill Co.

THE visible benefits of thrift are well enough known—a prosperous, well-ordered life and the contentment that comes from living to the best advantage within one's income. But the regular habit of thrift also develops strength of character, and this invisible benefit is most important. Things that cannot be measured are after all the best. The boy or girl who saves, even though he does not need to, is learning to balance and evaluate money and is gaining self-development. My advice to the modern youth is, practice thrift and saving continuously.

YOUTH HELD IN INJURY OF SIX

Joseph Hohn, 21, of Federal, Pa., was held for court on five charges of aggravated assault and battery last night by Justice of the Peace Alexander Boehn, Island avenue, Stowe Township, Boehn said. Bail of $1,000 on each charge was asked.

The charges resulted after an automobile which Hohn was alleged to have been driving and injured six children who were marching out of the Davis Public School, at Island avenue, Stowe Township, September 9, according to police. Police testified that the brakes on Hohn's machine were faulty.

All of the little victims were said to have recovered.

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

GEORGE DAVIS, of Wellsville, O., is a former Pittsburgher, and one of the most unique journalists in the country. From the engineering profession Mr. Davis with one leap founded a country daily in Wellsville, a town almost strange to him, and in two years he has built up his journal until it is one of the best small town dailies in the state.

Havey J. Boyle

The newspaper bug has stung him so hard that all he dreams and talks about is his eight-pager which details life in the community of Wellsville.

Mr. Davis possibly had a grudge against the Kiwanis Club of the town and for that reason he got Sidewalks to make the trip down there to tell a story or two.

* * *

WHILE waiting for the meeting to start a shave and a haircut seemed in order and Bob Hunter's place, seemed to be the right place. It was a worth while visit.

* * *

By some questioning your correspondent developed the interesting fact that Bob Hunter used to be a semi-pro baseball pitcher together with a few sidelights that were amazing.

"Were you a pitcher?"

"Yeah, for the Parkersburg Independents."

"Righthander?"

Bob was stropping the razor and your correspondent noted the gleam of satisfaction in his eye when he replied: "Both, right and left."

"You mean you threw with either hand?"

"Yes," said Bob, "but I only used my left in a real pinch, like in the ninth inning with a couple of men on base, I switch over from right to left. My control with the left was not so good, but I had more stuff pitching that way." And from the rest of his conversation, conservative and shrewd, your correspondent felt that he was being shaved by about the only amibidextrous semi-pro in the world. Bob might have got a big league job, but just when he was getting real good old age, in a baseball way, was creeping on him.

THE drive to Wellsvile, or to a more familiar point just four miles from Wellsville, East Liverpool, is recommended to all motorists. From Crafton you take Route 30 and barring a very small place called Imperial, the motorist doesn't drive through a town until he reaches Chester, W. Va. About an hour and a half of leisurely driving through a part of Pennsylvania, a strip of West Virginia and Ohio gives the motorist a swell view of interesting scenery, rolling highway hills and well-planned curves.

The authority on the hat-cleaning situation, who presides in a small den in Sixth avenue, reports a bulletin that, contrary to general belief, men get their felt hats cleaned with greater frequency than they get their straw skimmers refurnished. The reason, he says, is that men nowadays toss a dirty straw away and buy a new one after the July 4 one-half off sale. The felts are treasured more and consequently are returned for a renovation, he reports. During the discussion he came up with the information that 802 came out in a certain pool the other day, just one number cutting him off from something like $25.

Elaborate Program for Butler Fete Arranged; Mayor Kline Invited

Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army Air Corps, will represent the United States government at the official opening celebration of the Pittsburgh-Butler Airport tomorrow and Saturday. Chairman Ellwood J. Turner, of the House Committee for Aeronautics, and Representative John G. Pierce, will act in a similar capacity for the state of Pennsylvania.

NOTED GUESTS

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant Attorney General, and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, are expected to attend. They will fly from Washington in a 12-passenger plane.

Included in the party will be Mr. and Mrs. William P. McCracken, Jr., the former being Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aviation; E. McD. Kintz, counsellor for the aeronautics division of the Department of Commerce, and Mrs. Kintz; Charles, Stisson, assistant attorney general; Col. H. H. Blee, in charge of airports of the commerce department; Mrs. Anabelle Matthews, of the United States Treasury Department; E. A. Starbuck, member of the Radio Commission; Hainer Shaw, of the aviation corporation, and Earl B. Wadsworth, of the air mail division of the United States Post Office Department.

Mayor Charles H. Kline and Mayor George Bob Wick, chief executives of the cities of Pittsburgh and Butler, respectively, have been invited to head the delegations from those municipalities. County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong, E. V. Babcock and Charles C. McGovern, of Allegheny County, and County Commissioners Isaac Dyke, John Faull and H. P. Hutchinson, of Butler County, will represent these two counties. Delegations of many civic organizations from many localities will participate in the ceremonies.

FAMOUS FLIERS COMING

Such famous fliers as Louise McFetridge Thaden and Blanche Noyes will demonstrate the part women are taking in aviation. Maj. Thomas J. Herbert, of the Ohio National Guard, who will represent the State of Ohio, will have with him three O2H observation planes. Lieut. Alfred C. Williams, noted for his many aerial exploits, will represent the United States Navy. Fred G. Lund, daring stunt flier, and numerous other prominent aviators, will participate in the events scheduled on the program.

Graham Grosvenor, president of Aviation Corporation; Talbot O. Freeman, president of Fairchild Company; James B. Taylor, president of Air Associates, and other outstanding figures will represent the aviation industry and take part in the opening.

ROAD PATROL NAMED

The airport owned and operated by the Pittsburgh-Aviation Industries Corporation, is located on the Butler Plank road, north of Bakerstown. Detachments of State Highway Patrol and mounted State Police, together with 50 members of the American Legion and 200 Boy Scouts from the Butler-Armstrong County area, will direct automobiles and act as ushers.

In addition to the races scheduled some very spectacular features will be presented. There will be an aerial fireworks display during the evening of each day. Another feature listed on the program will be the laying of smoke screen. Flying in all its phases will be exhibited on the program which is as follows:

HOLD ONE-MAN CAR HEARING

A hearing on the application of the Allegheny Valley Street Railways Company to operate one-man cars between New Kensington and Natrona was heard yesterday by Commissioner William A. Walker, of the Public Service Commission.

J. L. Fritch, vice president and general manager of the West Penn Railways Company, of which the Allegheny Valley line is a subsidiary, said that one-man cars have been ordered for delivery January 1 next, with the necessary safety devices.

No objection was raised to the application of the company. Mr. Fritch testified that although the cars of the company will cross four railroad crossing at grade, the latter are so seldom used, except at one point, as to make the operation not only safe but more economical.

He contended that alighting accidents are almost entirely eliminated by the operation of the one-man car for the reason that more care is usually exercised in the opening and shutting of the doors. He said that the expense of operating the road would be greatly decreased by using one-man cars.

Humes Quits Bar's Vote Fraud Investigation

Immediate reorganization of the Committee on Election Frauds of the Allegheny County Bar Association digging into alleged fraud in the primaries will begin tomorrow, members of the committee announced today simultaneously with the acceptance of the resignation of Attorney E. Lowry Humes from its membership.

The committee is "proceeding with its investigation and will be enlarged from time to time so that the duties placed upon it by the County Commissioners may be more effectively discharged," according to a statement from Attorney Arthur M. Scully, issued coincidentally with the announcement of Humes' resignation.

RAY WITHDRAWAL

Humes' resignation followed the withdrawal of Edgar R. Ray, appointed special investigator by the committee. Members of the committee said that Ray's severance of his connection with the committee is not permanent and that as the investigation continues he may be recalled to handle certain facts that may develop. There is no connection between the two resignations, they said.

The personnel of the enlarged committee probably will be announced tomorrow.

Humes, in his letter, states:

"In view of the suggestion which you made to me yesterday that I withdraw as general chairman of the 'Dunn for Mayor' committee I feel it my duty to make my position entirely clear to you as to the Bar Association and the interested public.

"NEED MINORITY PARTY"

"The political situation in Pittsburgh is due entirely to the fact that for years Pittsburgh has not had a virile minority party.

"Election frauds and municipal corruptions are bound to continue unabated under the factional regime that exists.

"For more than two years our committee has struggled tirelessly and conscientiously in an effort to 'treat' the infection which afflicts the community.

"At most the things which we have accomplished, and we have accomplished much, have not gone to the real root of the evil and are bound to fall short of the 'cure,' which the upstanding citizens of the community so earnestly hope for."

COMMITTEE STATEMENT

Arthur M. Scully, chairman of the Bar Association committee, issued the following statement on the resignation:

"The resignation of E. Lowry Humes as a member of the Election Frauds Committee of the Bar Association has been accepted with regret. Mr. Humes agreed to take the general chairmanship of the Dunn campaign committee prior to his appointment to the committee on election frauds.

"The committee feels that his position as chairman of the Dunn committee is not compatible with the non-partisan character of the work in which the Bar Association is engaged. The association greatly appreciates the service which Mr. Humes has rendered it."

Ray, who severed his connection with the committee, he said, the day after the primary election in commenting on the matter, said:

"At some future time the committee may want to direct an investigation of the facts instead of devoting all their time to the law. If they want me at that time I will be glad to assist in any way I can. I would like to be a party to bringing some good out of an investigation of the election machinery of Allegheny county. In order to do this the committee will have to first properly organize and second establish a permanent headquarters."

POLICE TO AID HUNT FOR BOY

The Missing Persons Bureau today was asked to search for Donald K. Weaver, 16, of Leisenring, Pa., missing since August 11.

The boy's mother, Mrs. A. M. Weaver, told attaches of the bureau that her son disappeared while working on the farm of an uncle near Greensburg. Communications had been received from Donald from Dayton, O., and Chicago, but nothing has been heard of him for more than a month, Mrs. Weaver said.

Several days ago, Mrs. Weaver told police, Dayton authorities arrested a man, a neighbor of the Weaver family, in connection with the boy's disappearance. He was released after telling them that young Weaver had stopped in Dayton for several days and then proceeded to Chicago.

Manufacturers Will Study Bricklaying

Scientific study of bricklaying will be made by members of the Face Brick Manufacturers' Association today following luncheon of the September meeting in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. The study will be made at the Mellin Institute, where Dr. F. O. Anderegg will lecture. Three hundred brick walls have been erected in the study being made at the institute.

SCHOOL GETS MEMORIAL FUND

Building to Be Erected on Campus Facing Cathedral Of Learning and Seat 500

A "Heinz Memorial Chapel," to cost approximately $600,000, is to be erected on the University of Pittsburgh property adjoining the Cathedral of Learning by the university, made possible through a gift from the daughter and sons of the late H. J. Heinz, it was announced by Chancellor John G. Bowman.

The chapel is to be erected with funds given the university by Mrs. J. G. Given, of New York; Howard Heinz, of Morewood Heights, and Clifford S. Heinz, of South Dallas avenue, together with sums given the university by the H. J. Heinz Company, and by bequest of the late H. J. Heinz.

C. Z. Klauder, Philadelphia architect, who drew plans for the Cathedral of Learning, has drawn plans for the proposed chapel, according to Chancellor Bauman. The plan shows a seating capacity of 500, the first floor to seat 400 and a balcony to accommodate 100. The entrance of the chapel will be directly opposite an entrance to the Cathedral of Learning, the rear of the chapel will be on Bellefield avenue.

PROVIDES CLASS ROOMS

The Heinz Chapel, university officials say, will be neither a cathedral nor a church. The chapel is to serve as a symbol of spirituality for the student and will be used for usual religious services each Sunday during the school year, for the religious training of students attending the university and such social activities of students as shall not be inconsistent with the uses and purposes of the building as expressed in the will of the late Mr. Heinz. Chancellor Bowman states that it will be a place where groups of students may retire for quiet meditation and worship in accordance with their own beliefs.

The architect has provided space in the basement of the chapel for class rooms which may be used by the department of religious education, founded by a bequest of the late Mr. Heinz. Part of the chapel also will be used for some of the activities now carried on at the Heinz House. The chapel will be of Gothic design and it will contain many interesting and unusual features. The building is to be made of Bedford stone.

NEW TRUST IN SCHOOL

The foundation of the chapel will be of reinforced stone concrete, and will rest on the same strata of hard shale rock as that of the exterior walls of the Cathedral of Learning.

In expressing the university's appreciation for the gift, Dr. Bowman stated:

"The Heinz Memorial Chapel is a new trust placed in the university. No words to the donors seem adequate. The memorial is a symbol of faith. It is a symbol to add fresh importance to our consciences. It is a constructive step toward developing the religious side of life at the university to a high level.

"The chapel is to be a symbol which, by its own beauty, will show that wisdom and courage and spiritual enrichment belong together. The Cathedral of Learning emphasizes courage; the chapel emphasizes beauty and is an impulse toward communion with the unseen and the eternal.

"The two buildings in their meanings and in their proportions and in their designs belong together. They will do more, I am confident, than Pittsburgh realizes today, to keep before us a vision of righteousness, courage, wisdom and pure religion."

POLITICAL FOES AT SEASHORE

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 26.—The sad sea waves are hearing tales of victory and defeat as Pittsburgh politicians of all factions stroll the boardwalk in apparent friendliness.

Some are here to celebrate their triumph. Chief among these are Mayor Charles H. Kline, Senator James J. Coyne and Councilman Daniel Winters.

Others, including Senator Max G. Leslie, are here to forget their defeat. Councilman James F. Malone, who was backed by Leslie, returned home yesterday.

Others here are Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh, Leo Kirch, Dr. William A. Renne, who is being sued for libel by Controller Henry Oliver Evans; Inspector Albert J. Beebe and Charles R. Sable.

Roy D. Schooley, Dr. F. H. Frederick and Congressman P. J. Sullivan are expected to join the Mayor's party before the end of the week.

COUNCIL HEARS CHIEF ACCUSED

At a closed meeting last night the police committee of Wilmerding council was said to have taken up charges filed against Chief of Police James B. Maguire suspended by Burgess W. R. Bishop, for conduct unbecoming an officer. Report of the meeting will be made at the next meeting of the council October 1.

Maguire, it is alleged, appeared as counsel for Louis and John Volpe, charged with attacking Leonard C. Anderson, editor of a weekly newspaper in Wilmerding, September 18, when he went to the Bridge Street school building to obtain results of the primary election the day before.

J. C. Foreman, a member of the police committee, said Maguire would remain on the suspended list until the meeting of council next week. He would not reveal what action was taken in the case.

Scouting Objects Placed on Exhibit

A public exhibit of scouting objects is open today in the library of the Taylor Allderdice High School. The collections are in two groups. The first deals with merit badges, mementoes and costumes gathered from throughout the world and loaned by Morris Rosenbloom. The second set includes envelopes carried on several of the Graf Zeppelin trips and loaned by Ralph Holberg and Manuel Greenwald.

Will Rogers

CIMARRON, N. M., Sept. 26.

Been away up above timber line for last few days on Jim Minnick's horse ranch, so can't tell you what I have read in the papers for I haven't had any and I am just plump in ignorance as to who murdered who, who robbed who, who married who, who divorced who and why?

What Congressman Howell's production in the way of evidence, What Grundy demanded of his Republican henchmen, What Reed Smoot said when somebody said sugar was fattening.

But I don't know it feels kinder good not to know all that. Anyhow our news is getting just like the old movie titles, we can guess it before it is printed.

Yours, WILL.

West View Proposes Two Signs for Aviators

By MAX HENRICI.

The West View Board of Trade, alert to the requirements of aviation, plans to erect two sign giving fliers the name of the town and telling them the direction and distance to the nearest landing field.

It was recommended at a meeting of the board that two suitable buildings be air-marked, preferably Brandt's upper garage and the new addition to the West View junior high school.

MAY SELECT SCHOOL

H. N. Hennon, supervising principal of the schools, was appointed chairman of a committee to consult with school and borough authorities on the subject.

Braddock has two new air signs—one on McCrady Brothers' plant and the other on the First National Bank roof—and plans a third, on the high school.

Ambridge, with a large air-mark on the cotton mill of the National Electric Products Corporation, may have another. L. C. Bartholmeh, secretary of the Board of Trade, has submitted to the American Bridge Company a suggestion that its plant be air-marked for the benefit of pilots following the river.

SET GOOD EXAMPLE

These communities set an example worthy of emulation by all towns of equal size, air pilots say, and contend every village should have at least one air-mark—a large sign to let aviators know where they are and where they may alight in safety if an emergency landing is necessary. In addition to eliminating one of the important hazards of flying the sign will put the town on the air-map and thus help to advertise it in a desirable way.

Government recommendations as to air-marks may be obtained on application to the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, Oliver Building, which is co-operating with the Sun-Telegraph in the campaign.

COXEY SPEAKS FOR INTEREST-FREE MUNICIPAL LOANS

HENRY GEORGE GROUP HEARS CRUSADER

Urges Money Be Printed at Cost for Municipalities; Pittsburghers Elected

"The privilege of getting money printed at cost that the banks enjoy should be extended to states, cities and so on down to the school districts for public improvements," declared Gen. Jacob S. Coxey, speaking at the closing session of the fourth annual conference of the Henry George Foundation last night in the William Penn Hotel.

"Communities should be allowed to issue non-interest bearing bond securities based on land values not to exceed one-half the assessed value of the improvements on their land," he continued. "These 25-year bonds should be deposited with the Government as security for the issuance of face value in legal tender with the reserve of one-half of one per cent of the total issue to pay for printing of notes and bookkeeping over that period of time."

At an election of officers the following were named:

President, George E. Evans, of Pittsburgh; vice-president, Joseph Dana Miller, of New York; honorary vice-president, Mrs. Anna George de Mille, of New York; treasurer, William E. Schoyer; executive secretary, Percy R. Williams, and secretary, Francis W. Maguire, all of Pittsburgh.

BEER, WHISKY SEIZED IN SIX DRY RAIDS

McKeesport Homes and Store, Beltzhoover and North Side Places Hit by Squads

Six places, four in McKeesport, and one each in North Side and Beltzhoover, were raided by constables and prohibition agents yesterday, who arrested seven persons and seized large quantities of beer and whisky, they reported.

In McKeesport raids on the dwelling of William Torrence, at 420 Locust street; the store of John Simrak and Joe Filipolic, at 410 Locust street, and dwellings of Matt Biletic, at 407 Archer street, and Mary Butkosky and Anna Butkosky, at 301 West Sixth street, disclosed liquor law violations, according to the agents. The latter three persons were reported released on their own recognizance.

A. B. Quinn, 37, was arrested in a raid on a club in Estella street, Beltzhoover, agents said, after four barrels of beer and a gallon of moonshine were confiscated.

A raid on a building at 1414 Brighton road netted the agents a half-barrel of beer and a pint of whisky, they said. Nobody was found in the place at the time.

Weather Conditions.

There is considerable cloudiness over the country this morning, and it is raining at scattered places in the Ohio Valley states and westward over the northern plains to the Rocky Mountain states. There is also a rainfall area in the Southeast, where the more copious rains occurred: Atlanta, 1.90 inches; Asheville, 1.14; Chattanooga, .78, and Knoxville, .84. The temperatures over the East are above the seasonal normal. Over the Northwest border states it is below normal.

High barometer, centered in Canada, stretches along the north from coast to coast. There is a low pressure area in the far Southwest, and off the Florida coast. The barometer at Miami is 29.80 inches, with a north wind, and at Tampa, 29.86 inches, with a northeast wind.

AUTO CARRYING INJURED MAN WRECKED

Patrol Crashes Into Machine Commandeered Following Accident to Junk Wagon

Rushing to the South Side Hospital with a victim of a traffic accident, H. E. Walter, of 400 Broadway, McKees Rocks, narrowly escaped serious injury when his automobile was struck by the police patrol from the South Side station, late yesterday. Walter and a passenger in his machine were cut and bruised.

An unidentified rag picker had been hurled to the street when his wagon was struck by a street car in West Carson street and police ordered Walter to take the victim to the hospital. At South Twenty-second and Sara streets, Walter's car was hit by the patrol wagon.

The unindentified rag man, Walter, and George Thompson, of 322 Linden street, McKees Rocks, a passenger in Walter's car, were put in the patrol and taken to the hospital. Thomas Kirley, driver of the patrol, and Patrolman L. R. Duffy, his companion, were cut and bruised. The injured ragman was reported in a serious condition today. No arrests were made, since Walter's car had been commandeered by police.

PLAN WELCOME FOR FIREMEN

An elaborate program for the entertainment of out-of-town members of the Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania at the annual convention to be held here, is being prepared by local firemen, according to Fire Chief Richard Smith, who heads the entertainment committee.

An appeal to local business men to decorate their places and homes in honor of the visiting firemen was made yesterday by Chief Smith. The celebration starts Monday and will be in session virtually all week. This session is the fiftieth golden anniversary convention. A parade through the downtown is scheduled for next Thursday.

Rio Grande Floods Leave Town Ruined

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 26.—(INS.)—The town of San Marcial, 100 miles south of here, was in ruins today, with only a half-dozen buildings left standing as the flood waters of the Rio Grande had left a trail of devastation in their wake.

San Acacia and Polvadera, villages to the north of San Marcial, and San Antonito to the south are reported to have been completely wiped out. No loss of life has been reported.

EJECT LINDSAY AT VOTE PROBE

Alexander P. Lindsay, attorney and chairman of Judge Richard W. Martin's recent campaign for mayor, was ousted from the auditing room where accountants hired by the district attorney's office are making an official investigation of the fraudulent assessment books, it was learned today.

Andrew T. Parks, assistant district attorney, said he found Lindsey last night talking to employes of Frank Wilbur Main, who are making the audit, and told him to leave. Several ward workers had also entered the room and tried to tell the auditors how to conduct their investigation, he said.

Main was chairman of the Martin finance committee and Lindsay, it was said, was instrumental in pushing the audit.

ENTRANCE GUARDED

Upon discovering that outsiders were entering the sanctum, Parks ordered County Detective William Connors to guard the entrance and prohibit admission to any other than the accountants and attaches of the district attorney's office. Parks emphasized the "non-partisanship" of the investigation.

Two election boards—those of the Twenty-first and Eighteenth districts of the First Ward—were called in by the returning board yesterday to explain alleged irregularities in the conduct of the primary election.

Discovery that 50 ballot stubs were missing from the records of the Twenty-first District elicited explanation from three members of the board that they must have been thrown out with rubbish that accumulated during the course of the election.

ERRORS SEEN

Clerical errors may have been responsible for the difference of 16 votes discovered when the returning board checked the tally sheets of the Eighteenth District, three of its members explained.

County Commissioners E. V. Babcock and Charles C. McGovern sat quizzing the boards. Neither of the cases was considered of enough importance to refer to the district attorney. The boards were excused with a warning from the Commissioners to be more careful in the future.

Pair Identified In Rum Sinking

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Two alleged bootleggers, captured Wednesday when a tracer bullet fired by coast guardsmen set fire to their boat, were identified as Fred Black, 30, and Joe Jarvis, 30, both of Port Colburne, Ontario. Their boat was raised and its liquor cargo seized. The men were released under bond for hearing October 4.

The Six Leading Beauty Specialists tell women of the diplomatic world how to retain lovely complexions

In Du Pont Circle—that celebrated and exclusive shopping center of Washington—is the beauty shop of Monsieur Joe Paiano, who serves an exacting clientele. "One of the basic rules for beauty," says M. Paiano, "is the daily use of a soap made of olive and palm oils. Such a soap is Palmolive."

"At one time or another during the social season, my beauty experts are called upon to refresh and revitalize the complexions of Washington's most fastidious women," says M. Robert of Paris, whose fashionable Connecticut Avenue salon is important to smart women. "We always recommend that our patrons employ the simple, effective, Palmolive Soap home beauty treatment."

Who has not heard of Pearle Cutting, if she has had occasion to seek beauty aids in Washington... or in Bar Harbor, Maine? "There is one beauty treatment I recommend to all," says Miss Cutting. "Anyone may buy it. It is Palmolive Soap."

Interior of Greene's Co., Incorporated, beauty administrators to the elect.

"I heartily agree with the world's leading beauty experts that foundation cleansing of the skin with Palmolive Soap is necessary if one wishes to have a beautiful skin."

J. Willard Greene
PRES. GREENE'S CO., INC.

and the leading experts—17,311 of them—throughout America agree on the advantages of this home beauty method

"One of my basic rules for beauty is the daily use of a soap made of olive and palm oils, Palmolive. In this I agree with the famous Fontaine of Brussels, with Cavalieri of Paris, and other noted foreign experts."

Anna Lindsell
RUSSINA OF WASHINGTON

NOWHERE in America is beauty of person so important to social life as in Washington, D.C. Nowhere is beauty more cosmopolitan, more fascinating. And here, when lovely Orientals, Europeans and Americans consult the leading specialists they find one home beauty method always in vogue—a method advised all over the world. It is the twice-a-day use of Palmolive Soap.

"A skin cleansed regularly in the rich lather of this bland Palmolive Soap is ready for my special treatments," says Russina of Washington. And the other recognized experts agree.

The great experts abroad say "nothing can compare with oils of palm and olives to keep the skin lovely." They advise a two-minute treatment approved of in Washington. Massage a smooth lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water gently into the skin. Rinse, with warm water, then with cold. And now you are ready for make-up.

Because Palmolive costs so little, millions let it do for the entire body what it does so well for the face. It is an ideal bath soap. The beauty advice given to women of the diplomatic set is echoed by 17,311 experts all over the country. Sixteen thousand, nine hundred and fifty four! Think of it! The greatest assemblage of beauty authority that ever recommended a single product! This widespread recommendation has helped to make Palmolive the leading toilet soap in America and 48 other countries, the second soap in France, home of cosmetics.

Hepner, a great name in the world of beauty culture! Not only in Washington, D.C., but in Hollywood and many other cities all over the country. So one cannot help but be impressed when a man of such standing warns against soaps that irritate and dry and chap." Those are Hepner's own words. And he goes on to say: "Use Palmolive, a real beauty soap."

CIVIC BODIES RESUMING DRIVE FOR INCOME TAX CUT

DEMAND LEVY ON EARNINGS BE SLASHED

Hundred Community Boards Will Take Up Campaign Inaugurated Last Spring

Community organizations throughout Allegheny County are aiding in the campaign for the downward revision of the tax on earned incomes.

Expression of approval of the tax reduction movement was made last spring by several local boards of trade at the time the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club and other large civic bodies went on record supporting the campaign. More than 100 of the community boards that had closed their activities for the summer are now enlisting for the canvass.

WILL RESUME DRIVE

Many of the local organizations are members of the Allied Boards of Trade and through that federated body have indorsed a reduction of the tax on the incomes of professional men, salaried persons and wage earners. It has been announced that with the beginning of the new season of meetings these boards would take up the work anew and assist in the circulation of petitions to Congress urging action in revising the tax levies on earned incomes.

PETITIONS CIRCULATED

Petition forms are furnished by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to all organizations volunteering to assist in the canvass. More than 1,000 of these petitions are now in circulation and through the community civic boards will reach all the local business men in the county.

Secretaries of organizations may obtain petition blanks by applying to the Income Tax Department, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh. Members of the federation of the Allied Boards will be supplied through that organization.

Boosters Prepare For Keystone Party

A boosters' committee of 100 is scheduled to meet today in the Keystone Athletic Club to complete plans for the "Night in Monte Carlo" party which members of the downtown club will stage Saturday afternoon and night. The entire 20-story club building will be thrown open to male members and their men friends. There will be music, a dancing troupe, swimming events and juvenile boxing matches on the entertainment program.

SETTING NATURALIZATION RECORD

C. L. Hapgood Thomas, Jr. William Mr. and Mrs. Traill Norman Joseph

Deputy Clerk-in-Charge-of-Naturalization Hapgood swearing Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Traill, Wilmerding, and four of their five sons as the whole family set a record by becoming citizens. A fifth son, Alex, 11, by law became a citizen when his parents were naturalized.

SIX IN FAMILY NATURALIZED

A record was established in Federal Court today when six members of one family were naturalized.

Thomas Traill, 60, 2031 Tintsman avenue, West Wilmerding, his wife, Sarah Jane, 52, and their four sons, Joseph, 28, Norman, 26, William, 24, and Thomas, Jr., 21, simultaneously took the oath before Judge R. M. Gibson to support the Constitution and laws of the United States.

A fifth son, Alex., 11, automatically became a citizen with Americanization of his parents.

William M. Ragsdale, inspector in charge of naturalization, informed the court that the Traills came to this country from County Durham, England, in 1922. They lived for one year in Clearfield County, then settled in West Wilmerding. The older sons are employed by the Westinghouse concerns.

Swissvale Church Will Lay Stone

Cornerstone laying exercises will be held Sunday afternoon by the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Swissvale, Braddock avenue and Dickson street. The program will start at 3 p. m. The Rev. Paul Lindbergh is pastor.

Police Seek Man Who Stole Auto

North Side police today were seeking a man who late last night stole the automobile of W. B. Behrhorst, of 3422 Gass avenue, and abandoned it after it left the roadway and rolled down a 75-foot embankment near Cabin No. 2 in Riverview Park. It was wrecked when it crashed into a tree.

West View Grants 2 Building Permits

C. A. McClain, borough clerk of West View, has issued these building permits: To Zula Watkins for a two-story frame dwelling at 378 Fordham avenue, to cost $6,000; J. N. Weber, for a two-story brick veneer dwelling and garage, Homekort and Short streets, $10,500.

FLOAT DESIGNS OFFERED FOR PARADE

Architect Available at Chamber of Commerce for Light Jubilee Suggestions

The committee in charge of the night parade feature of light's golden jubilee announces that it is prepared to assist industrial firms and other business houses contemplating having floats in the parade.

Suggestions or service in the designing of floats may be obtained from Robert Schmertz, who will be available daily at the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce from 10:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. Mr. Schmertz is an architect and a teacher at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Light's golden jubilee opens here October 21. The following evening a colorful night parade will take place. More than 250 electrically decorated, motor-driven floats are expected to participate, the parade forming a great panorama depicting 50 years of progress in the industrial and business life of the city. Music will be furnished by 15 bands and the route of the parade will be from the North Side to the East End.

Duel in Depths Of Mine Fatal To One

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 26.—Richard Riser, 52, former state dry agent, was arrested for murder after Dominic Bellasandra, 38, had died of a fractured skull at the Ohio Valley Hospital.

According to Coroner A. L. Bell, the two men fought a duel with picks in the pit of the High Shaft Company's mine here.

BUT SIX LEFT IN CLUB

Six women today remain as members of the only existing group of the old Eighth United Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh. Organized 14 years ago with 12 members, the Stitch and Chatter Club opened its fall series of meetings with a luncheon yesterday at Gimbels. The remaining members are Mrs. Sarah Brady, president; Mrs. Esther Morrow, treasurer; Mrs. Elvira Myers, Mrs. Henry Reber, Mrs. John Roeger and Mrs. Mary McIntyre. There are only two offices and the officers have remained the same since organizing. Their business is purely social and they meet monthly at each other's homes. Christmas time finds them filling baskets for the poor.

A theater party followed yesterday's luncheon.

AIR PROMOTOR TAKES FLYER WITH CUPID

D. Barr Peat, Pioneer in Aviation Development, 'Elopes' With Teacher

D. Barr Peat, pioneer promoter of things aeronautical, has taken a flyer in matrimony, it became known today. The marriage, virtually an elopement, was performed yesterday in the Penn-McKee Hotel, McKeesport, the newlyweds leaving shortly afterward by automobile for Akron, where Peat is promoting a new airport.

Peat's bride, the former Miss Flora M. Forbes, taught school in Clairton up until this year. Mrs. Mary L. Forbes, of Fifth street, Dravosburg, her mother, revealed that Peat and her daughter had been planning the marriage for some time, but their sudden decision yesterday on the eve of Peat's departure for Akron, where he expects to remain for several months, was unexpected, she said.

The bridegroom's mother expressed surprise.

"Oh, he had been talking about it in a kind of offhand way," she said, "but I didn't think it would be so soon, although he did tell me this morning that he might be married when he came back."

The Rev. J. Swedler, pastor of the North Side Christian Missionary Alliance, performed the ceremony which was witnessed by a few friends.

THREE BANDITS ROB DRUG STORE

Two of Them Armed, Hold Proprietor at Bay While Third Rifles Cash Drawer

Three bandits, two of them armed, shortly after midnight entered the Harvard Pharmacy, at 216 North Negley avenue, and after holding the proprietor at bay escaped with $18.

Oscar Finkelpearl, the proprietor, alone in the store, was ordered to throw up his hands by the armed pair, while their accomplice went to the cash register and emptied its contents. The trio then leaped into an automobile which they had parked outside and made their escape.

Police from the Frankstown Avenue Station scoured the neighborhood for the thugs but found no trace of them.

Church Young Folk Plan Fall Frolic

"The First Fall Frolic" of the young people's department of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church will be held in the church auditorium, Alabama avenue, Dormont, tomorrow night. Following the dinner, the Rev. Edward Bleakney, pastor of the church, will conduct a short devotional period. A group of young people will present a brief original sketch during the social hour.

Learn this vital truth about sugar

Women cooking authorities show three astounding results of sugar in cooking vegetables

EVERY woman today wants every member of her family to eat more vegetable foods. She knows they are teeming with vitamins and that they are invaluable for roughage and mineral salts. Now women cooking experts have rediscovered the old secret of adding a dash of sugar to the vegetables while they are cooking (preferably in little water). These women authorities point out that the dash of sugar does three things. 1. Makes "store" or wilted vegetables taste fresher. 2. Improves the pleasing colors of the vegetables. 3. Develops, accents and points up the delicate appetizing vegetable flavors.

It must be borne in mind that the correct dash of sugar does not in any sense make the vegetables taste sweet. This is not the purpose of using the sugar.

Physicians and health authorities urge women to see that every member of their family eats regularly of varied balanced foods. Yet every woman knows that it is impossible to force the eating of tasteless, unpalatable foods regardless of how healthful they may be. Remember the secret of a dash of sugar in making cereals, milk desserts, fresh and cooked fruits, beneficial vegetable dishes, and many meats so delicious that they will be irresistible. And for dessert—a bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

Sun-Tan Is The Fashion!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

False modesty is a relic of an ancient prejudice. AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has cut it away and, in behalf of better health and pure enjoyment, sponsors the fashion of sensible swimming attire.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Miss Irish Debutante Of June

WITH richly clad autumn just making her bow a few weeks ago, here we are already looking forward to social events of winter after next, and of June to come, too. No wonder we live intensely for we have the present and the future to pre-occupy us, and the past to dream over in our off-guard sentimental moments.

Of course you remember how interesting our little season was during the June a few months past? Again next year we're going to have a little season, rumor tells us. And it commences to look, don't you agree, as if a little season were to be a recognized part of the social life of Pittsburgh.

I know of one young girl who'll make her bow in the month of roses. The Franklin C. Irishes, of Devon road, are planning to present their daughter, Lydia, to the social world in June. Although Lydia will not be formally presented until then, she'll be seen, I'm sure, at many of the bud parties during the early winter, for a group of her friends are listed among the buds.

DO you remember many weeks ago when we first heard that the Frank Ward Severances, of Sewickley, were going to give a luncheon in the Allegheny Country Club on Saturday, December 28, for two popular buds, Mary Franklin Robinson, daughter of the William Christopher Robinsons, and Peggy Milligan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan? Well, the Severances have now changed their plans and will entertain with a dinner dance the same evening for the very same buds.

FROM the East comes news that one of the youngest brides, Mrs. Frederick Eaton Crispin, the former Sara Louise Gwinner, daughter of the Edward William Gwinners, of Fifth avenue, was matron of honor yesterday at the wedding of Laurie Tenney Klock, daughter of the M. Crouse Klocks, of Syracuse, N. Y., to Benjamin Eaton Crispin, another son of the Clarence Crispins, of Park avenue, New York. The wedding took place in the Klock residence in East Genesee street, Syracuse, last evening.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. John J. MacWilliams, and Mrs. Crispin, as I've mentioned before, as matrons of honor. At the wedding of the Pittsburgh bride Miss Klock was maid of honor, don't you recal]?

Elizabeth Gere, Barbara Durston, Jane S. Kerr, Barbara Hoyt and Natalie Burden, all of Syracuse, and Eleanor Gillespie, of Orange, N. J., were bridesmaids.

Frederick Eaton Crispin was his brother's best man, and Frank Tenney Klock, John J. MacWilliams and William Knapp, Jr., of Syracuse, and Joseph Stout, Harrington Putnam and Theodore Hamilton, all of New York, were ushers.

The bride, who is a granddaughter of Mrs. Frank H. Maynard, of Park avenue, New York, was graduated from the Bennett School in the class of 1928.

Mr. Crispin is a member of the Philadelphia branch of the Crispin family, and a direct descendant of Capt. William Crispin and Capt. Thomas Holme, and is also the grandson of the late Frederick H. Eaton, of New York. He studied at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and is a graduate of Princeton, class of 1928.

THREE buds will share honors at a dinner Mrs. Jerome Hill, of Pembroke Place, will give on December 27 in the Pittsburgh Golf Club—Emily Frew, Virginia Wright and Frances Forsyth.

And later the guests will go to the ball the Thomas Atterbury McGinleys will give in the Pittsburgh Club for their debutante daughter, Mary Elizabeth Floyd.

AND now mothers of the social set are busy getting their subdeb daughters off to finishing school. Lucile Todd, daughter of the William B. Todds, of Park Mansions; Caroline Mitchell, daughter of the H. L. Mitchells, of Marlborough avenue, and Dorothy Curry, of Coraopolis Heights, will all go to Rosemary Hall at Greenwich, Conn. And another Rosemary girl will leave today—Elizabeth B. Shaw, daughter of the Hugh Campbell Shaws, of Beechwood boulevard.

Returning to Vassar are Mary E. Cooper, daughter of the Howell Coopers, of Sewickley, and Mary Elizabeth Girdler, daughter of the T. M. Girdlers, of Sewickley. And Anne Ferguson, of Coraopolis Heights, is off for Mt. Vernon Seminary, Washington.

Claimed by the popular Miss Porter's School at Farmington, Conn., are a number of debutantes of the future—Althea Robinson, daughter of the William Christopher Robinsons; Fredericka Holdship, daughter of the Charles Frederick Holdships; Laura Childs, daughter of Mrs. Clinton L. Childs; Bertha Brooks, Martha Yost and Mary Colwell Jennings.

Going to Miss Baldwin's school at Bryn Mawr will be Helen Robinson, of Coraopolis Heights, and to Holmquist, Katherine Boyd.

Elizabeth Craig, daughter of the Mark Craigs, will study again at the Masters School at Dobbs Ferry; Agnes Grinstead will go to Radcliffe, and Eleanor McKenzie, another Sewickley Valley girl, will go to the Greenwood school in Maryland.

Still other girls leaving are: Adele and Marianna Lippincott, for the New York Art School, and their sisters, Louise and Nancy, and Jane Noaker, for Miss Dow's School at Briarcliff Manor, N. Y.; Anne Fader for Wilson College; Alice Brown, daughter of the McCleane Browns, for Miss Walker's School at Simsbury, Conn.; Phoebe Campbell for Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; Anne Blair Campbell, for Syracuse University; and Lila Stewart, daughter of the J. A. Stewarts, for Queen's University, Kingston, Canada.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES L. CORDES, of Rocky River, Cleveland, formerly of Pittsburgh, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anne Cordes, and Peter Burt Howell, of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Howell, of Chemung, N. Y., which was solemnized Saturday in the Cordes home. The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of white chiffon and lace with a veil of tulle and Brussels lace, and she carried pale yellow gladioli. Her sister, Miss Eleanor Cordes, as maid of honor, appeared in peach chiffon with a brown velvet hat, while the bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Myers, niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Getty, of Pittsburgh, appeared in chartreuse chiffon and lace with a brown velvet hat. They carried fall flowers. W. E. Howell, Jr., was his brother's best man and the ushers included William Moore, of Toledo, and George Baldwin, of Rochester, N. Y. After a trip to the Pocono Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Howell will be at home in Anderson avenue, New York.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM SCHEIB, of Marshall avenue, North Side, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding yesterday in their home. Mr. and Mrs. Scheib have spent nearly all of their married life on the North Side. They have four children, Jerome W. Scheib, of Aspinwall; Miss Anna M. Scheib and Walter H. Scheib, of the North Side, and Charles W. Scheib, of Avalon; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

TUESDAY is the date chosen by Miss Jean Elinor York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. York, of Carnegie, for her marriage to Ralph E. Weber, of Zanesville, O. The ceremony will be performed in the Hotel Schenley. Miss Leora Osgood will be her cousin's maid of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Simon Miller, is to be matron of honor. Paul Broida, of Parkersburg, is to be best man and the ushers will include Nathan Frielich, of Zanesville; Joseph Heiner, Edwin Bamberger and Simon Miller, of Cleveland, and Edgar L. York, brother of the bride.

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW BENNETT HARPER, of Detroit, formerly of Crafton, have made known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Alicia Harper, and Seymour S. Preston, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour S. Preston, of Philadelphia.

THE Ladies' Aid Society of the Knoxville Presbyterian Church will hold a bake sale Saturday at the church, Knox and Jucunda streets, beginning at 9 o'clock. All home-made goods will be on sale.

THE next meeting of the Woman's Club of Turtle Creek will be held Friday, October 4, in the home of Mrs. W. M. Rath, Maple avenue, and will be preceded by an executive board meeting.

CHIFFONS AND VELVETS TO INCREASE FOR EVENING WEAR

Sketched in Paris

Alpaca Another Material to Be Worn

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—For sheer beauty and comfort, it is impossible to approach chiffon. And so when winter comes, we shall still find that that lovely fabric has provided the transparent but acceptable excuse for many a lovely frock. Couturiers report that the majority of their clients have ordered at least one chiffon afternoon or evening gown for wear later in the season. In many cases it is combined with velvet, and, for evening wear, chiffon lame is of increasing importance. Another material that has been well received is alpaca in its new version, which is in silk, and often with a velvet design in relief. Raised patterns are taking the place of printed materials in many of the new models.

SHOWN here today is a frock in the new silk alpaca velvet from the atelier of Germaine Lecompte, a couturiere of distinction and originality. This model is an afternoon frock in light green, the varying sized velvet rings, being of a much darker shade.

THE bodice is drawn in closely at the normal waistline and tied in a bowknot at the side. The sleeves and bodice are cut in one piece. The interesting drapery on the skirt is formed by two diagonal flounces, circular in cut. The neckline is new and very good. With this costume is worn a drooping wide-brimmed hat of double-faced velvet of the color of the dress.

THE graceful evening gown is from Doeuillet-Doucet. It is one of the new chiffon gowns in a lovely shade of old blue with appliqued motifs of matching panne velvet.

The very full and soft hanging flounce at the front of the skirt is posed diagonally. A similar flounce, likewise diagonal in line, crosses the back. The normal waistline is stressed by a cluster of fine gathers on the right side of the bodice.

Play Jury to Pass On O'Neill Drama

BOSTON, Sept. 26. — (INS.) — A "play-jury" of 25 men and women of Quincy will make final decision whether or not "Strange Interlude" will be presented there. That was the latest development today in the controversy which followed the action of Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols in banning the Eugene O'Neil play in Boston.

As result of the storm of protest from clergymen and others in Quincy, following announcement by Mayor Thomas J. McGrath that the play could be produced there, he stated the "play-jury" would be organized and pass on the merits of "Strange Interlude" at its first showing Monday night.

Third Avenue Rwy. Has August Deficit

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Third Avenue Railway reports August deficit after charges including adjustment bond interest was $64,945, against $71,945 in August, 1928. Two months' deficit totaled $97,421, against $88,219 in the 1928 period.

Brownsville Nurses' Home to Be Opened

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 26.—The new $150,000 Horner Memorial Home for Nurses will be dedicated tonight.

The new home was made possible through a bequest of Joseph H. Horner, East Millsboro, Pa., coal operator, who died in 1926. It is a four-story structure, providing accommodations for 60 nurses.

Beetle Ban Lifted On Farm Products

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—The quarantine on farm products from the Japanese beetle area was removed by the State Department of Agriculture. Nursery products, sand and soil, however, will remain under quarantine all year. The beetle area has been confined to Southeastern Pennsylvania.

Stamps Wanted for Tercentenary Fete

BOSTON.—(INS.)—Series of special stamps to commemorate the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary have been suggested by Gov. Frank G. Allen to Postmaster General New, who was reported in a receptive attitude. The proposal was to have stamps of different denominations depict various Pilgrim scenes, and also special stamped envelopes.

NEW AUSTRIAN CHANCELLOR

VIENNA, Sept. 26.—(INS.)—Johann Schober, president of the Vienna police, accepted the post of federal chancellor today on condition he has a free hand in forming a new cabinet to succeed the Steeruwitz ministry that resigned yesterday.

Chancellor-designate Schober said if he is successful his program will be maintenance of domestic peace and disarmament of both Socialists and Fascisti.

For some time actual civil war has been threatened in Austria by the bitter hostility between the Socialist and Fascisti groups. Both sides formed "guards" or regular armies. Clashes have been frequent.

Only a doctor knows what a laxative should be

YOU don't want to use a laxative every day. Nor once a week. This should not be necessary. And it never would be required if all of us would learn the danger that lies in a careless selection of laxatives.

By taking the first thing that comes to mind when bad breath, headaches, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, gas on stomach and bowels, poor appetite, or lack of energy warns us that our bowels are sluggish, we risk forming the laxative habit.

Rely on a doctor's judgment in choosing your laxative. Here's one made from the prescription of a specialist in bowel and stomach trouble. Its originator tried it in many thousands of cases. He found it safe for women, children and old folks; thoroughly effective for the most robust man. There were so many calls for this prescription and its fame spread so rapidly that druggists began to fill it in quantities; kept it ready for calls. Now Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is prepared from the freshest herbs and other pure ingredients under ideal conditions. You can get the generous bottles of it from drug stores in any part of the world.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a real corrective of constipation. Millions have proved this. That's why it is today the world's most popular laxative!

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A STYLISH MODEL FOR MATURE FIGURES WITH SLENDER HIPS.

Printed crepe and satin are here combined. One could have crepe satin, and use the crepe side for revers collar, vestee and yoke portions. This style features diagonal lines and godet fullness, which crosses the front of the yoke, and meets a tab extension of the waist front, below a wide revers that falls in graceful folds. A vestee squares the V opening of the neck. The sleeve is a fitted model.

This pattern is cut in eight sizes: 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 46-inch size will require 4⅝ yards of 39-inch material. To face revers collars, yoke and vestee with contrasting material will require ⅞ yard 39 inches wide, cut lengthwise. To finish with bias binding as pictured in the large view will require five yards 1½ inches wide. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fulness extended is 3¼ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fall Fashion Revue

Some women will depart radically from the straight-line silhouette and wear garments that are entirely feminine. Others will take to the new silhouette conservatively. In either event the mode must be studied if the result is to be effective.

The new silhouette, the increased length of the skirt, smart colors, the raised waistline and new accessories ... all these fashion trends are being shown in correctly assembled costumes illustrative of good dressing. A style lesson—to be learned from an interesting lecture and fourteen charming mannequins stepping to music by Giles' popular orchestra.

BOGGS & BUHL

These Garments Show the Trend Fashions Are Taking

Coats Are the Basis of All Costumes

Decide first of all whether your fall costume will be formal or semi-formal; whether it will be a modified or complete acceptance of the fall silhouette. Then consider the color. Remember that the entire success or failure of the costume depends on the coat.

The Coat Illustrated is a charming example of the new mode. It is made of lustrous black constanza, and lined with tan silk to match the natural fitch collar. This collar is a flattering stand-up shawl type. The cuffs of fitch are arranged in spiral fashion. A low-placed flare adds a touch of newness. $110.

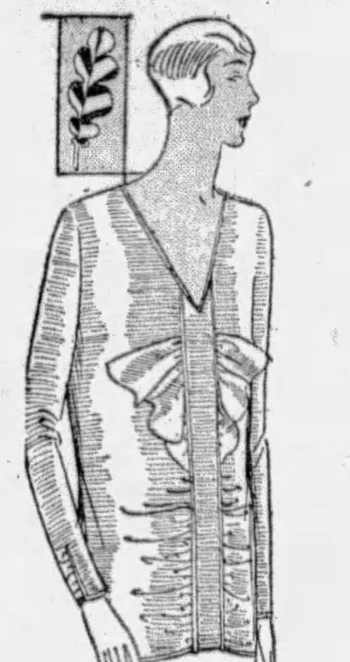
Let the Dress Carry Out the "Feeling" of the Coat

The silhouette, and even the length of the dress depends upon the coat chosen. Shall the dress match or contrast with the coat? The answer to that question decides the choice of the dress and all the accessories.

The Dress Illustrated is of black flat crepe with two shades of coral used to trim the neck and sleeves. Fine shirring and peplums suggest the higher waistline. $35.

This dress was chosen to wear with the coat because the black coat-and-dress ensemble is very smart, and because the coral of the dress and the delicate tan shading of the fitch collar are lovely when used together.

Even Blouses Indicate the Higher Waistline



The heretofore straightline garments have taken over the waistline vogue and indicate it by gathers and shirrings.

The Boggs & Buhl group of imports, and copies of imports, feature this tendency in a flattering, feminine manner. Beautiful models in plain shades and printed patterns.

Millinery Has Gone Feminine and Formal

Feminine, indeed! It must be so to conform with the feminine feeling of coats and dresses. And this season millinery reaches a degree of formality unknown for several seasons.

Of course the smart hats are worn high on the forehead and have brims which dip low in the back.

The model shown is of brown antelope felt with inlay of beige galyak. Side shirring. A reproduction of an original by Mado, $22.50.

A Sharp Drop in the Silk Market Brings

Cheney's Chiffon Velvets

LAST WEEK'S PRICE WAS $3.95

An opportunity to buy a beautiful quality chiffon velvet at a very much lowered price. Wholesale prices are down—but not to the extent this radical mark-down would indicate.

Thousands of yards from regular stock of recent purchase—the supremely popular black and twenty-five of the fall's most captivating shades. A quality we are proud to sell and you will be proud to wear—full 40 inches wide—one-third under price at $2.65 yard.

Ashes Earliest Form of Soap

VERY early in Biblical history it was found wood ashes were useful in removing grease from the hands. Ashes were thus the earliest form of soap.

Ann Marie's Expenses Grow When Jeanie Moves Into Her Flat

CHAPTER XXXVI.

THEY stood there, facing each other without a word, for a minute that seemed like a hundred years.

Neal's mouth was curved in a sarcastic smile and his gray eyes had the glint of ice in them.

"I thought this was where I'd find you," he said, "and I was right."

Ann Marie couldn't say a word. She couldn't even think clearly. . . .The only thing she was sure of was that there must not be a scene here in this quiet pleasant place. Somehow or other, she would have to talk Neal into behaving himself before Jim and Janet came back into the room—

"Neal, dear, these people are only trying to be kind to me. Friendly to me—" she was beginning when he stopped her.

"Get your coat!" he ordered her. "Don't talk to me! Just get your coat!"

Ann Marie did not move. How should she leave now when she had just come? . . . What would the Goodwins think of her?

"Neal, I can't—" she began again. And again he stopped her.

"Suit yourself!" he said. "Only if you don't come with me now, I'm through with you, and through with you for good—these people were my friends long before they were yours. But they're no friends of mine now. . . . Stay with 'em if you want to!"

He turned sharply as if he were going.

That settled Ann Marie. "Wait! Don't go!" she cried. "I'm going with you. . . You know I'm going with you!"

He nodded. "I'll be outside. I've a cab out there," he said. "I'm not going to wait very long for you. So you'd better make it snappy."

She made it snappy.

She fairly flew back to the bright luxurious bedroom where Janet was hooking herself into the blue velvet dress.

"Janet," she said with a catch in her voice, "I don't know how to tell you this—Neal has come for me and I've got to go."

Janet stared at her blankly.

"Aren't you going to stay for dinner?" she asked. "Jim will be so disappointed, and so shall I."

Ann Marie shook her head, looking at her with troubled eyes.

"I can't stay," she said.

She could not stand here talking either . . . She knew that if she didn't hurry, Neal would drive away in his cab without her.

"You don't know how sorry I am about this, Janet," she added. "How embarrassed I am—Please tell Jim that Neal came for me. He'll understand. He knows Neal even better than I do."

Neal was waiting out in the street, beside his cab.

He jumped into it ahead of Ann Marie.

"Drive around the park until I tell you to stop!" he said to the driver, and with a jerk the cab started away from the curb.

The park was dark and cool and mysterious under a blue-black sky. All around it twinkled the lights of the city, thick and bright as stars. The night wind blew in through the open windows of the cab, lifting Ann Marie's hair and cooling her hot cheeks.

She leaned back, closed her eyes and sighed . . . "Neal's jealous," she thought. "He's jealous because Jim's so nice to me."

The thought cheered her up enormously. For if he were jealous it was proof that he loved her and didn't want other men to pay any attention to her, wasn't it?

She opened her eyes, and saw that his face was close to hers in the darkness. Suddenly his arms went around her, holding her like bands of steel. His lips found hers and he kissed her as he never had kissed her before.

"Don't—you're hurting me," she tried to say. But he did not stop. He was holding her so that she couldn't move, and he went on kissing her just as if he hadn't heard her.

Then all at once he let go of her.

"My girl!" he said thickly. For the first time since she had come to town, Ann Marie felt that he really cared for her. For the time being all her doubt of him—every bit of it—was swept out of her mind and out of her heart. He belonged to her. She was sure of it, at last!

"I wouldn't have gone to the Goodwins' tonight," she murmured presently, her lips against his smooth-lean face, "only I was jealous of you and Alice—"

"Oh, Alice!" he spoke of her as if she were less than nothing. "Forget other women, Ann Marie! There's no one for me but you."

"And no one for me but you, Neal, more than I can tell you."

He nodded.

"And you don't care if I haven't any money, do you?" he asked her. "You won't regret later on that you didn't marry Jim Goodwin, will you? He has all the money this side of Kingdom-Come, you know."

Ann Marie would not even talk about Jim Goodwin and all the money this side of Kingdom-Come.

"'I can't give you anything but love, Baby,'" said Neal, and he sounded very melancholy, quoting the words of his favorite popular song. "'That's the only thing I've plenty of, Baby.'"

"A telegram came for you while you were out," Alice told her sleepily when she came into the flat that night. "I opened it."

"You would!" said Ann Marie.

"Where is it? Whom it is from? The folks?"

Alice nodded, sitting up in the day-bed and clasping her hands around her knees.

"I'll say it's from the folks!" she replied, yawning. "Diggety dog, wait 'till you see it! There it is."

The telegram, in its yellow envelope, lay on the seat of one of the chairs.

Ann Marie read it:

"Dad and Mrs. Leezy married here yesterday Stop Family disgrace too much for little Jeanie Stop Will be your house early tomorrow morning unless I hear from you Stop Best love.

"JEAN MACY."

Ann Marie read it three times before she laid it down.

"Well, what will we do?" she asked. "What will we do about it?"

Alice giggled. "Do?" she repeated. "Everything has been done, Sister Ann! I went out and sent her a wire and told her she simply could not come up here. I told her we had no room for her here, and no money for her and the best thing she could do was to elope with Brooke Walters!"

"Hmm—" Ann Marie thought that over.

"It seems hard hearted not to let her come up here for a while, doesn't it?" she asked slowly. "Just until all the gossip is over down home? You know how the whole town must be talking about Dad marrying Mrs. Leezy! And naturally Jeanie hates it. I think we ought to let her come up here for a little while."

Alice's face turned dark as a thunder cloud.

"Now don't be a fool!" she cried, scowling. "The thing is settled, and Jeanie's not coming! You know you don't make enough money to feed three of us! You just let Jeanie stay at home and swallow her pride. It won't choke her to death, I guess!"

She flung herself down upon the pillow.

"Where would she sleep?" she asked. "You and I just about fill this narrow little bed, even after we pull up the side at night."

A half hour later her voice came out of the darkness.

"Maybe we ought to let her come, after all," she said thoughtfully. "We could rent an electric sewing machine and she could make all my wedding clothes, if she were here. Couldn't she?"

Ann Marie was too drowsy to answer her . . . She dropped off to sleep and dreamed that she was running a boarding house and that her father and Mrs. Leezy had come there as bride and groom.

When Ann Marie came home from work the next night, Jeanie had arrived.

"I got Alice's wire, telling me not to come," she told Ann Marie, kissing her warmly. "But I came, anyway. There's always room for one more, so they say!"

The little flat seemed to be full of trunks and hat boxes and suit cases. Alice's baggage stood against the wall in one corner and Jeanie's two wardrobe trunks filled another corner, Ann Marie's things were in the dressing closet.

"I don't know where I'm going to sleep," Jeanie said cheerfully, "unless we go out and buy an army cot somewhere."

"The janitor can probably scare up another day-bed," Alice answered. "We can give him a couple of dollars, and I'll bet he'll break his neck finding us one! . . . Money always talks."

It melted away, too, thought Ann Marie, and the thought worried her.

The janitor found a day-bed and was given a $2 bill for his trouble.

"But there ain't no sheets for this here bed," he said to Ann Marie, shaking his head firmly. "And there ain't no pillows, neither. You'll have to buy 'em—and, listen, you got to pay more for this flat if more than one person lives in it. That's the rules."

Ann Marie actually felt herself growing pale as she listened to him.

"But my sisters are just visiting me," she protested weakly.

He wagged his head.

"If they're still here after the first of the month, I got to raise your rent," he said. "Sorry, but that's the rules, Miss."

He pocketed his $2 bill and went away.

An hour later he came back.

"There's somebody wants you on my telephone downstairs," he said in his glum way to Ann Marie. "And listen here, it's all right for them to call you up here. But if I come up to the top floor after you, I've got to charge you a little something for my trouble."

Ann Marie happened to have a quarter in the pocket of the house dress she had on. She gave it to him and then ran downstairs ahead of him to answer the telephone.

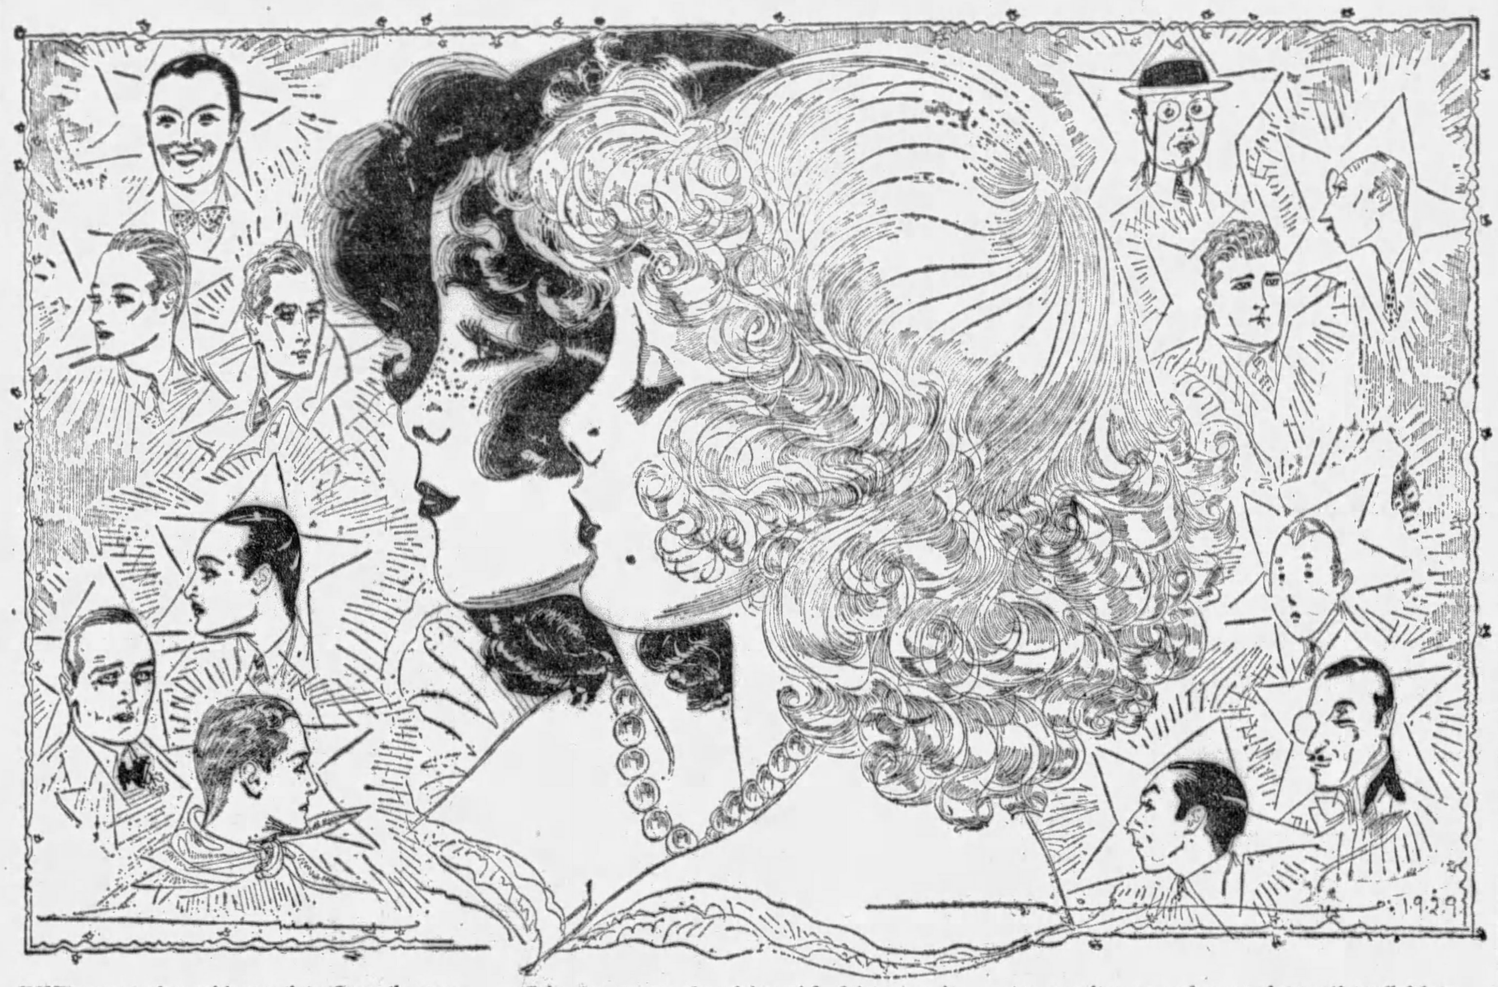
THE CANDLE AND THE MOON

Drawn by NELL BRINKLEY



SOME verse-maker said once that when the moon shone we did not see the candle. The Moon is a dream of mystery. Beside the Moon the Candle is a homely thing. Plain, earthly, comradely, we know all about it. The Moon is—what? A thing of silver radiance, set too high to know its everyday consistancy. A thing to be marveled at, gazed upon, whose luminous light can be basked in, to rouse wonder, delirious delight. The Candle is just a little golden flame, kind, cheering, close to your hand, dim and slightly plain beside the Moon. And yet—even if beside its sister Moon it pales, I say that the Candle is a lovely thing! And you can burn your fingers at it easier than in the cold flame of the moon.

Men have died, if they ever died of love at all, of love for a "plain" woman.

Here is the Candle and the Moon. We see this Glory Girl on the streets now days until it is bewildering. Was it always like this in other times, you think, that every street was spilling with beautiful girls? But wedged in between, going about her affairs, too, we see the plainer girl, dainty, too, in her bright chiffon dress and her little fur piece, beating her typewriter or playing her tennis, in business setting or country life. And from what we see she seems to get the biggest share of true romance! And the biggest share of eligible, intelligent and good-looking men. The little Candle! Aha.

The man I like, and me, we stroll along the evening streets arm in arm, with our baby fast asleep with his three toy bears, and his gran'-mother to cock an eye at him for us, and we watch the files of girls and men go by. Girls and men. Two by two. And this is the way it goes. A dream of a girl, "one of those passing rainbow dreams,"—and a young man that you wonder she would shine upon. Weak-faced, big ears and no chin. A plain girl with a good-tempered happy face—and a young man with a fine head and a normal, clever face. A dazzling young lady—and a poor-type man. A plain young man with no forehead to speak of, but plenty of jawbone. A Polly Lauder sort of girl, sweet rather than slaying, with a man like a diplomat, an inventor, a writer, an explorer and an artist rolled into one. That's how it goes.

We can be mistaken, the man I like and I, about what these young men are; but you can't be fooled on class and type. And it looks as though the Candle takes the pick of the earth in sweethearts and husbands, and the Moon sheds her magic light upon the second-bests.

I know a plain little girl who has admiration, sweethearts and friends more than she can crowd into her unassuming life. And freckles! And she worries about the freckles. And you wonder WHY she wants to get rid of the freckles when she has ten beaux a week and all of them desirable. What more could she have without the freckles?

If you are sweet-tempered, good, without self-consciousness, and have a beau who's a real man, don't worry about not being the Moon. Men gaze at the moon in rapture, until they grow a bit chilly, and then they come in the house to sit by the Candle light.

How to Keep Well

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

Pep Yourself Up by the Picnic Route!

ONE of the advantages of outdoor life is its good effect upon the general health. Some persons will go outdoors without being urged. Others must be offered some inducement to go out and enjoy the sunshine and fresh air. The lure of an outdoor picnic near shady brook or waterfall, will induce even the tired business man to leave the daily grind for a day.

DR. COPELAND

A picnic used to be a rather trying experience. It was difficult to prepare and carry the food and have it in a tempting condition to serve at lunch time. Now heat-proof paper containers, the thermos jars and bottles, baskets, paper forks and spoons, add to the ease of preparing and serving the picnic lunch.

The mother of the family is grateful for these modern conveniences. The food that is to be served at the picnic is put into one of the thermos jars, which insures its being in good condition when the destination is reached. There are no messy dishes and leftovers to be packed. The coffee or other beverages may be carried in thermos bottles.

Let us consider the advantages of picnics from a health standpoint. It takes you out in the fresh air and sunshine for, naturally, you couldn't have a picnic and escape these. The drive to and from the selected spot is full of interest. You see things that attract the attention and appeal to the eye. Your mind leaves the worries of the previous week, and you are filled with the beauties of nature. You are happy. All these are health aids.

Having partaken of a bountiful luncheon, whether served from the most modern picnic basket, or from the simplest home-made one, you begin to feel that the world is a pretty good place after all. You watch the cows grazing in the nearby field, or calmly chewing their cuds by the babbling brook. You are tempted to lie down and have a nap. You relax in spite of yourself.

Don't sit around the house next Sunday and growl about the trials and tribulations you had all this week and live over those you think you may have next week. After church take the family and go for a picnic! Forget your troubles.

If you have a car, you will enjoy a ride in the country. Perhaps you may have to go by bus, trolley, bicycle, or even on foot. No matter what means of transportation you use, you will get home refreshed and invigorated. You will be assured of a good night's rest, and with your disposition and health quite restored, instead of a blue Monday, you will have a sunny Monday. You will be better all the week.

It does not pay to give way to the grouchy feeling. Not alone are you unhappy and your neighbors made unhappy, but you are impairing your health. The effects produced by the picnic are conditions which add years to your life.

Answers to Health Queries

S. P. Q.—Almost every time I go swimming I get a cramp in my leg. What is the cause for this?

A.—Poor circulation is probably responsible for this trouble. Build up your entire system and try to increase your circulation.

G. S. Q.—What is the normal weight, also blood pressure and heart beat for a young man aged 20, 5 feet 11¼ inches tall?

A.—He should weigh about 157 pounds, blood pressure about 115, heart beat about 72.

J. A. A. Q.—Are violet ray and X-ray treatments helpful for weak lungs? How often should they be taken?

A.—In some instances they are helpful. Once a week should be sufficient.

MRS. J. S. Q.—What do you advise for an ear that bleeds every five or six weeks?

A.—An examination is necessary to locate the underlying cause. It would be wise to see an ear specialist.

READER. Q.—Can a mole be removed?

A.—Small moles may be removed by the electric needle. The X-ray, radium and dioxide snow have been successfully employed in getting rid of moles. Consult a skin specialist.

* * *

N. E. H. Q.—What should a woman 39, 5 feet 3 inches tall, weigh?

A.—She should weigh about 138 pounds.

O. B. Q.—How much should a woman aged 37, 5 feet 8 inches tall, weigh? Also a man aged 41, 5 feet 2 inches tall?

A.—They should weigh respectively about 150 and 135 pounds.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Senses Jealousy of Philip Back of Dickey's Tirade.

THAT Dicky had worked himself up to a point where one of his old fits of temper which his mother calls tantrums, was the only release possible for his emotions, I had seen when he began his tirade about my "social secretaryship" for Philip Veritzen. I had seen something else, too, something which in other circumstances would have given me a distinct thrill and softened the anger against my husband which was fast robbing me of my own self-control. Behind his anger was that old jealousy of my employer which he has shown ever since I entered the Veritzen organization.

But in voicing that jealous anger he had included the one taunt which was unforgivable to me. I could overlook the slur, untrue and hard to endure though it was, that I had substituted an undignified match-making social secretaryship for my position as historical expert with the Veritzen dramatic organization. But he had said that my work with the Veritzen organization had "played hob" with Junior, and that accusation, so entirely without foundation, had swept away my self-control. It was no longer possible for me to keep up the airy nonchalance with which I had parried his first angry thrusts. With the same unerring facility I possessed for finding the vulnerable point in his armor, he had aimed that dart at my Achilles heel, and his aim had been true. I was shaking as if chilled when his sudden thrust against the door prevented me from opening it.

"You'll not get out of this with your high and mighty martyr pose of silence," Dicky stormed. "I'm not one of your former high school pupils, I happen to be your husband, although the Lord knows—"

He stopped short, and I guessed that even his wrath stopped short at voicing the slurring speech which it was only too patent had been close to his lips.

"And you'll not walk out on me with your head up in the air when I'm handing out a bit of unpalatable truth to you," he finished lamely glaring down at me.

I had dropped my hand from the door knob, and clenching my fingers into my palms to conceal their shaking, I walked away from the door, and sat down upon one of the porch chairs. Indeed my knees were so shaky that I could not stand. Never had I felt so close to utter emotional breakdown. Primitive longings swept over me. I could have flung myself upon my husband, and fought him as I might a wild, screaming savage. But I knew, that no matter how goaded, I must not give way to the smoldering wrath which threatened every second to burst into uncontrollable flame.

"You, of course, are physically stronger than I am," I said, when I could control my voice. "Therefore I must wait until you choose to release me. Also, I cannot prevent you from voicing whatever mistaken—and—untrue accusations you wish to make. But as for taking them—or you—seriously—that is something you cannot compel. You simply are very annoying—though in some ways amusing. Indeed, I think perhaps amusement triumphs over annoyance with me. So by all means go on with whatever you have to say. Only, may I remind you that the Princess Olina will in all probability arrive within a very few minutes—Lillian went down there this morning, and has gone again this afternoon—and though this is all very interesting, it isn't conducive to the best mental atmosphere for an incoming guest.

I unloosened my fingers, locked my hands together in my lap and settled back in the chair as if ready to listen for any length of time. It was a ruse which I had used before with Dicky in the hectic days when quarrels were frequent with us. But the years of our later estrangement had been marked with few tempestuous episodes. It was a throwback to old times to be involved in one of Dicky's temper tantrums. But there would be no wonderful reconciliation following this scene such as used to sweep me from my feet in the days when Dicky was still my loyal lover.

The recollection, the contrast between those days and these, was almost too much for me. My locked fingers tightened upon each other. Would he never go? Was there no taunt I could fling at him which would anger him sufficiently to make him take himself away from the balcony before I lost the self-control for which I was so valiantly fighting?

Cleaning Upholstery

A good method of cleaning leather upholstery is to wash it with a cloth wrung out of warm water to which a little vinegar has been added.

Faded Carpets

If a teacupful of vinegar is added to the water used to wash a faded carpet, the colors will appear much brighter when dry.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Appropriate Expression of Good Wishes.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: A very dear friend of mine, a young man, is to play in a concert very soon, and some of his friends wish to send flowers. Is it proper to send a man flowers on some occasions?

Please suggest a nice gift to a man from some friends who wish to express their appreciation in this way. C. O.

YES, it's proper, but I can't imagine that flowers are too acceptable to a man giving a concert. I am sure that he would very much more welcome a telegram of good wishes to arrive just before the concert. And then perhaps a book sent afterward, and suitably inscribed as a souvenir of his friends' good wishes and congratulations. There are many fine books on music, or the friends might find out what scores of operas or symphonies he would enjoy, and send them to him.

For the Double Ring Ceremony.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: Does the bridegroom purchase both his wedding ring and the bride's; or does the bride purchase his ring?

—READER.

THE groom purchases the bride's ring, and the bride purchases the ring that she gives to her groom.

A Nosegay for the Bridesmaid.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: I am going to be a bridesmaid for my sister, who is to be married in church. Is it proper to carry an old-fashioned nosegay if my dress is formal, and has long sleeves? My sister is going to carry a prayer book.

A READER.

YES. To me this type of bouquet is especially attractive, and, if your sister agrees (and, after all, it is the bride who decides this sort of thing), carry this pert nosegay.

A Gracious Refusal.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: If a young man asks a young lady to come and "have a bite to eat," and the young lady does not wish to, what should the young lady say, if anything?

PUZZLED.

"THANK you very much for asking me, but I am very tired, and do you mind if we go right home?" Or, "It is very kind of you to ask me, but I have an engagement, and I am afraid that I must hurry home."

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Button-Conscious Sex

OF ALL the recent protests against the discomforts and absurdities of modern masculine clothes, the most poignant and touching was one feeble wail against the tyranny of BUTTONS.

Did you ever stop to think how many buttons it takes to get a man all together, in the morning, while a woman is slipping a couple of garments over her head?

* * *

Just WHY a man should have so many buttons and buttonholes to struggle with, no woman has ever discovered—unless it is to keep wives busy and out of mischief.

HELEN ROWLAND

A woman may carelessly trust herself to safety-pins or shoulder straps; but a man must be buttoned up to the neck and then trimmed all over with buttons. They give him a sense of security, I suppose.

Buttons on his coat, his overcoat, his waistcoat, his undershirt, his top-shirt AND his trousers; whole rows of them! Cuff buttons, collar buttons; buttons on his pajamas and sometimes on his bathing suit. He would button on his hat, somehow, if he could find a way to manage it. He is THAT button-conscious!

A wife who believes in "preparedness" may forget to order the winter's coal, but she never lets her supply of BUTTONS run out—white buttons, black buttons, large buttons, small buttons, metal buttons, bone buttons and cloth buttons! He can detect a missing button on any of his garments in the dark. Sew on all his buttons, except the one in the back and SEE if you can fool him!

* * *

Yet, in his naive inconsistency, a man always puts the most buttons where the strain is smallest. Rows of buttons down the front of his shirts and vests, where there is no strain whatever; at least three buttons on his suit-coat, though he never fastens any of them; a button on each of his hip pockets—and ornamental buttons on his cuffs.

But only ONE button on the BACK, where it would do the most good! And never more than one collar button to his name, no matter how many wives or motor cars or airplanes he may keep.

Then, just to satisfy his passion for buttons, he decks himself out in fraternity buttons, campaign buttons, Elk buttons, delegate buttons, Rotary buttons and Masonic buttons. All his political opinions, club affiliations and moral tenets can be illustrated by a button! Buttons, buttons, buttons!

Is it any wonder that his favorite song is "Button Up Your Overcoat?

Yet, in all the rebellious demonstrations staged this past summer, only one voice was lifted against the tyranny of buttons! Man has become so accustomed to spending three-quarters of his life slipping buttons into buttonholes that he would feel as lost without his buttons as a woman without a lipstick.

* * *

If any woman hope to meet her husband in Heaven, she had better have a complete supply of buttons with her. Because the last thing he will probably do, after the horn has blown on Judgment Day, will be to ask his wife to sew a BUTTON on his wings!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, September 27.

FAIRLY adverse configurations dominate the events of this day, according to the prevailing aspects. With Luna square Mars, the planet of turbulence and violence, there is likely to be agitation, excitement and ill will in visible action, but the lunar square to Mercury presages misrepresentation, trickery and fraud of an underhand nature, with the sinister complexion of events enhanced by the position of the subtle and crafty Neptune, intruding into personal affairs.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of excitement and turmoil, with open as well as subtle problems to meet. There may be quarrels, litigation, loss through fraud or misrepresentation. Personal affiliations may have some secret or subtle developments, but there is also some sign of gain and advantage.

A child born on this day may have a rather contradictory disposition. Its personal life may have some secret phases.

Death of Yankee Pilot Baseball Suffers Loss

BUCS ONCE TRIED DEAL FOR HUGGINS

THE death of so prominent and popular a figure as Miller Huggins would have plunged the baseball world into sorrow at any time, but it came as all the greater shock because it occurred just before the world championship series in which he had for years been a leading principal so frequently that he had come to be looked upon as almost a regular part of it. After he had stood out in the post-season classic for three straight years, and in six out of seven consecutive seasons, as the manager of one of the contending teams, a record never approached by any other pilot in the history of baseball, it was a sad instance of the irony of fate that he should be called by death just when the stage was being set for the 1929 renewal of the annual title struggle.

Miller Huggins

Baseball loses one of its most beloved, upright and capable characters in the passing of the little chief of the Yankees. He was not only one of the most competent managers the game ever knew, but his death is all the harder blow to the national pastime because he was above all a clean, thorough sportsman whose methods and actions always were above question and whose connection with the sport was at all times a credit to it and an influence for its good. His slight stature was in striking contrast to the huge hole that he leaves—one that will not soon be filled.

LIKE all other men in baseball, President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh club, is deeply grieved over the death of Huggins. After the little manager first became ill, the Pirate owner made frequent inquiries as to his condition, and he was visibly affected when informed yesterday afternoon that Huggins had succumbed.

In praising Huggins as a man, a manager and a player, President Dreyfuss, who had known him even prior to his professional debut in St. Paul in 1903, when he played for Julius Fleischmann's independent team in Peekskill, N. Y., disclosed that he had once tried to get Miller for the Pirates. He opened negotiations for a trade with the Cincinnati club that would have brought the little second baseman here, but the deal fell through. The local magnate rates Hugh Critz, present second baseman of the Reds, as the closest approach to Huggins in ability at the position, though Critz is considerably heavier than Miller, who was smaller even than Lloyd Waner.

TONIGHT will bring the answer to the question as to whether Tommy Loughran will be able to continue in the heavyweight fistic class the victorious march that carried him to the championship of the light-heavy division.

Loughran retained that title until he withdrew from the class undefeated as champion. There was no doubt as to superiority over all other light-heavies, but whether he can maintain that superiority over heavier opponents remains to be seen. His first test comes tonight in his 15-round battle with Jack Sharkey at the Yankee Stadium in New York.

Tommy Loughran

TOMMY will have four things in his favor. They are longer experience, quick thinking ability, boxing skill and ring activity during the present year. He has done a great deal more fighting since last winter than Sharkey, whose only bout was that drab 10-round affair with Young Stribling at Miami in February. That's quite an item. A man has got to work at his trade to be on the right edge when a big moment arrives. Besides, the Philadelphian ought to be helped by the fact that he will be allowed to enter the ring at a natural weight. He has been relieved of the strain of grinding himself down to a certain figure, as he was required to do when fighting in the 175-pound class.

FOR these reasons, the majority of the fight experts are predicting victory for Loughran, some of them going so far as to prophesy that Tommy will win by a knockout. This looks decidedly improbable, to say the least, as the former light-heavy champion has never displayed anything resembling a knockout punch and hasn't stopped an opponent since 1925.

In spite of all the advantages that make most of the dopesters look upon Loughran as a sure winner, the opinion sticks that it would be a mistake to count Sharkey out of the running before he has actually been beaten. Jack is not without some items in his favor. He will have an edge in height and weight, he is a pretty good boxer himself, and he carries a better punch than Loughran.

THERE is no denying that the former sailor has given some disappointing exhibitions and has been the hardest heavyweight in the game to figure. But he has also put up some really good fights in which he loked like a champion.

If he happens to have one of those good spells tonight it is going to be a mighty tough matter for Loughran to beat him. Sharkey's courage is not to be questioned, either. He had enough of it to tackle George Godfrey and Harry Wills when other heavyweights were dodging them.

Jack Sharkey

SCIENTIFIC boxers like Loughran have not always succeeded in defeating tough fighters, though Gene Tunney was twice victorious over Jack Dempsey. Jim Corbett was a wizard in skill, but he was beaten by Bob Fitzsimmons, Tom Sharkey and Jim Jeffries. Kid McCoy fell before Sharkey's battering attack, Jim Hall and George Gardner lost to Fitzsimmons, Bombardier Wells was knocked out by Al Palzer, Tom Kennedy and Gunboat Smith, Georges Carpentier was worsted by Dempsey, Frank Klaus and Billy Papke, Jack Everhardt was conquered by Kid Lavigne, Joe Gans was outpunched by Battling Nelson in their second and third meetings, George Dixon and Pedlar Palmer could not stand up under Terry McGovern's attack and the scientific Joe Choynski, a light-heavy, was beaten by Joe Walcott, only a welterweight. So Sharkey has a chance to win tonight, in spite of all the dope in favor of Loughran.

JOHN McGRAW'S success with Melvin Ott, the 20-year-old home-run slugger of the Giants, has evidently prompted him to string along further with youthful material From the same family. He picked up Melvin as a mere kid a few years ago, and now he is going to take another chance.

McGraw's latest acquisition is Charley Ott, 18-year-brother of Melvin. He has joined the Giants for a trial and was chaperoned into the big city by his mother. The younger Ott has been playing semi-pro ball in Gretna, La. Like Melvin, he was a catcher, but it is planned to convert him into an outfielder.

AFTER four days of barnstorming, the Pirates resume their regular schedule in St. Louis today, opening a five-game series with the Cardinals. A double-header is booked for Sunday.

More open dates will follow the Mound City series, and then the

PLAYOFF FOR TITLE

SAINT GERMAIN, France, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Aubrey Boomer and Archie Compston, a pair of Great Britain's foremost professional golfers, will meet today over the New Fourqueux links in a 36-hole playoff for the French Pro championship. At the end of the 72-hole medal play, both were tied for the title with 283 strokes.

CAPITAL MEN QUALIFY

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Al Houghton, of the Harper Country Club and Freddie McLeod, of the Columbia Country Club, won the two qualifying places allotted to this district in the annual qualifying round of the National Professional Golfers' Association, yesterday, Houghton scoring 74-73—147 and McLeod 75-75—150.

YANK PILOT LOSES GAME FIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Miller Huggins, the Mighty Atom of Baseball, is dead.

The bantamweight manager, who knew how to handle the heavyweight home run king, who manipulated the play of the most powerful team ever known to baseball, winning six pennants and three world championships in eight years with the New York Yankees, died yesterday afternoon at St. Vincent's Hospital.

The end to one of the most remarkable careers of major league leadership, one which saw Huggins battle against obstacles to produce the richest and greatest club of modern times, came at 3:16 p. m., after the diminutive manager had fought a gallant but losing fight against a complication of maladies. He was 49 years old.

FOUR TRANSFUSIONS

Huggins was taken seriously ill less than a week ago. He was removed to the hospital only last Friday and then mainly at the insistance of Dr. Edward H. King, club physician of the Yankees, who realized the little man was in dangerous condition. He had suffered from a protracted cold, which developed into influenza. A slight infection of the face developed erysipelas and it was the combination of ailments that rapidly undermined his resistance.

Four blood transfusions were made within the past two days in an effort to save the manager's life. Death was directly due to pyaemia, the process of blood forming organisms in the blood, with infection of the face and oedema, the filling of the lungs with water, as contributory causes.

At the bedside when the end came were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huggins, his brotoher and sister-in-law; Myrtle Huggins, his sister, and the Rev. J. E. Price, of the Washington Heights Methodist Episcopal Church.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, wealthy brewer, who selected Huggins as manager of the Yankees 12 years ago, had spent most of the morning at the hospital, along with Edward G. Barrow, his business manager. They had left the hospital for lunch shortly before the end came.

SERVICES TOMORROW

Grief-stricken, both shared keenly the regret that was universal throughout the baseball world.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Church of the Transfiguration, 1 East Twenty-ninth street, with Dr. Price, a close personal friend of Huggins, officiating. The body will be taken tomorrow afternoon to Cincinnati, Huggins' birthplace, where final services will be held Satuday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Cincinnati.

The funeral services tomorrow aafternoon will be attended in a body by the Yankees, led by Big Babe Ruth.

Huggins was reputed to be worth more than $250,000. At one time he sold holdings in Florida real estate for a reported price of $150,000. His salary was understood to have been $25,000 for the last few years, having more than doubled since he took over the management of the Yankees in 1918, leading them to their first pennant three years later and repeating in 1922-23-26-17-28, with the aid of the Ruppert checkbook and his own ability to develop a new crop of stars.

DREYFUSS GRIEVED

President Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates, made the following statement regarding the untimely death yesterday of Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees:

"The death of Miller Huggins will be mourned throughout the baseball world. I was deeply grieved to learn the sad tidings and my heartfelt sympathies go to his relatives and to Col. Jacob Ruppert whose club he served so faithfully and successfully."

HEYDLER SAD

President John A. Heydler, of the National League, was saddened at the news of the manager's death.

"All baseball men feel Huggins' loss. He was in our league for 15 years. Miller was held in high respect and esteem. He was an able, resourceful leader and a splendid sportsman. His death is a distinct loss to the game."

"Miller Huggins was one of the finest men in baseball and the game has suffered a tremendous loss," William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Cubs said.

"Miller Huggins' death brings a great personal grief to multitudes of people both in and out of baseball." Commissioner K. M. Landis said in paying tribute to the departed New York manager. "He was a great man and a great leader. He was perfectly familiar with every department of baseball. Few had his intelligence to meet problems and deal with emergencies. He had absolute integrity, perfect loyalty and tireless energy. He was a distinct credit to the game."

Commissioner Landis said world series preparations prohibited him from attending the funeral.

YANKEES MOURN

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Though death had robbed them of their leader, the members of the New York Yankees club maintained their usual routine here last night when they ended their last series with the Boston Red Sox and departed for Washington.

The players, whose dinners were delayed because the Red Sox had prolonged the game through 11 innings, were hurrying into their street attire when newspapermen called at their dressing room to collect expressions of their regret on their famous manager's death.

Babe Ruth paid his tribute to his late manager in these few words:

"I am sorry. The crowd feels bad. Hug was a great little fellow."

Lou Gehrig, paused long enough to say "Miller Huggins was the best manager that ever lived. He was the most pleasant man I ever worked for. Nothing has seemed the same since he left the club."

The most deeply affected members of the Yankee club appeared to be Charley O'Leary and Arthur Fletcher, the veterans who have been in charge on the team since Huggins became ill.

O'Leary, his actions indicating mere words could not convey his great regard for Huggins, said:

"We have lost the greatest little pal in baseball."

"He will be hard to replace as he fought everybody until he finally became the great leader," Fletcher added. "Miller Huggins was the greatest little fellow I have ever known. I can't say enough about him. His death was a great shock to us all."

TOMORROW—A FISH THAT CAN WALK, SWIM AND FLY.

WINNER TO BE CHAMPION OF HEAVIES

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Minus the war-whooping of a Tex Rickard spectacle and with prospects of a gate of only about $300,000, instead of one of those million-dollar "takes" for which the prince of promoters was famous, Jack Sharkey, of Boston, and Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, will wage war against each other in THE heavyweight battle of the year at the Yankee Stadium here tonight, with the American championship and virtually the world title at stake.

Loughran, who recently resigned his world light-heavyweight championship after cleaning up all opposition in sight, will make his supreme bid against the man who a few years ago looked like a sure shot to ascend the throne at the first opportunity and then fizzled in bout after bout to gain the reputation of being the most undependable of all contenders. Tommy will enter the ring the underdog in the betting, mainly because of the fact that he is a lighter man without a punch, but his chances of scoring a decisive victory over the former sailor are extremely good because of his superior boxing skill.

KNOCKOUT UNLIKELY

Both men have their ardent followers. The Sharkey men are loudly predicting that their Jack will prove entirely too rugged and too terrific a hitter for that "fancy" guy from Philadelphia and will wear him down with body punches and knock him out before the tenth round comes around. The Loughranites, on the other hand, are confident in their belief that Sharkey won't be able to hit Tommy with a handful of rice and that Tommy will outclass him from a boxing standpoint by so wide a margin that the bout will be onesided.

Sharkey is the man who has everything to lose in this meeting. If he loses the fight it probably will be his last stand in the bidding for the crown, while Loughran is making his first start in that direction after having given up the honors in the 175-pound division. In other words, Loughran can come back for another chance in the event things go against him, but if Sharkey is eliminated it will be the last time he will be sent in there for that purpose.

From this corner, the odds appear to be all in favor of a Loughran victory. In spite of all of his bragging, it is a fact that Sharkey has shown a real punch on very few occasions, and there is no reason to suspect that he will be more effective in the hitting line against Loughran, who never has been knocked out, in a career embracing bouts with Gene Tunney, the former heavyweight champion, and many other good ones, than he was against the Riskos, Heeneys, Paulinos, Striblings and others. As a matter of record, Sharkey really has been a killer only against his old enemy, the timid Jim Maloney. True, he had Jack Dempsey out on his feet in the first round of their bout, but his stupid exhibition thereafter up to the time he lost on a disputed knockout in the seventh round, two years ago, was such as to wean away from him many admirers who thought they saw in him a potential champion.

As your scribe visualizes tonight's bout, it should be a battle between

MISS WILSON BOWS; GLENNA ADVANCES

ANCASTER, Ontario, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Led by Glenna Collett, of Pebble Beach, Cal., the American attacking force continued its triumphal progress through the Canadian women's golf championship yesterday to place five players in the quarter final round.

Miss Collett scored another sweeping victory in her second round match, eliminating one of her strongest Canadian rivals, Dora Virtue, of the Whitlock Club, Montreal 6 and 4.

Helen Hicks, youthful Hewlett, N. Y., star, who is favored as Miss Collett's strongest rival to continue the string of American victories, broken only twice in 10 years, had a much harder match against another American star, Virginia Wilson, of Chicago, who won the crown last year.

A second former champion went down in the second round yesterday when Helen Payson, of Portland, Me., the 1927 champion, lost to Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, of Toronto, 5 and 4.

PIRATES TRIM NEWARK, 3-1

NEWARK, O., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—The Pittsburgh Pirates won a 3-1 decision from the Heisey Company All-Stars in an exhibition game here yesterday. Honus Wagner, former Pirate player, played for the local team. Four thousand persons saw the game. The score by innings:

Barnard Orders No A. L. Tilts Tomorrow

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—President E. S. Barnard, wired all American League clubs yesterday to cancel all games scheduled for tomorrow, the day set for the funeral of Miller Huggins, Yankee manager, who died yesterday.

Keck to Cover Heavy Title Battle

When Jack Sharkey and Tommy Loughran square off for their heivyweight elimination battle in the Yankee Stadium, New York, tonight, with the American title at stake and possible recognition as world champion for the winner, Harry Keck, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will be at the ringside to give the readers of this newspaper a first-hand story of the fight.

The Loughran-Sharkey bout is the biggest match of the year and winds up the outdoor season. There will be no radio description of the battle and the fans will have to depend on newspaper accounts for their news of the contest. For the best description, as well as pictures, be sure to get your Sun-Telegraph tomorrow.

TIGER RANDALL BOXES TRIPPE TONIGHT

Tiger Joe Randall, hard-hitting little Negro welterweight, of Elizabeth, Pa., who has tossed consternation into the local ranks with his recent knockout victories, meets a test in the 10-round main bout in the Palisades roller rink, McKeesport, tonight, when he is sent againts Joe Trippe, rugged and hard-hitting veteran, of Rochester, N. Y., who has boxed many of the stars of the division in a number of cities.

Tiger Joe Randall.

Trippe, who will be making his first appearance in these parts, is the favorite to win because of his greater experience, but the McKeesport fans, who have witnessed several exhibitions of Randall's punching ability and caginess, look for him to give the invader a tough evening and would not be surprised to see him break through Trippe's defense and hang up another knockout victory.

Young Corsey, of Canton, O., and Tommy Duff, of Cleveland, meet in the six-round semi-final; Eddie Brannon, Negro featherweight, of the Hill, boxes Joey Angelo, of Swissvale, in the second bout, and Freddie Shafer, of McKeesport, and Young Penno, of McKees Rocks, are in the opener.

The report than Dan Billick, Duquesne featherweight, had broken with his manager, Jimmy Bronson, of New York, is without foundation. The boxer and pilot had a little squabble, but now everything has been threshed out and Dan will remain under Bronson's colors. Billick is signed to fight Heinie Hart, in a 10-round main bout at Allentown, Pa., October 15.

Rivaling the main bout in point of interest is the semi-final of six rounds between Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, and Patsy Gallagher, of the North Side, at the Moose Temple tomorrow night. Both are clever boxers and they are keen rivals. The winner has been promised a windup spot in the same ring within a few weeks. Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, makes his

BILL DONOHOE BUILDS ABLE ELEVEN

By JESS CARVER

LORETTO, Pa., Sept. 26. — Wild Bill Donohoe, who won fame as a galloping halfback for Carnegie Tech in '25, '26 and '27, is beginning his second year as head football coach here at St. Francis with bright prospects and the pleasant remembrance of no little success during his first season.

Wild Bill's Saints figure to be stronger than they were in 1928, when they defeated Westminster, St. Vincents, George Washington and Baltimore Loyola, tied Grove City and gave Dick Harlow's Western Marylanders a stiff argument. Davis-Elkins was the only eleven able to run rough shod over St. Francis last year.

The schedule confronting Bill and his squad this year is one game longer and will be a stronger test. St. Bonaventure, Salem College of West Virginia, Fairmont Teachers, Manhattan College and St. Thomas have been booked, replacing Loyola, George Washington, Davis-Elkins and Westminster, which have been dropped.

Coach Donohoe, who has shown aptitude for getting the best possible service out of ordinary material, will be able to put a varsity lineup on the field this year that will include eight veterans, three of whom will be found in the backfield. The team will not be extra heavy, but will have a set of fast, hard-hitting backs running behind a sturdy forward wall—the ideal combination.

THE ENDS

Bill Sullivan, a junior, and Al Abels, a senior, are guarding the terminals of the Saint line. They average 160 pounds, actual weight. Albert Keane, a freshman, who goes about 168, George Saloney, another freshman, are the understudys for the wing positions.

THE TACKLES

Chuck Crowell, playing his second year, and Ray Wilson, a hefty and promising freshman, have won the tackle berths. Crowell weighs 190 and Wilson tips the scales at 183. Both need experience, though playing beside veteran ends, they will be well bulwarked.

Other tackle prospects include Joe Jurasko, 180 pounds; Tom Vulnas, 170; Johnny Kinney, 187, and Jim Butler, who goes 210.

THE GUARDS

St. Francis will have a pair of veteran guards holding down positions and further offsetting any possible weakness at the tackles. Emil Salony, a junior, carrying 185 pounds of heft, and Andy Slatnisko, a senior, light but aggressive and clever, are figured to make the center of the Saint line a bad place to strike. This sterling pair will be assisted by Johnny McLoughlin, 159-pounder, built much on the order of Slatniske; Steve Androlina, 185; Fred Strechansky, 165, and Clark Ingoldsby, 165.

THE CENTERS

Johnny White, a freshman, one of the lightest men on the squad, but a deadly tackler and an accurate passer, has about cinched the center job. White weighs a scant 160 pounds, but he has beaten out Glenn Caulfield, who was at Grove City a year ago, and George McLister, a junior, both of whom are much heavier.

THE BACKFIELD

If Art White, a freshman fullback, hailing from Greensburg, comes through, Donohoe's backfield will be a pip. George Kunzler, veteran signal barker, triple-threat star, is at quarter. Billetdeaux, a hard-hitting back, and Eddie McLister, the former playing his third year and the latter his fourth, are at the halves. White has been placed at fullback for the time being, and seems destined to hold on to the job. He weighs 180 pounds and has shown class as a line wrecker.

Kunzler will do the kicking, with the passing shared by Billetdeaux and the quarterback.

Johnny O'Hara, Rosnickey, Jim Casey, Stewie Hertzog and George Meehan are others who hope to share the halfback play. Louis Bruno, little 145-pounder, is the only substitute quarterback on the squad. Ecknrode and McKenzie are fullbacks who are making White hit at top speed all the time.

OPEN OCTOBER 5

The Saints open their schedule October 5, meeting Grove City at Grove City. On the following week, Salem will be played in Steubenville, O., and then the team will invade New York for a game with Manhattan College.

Another trip to New York state will find the Red Flashes in Olean, for a battle with St. Bonaventure and after that, St. Thomas will be played in Scranton.

St. Vincent's will furnish the opposition on Armistice Day at Latrobe. The Fairmont Teachers will be played November 16 at Cresson and the season will end November 23, with Western Maryland as the foe at Altoona.

Elmer Daily, president of the Middle Atlantic League, is in charge of athletics at St. Francis, and so far, has done much to bring the school to the top. The Saints are proving worthy foes for most schools, both in basketball and in football, and are looking forward to an opportunity to break into the Tri-State Class B Conference, where they rightfully belong.

The Saints will wear crimson jerseys with white numerals this year. The socks will be red and white striped and the helmets tan.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What is the secret of learning to play a consistently good game?

Answered By WILLIE OGG

New England Professional, Former Massachusetts Open, Shawnee Open Champion.

One must first learn the mechanics of the swing and get to the point where these can be dismissed from the mind in making the shot. This can be obtained only by diligent practice. After that it is a question of mind which has to be trained to think right. This is the only difference between the star players and the average run of good golfers—their mechanics are good, but the stars are good under a strain and the others are not. Ability to produce when one has to is the key to the whole question. The art of thinking right is very elusive and hard to master, which explains why only a certain few win the tournaments, not only in golf, but in all classes of sports.

Fuente Is Seriously Injured in Smashup

ARCHBOLD, O., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Tony Fuente, Los Angeles, Cal., claimant to the heavyweight boxing title of Mexico and California, was seriously injured when an automobile in which he was riding plunged into a ditch four miles north of here yesterday.

Unable to obtain hospital accommodations for the fighter, Fuente was placed on a train for Chicago after receiving treatment from Archbold physicians.

Fuente's manager, Joseph Glazer, and his trainer, Sam Buxbaum, were uninjured. The accident occurrd when Glazer, who was driving, swerved the car sharply to avoid hitting an automobile.

Fuente fought in Indianapolis Tuesday night and was en route to Jackson, Mich., for a bout with Frankie Wine tonight when the accident took place.

Amman Is Lost To Duquesne Squad

Duquesne University will be without the services of Ted Amman, of Erie, Pa., one of Layden's star tackles, when the team lines up against Slippery Rock State College this Saturday. Amman is laid up with a touch of tonsilitis which will probably keep him out of the West Virginia U. game the following week, as well.

The other members of the squad are getting the benefit of some hard corrective work designed to better their playing form and remedy the poor defensive work and loose handling of the ball which have appeared as rather glaring faults on the part of the Dukes, at least in Saturday's game.

Armentrout Given Trial at Halfback

Murray Armentrout, the former Shady Side Academy star, replaced Dutch Eyth, Mars flash, at one of the halfback positions during one of the surprise moves yesterday of the Carnegie Tech coaches. While it might have been one of those shifts of Coaches Wally Steffen and Bob Waddell it would not be surprising if Army is started at one of the halves.

Football Rules

Proper Decisions on Knotty Problems of the Game

PLAY NO. 22.

Yale has made a fair catch on Harvard's 22-yard line and Yale elects to make a place-kick from the spot. The player who is holding the ball allows it to touch the ground and Harvard's line charges forward legally and secures possession of the ball.

What is the correct ruling?

ANSWER.

The referee rules that the ball has not actually been put into play, but penalizes Yale five-yards from the point for allowing the ball to touch the ground without immediately kicking it. Yale is allowed to make a trial for the field goal from the 37-yard line.

BRUIN HURLERS HAVE EDGE ON ATHLETICS

LONG SERIES BEST SUITED TO CUBS

NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the relative strength of the Cubs and Athletics, coming world series contenders. Today's review deals with the pitchers. The catchers, infielders and outfielders will be considered in later articles.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Back any baseball manager against the wall and ask him for his flat opinion as to the influence of pitching on a ball team and the chances are strong he will tell you it is at least 50 per cent—some will put the figure as high as 70 per cent.

When the famed Walter Johnson fanned 10 Pirates in the first game of the World Series in 1925, thousands of Pittsburgh followers felt the jig was up. But these fans did not consider that the Senators had only one Johnson and four games were necessary to decide the issue.

HAVE NO JOHNSONS

Supposing Bucky Harris could have come back the next day with Dazzy Vance and another string of strikeouts. Well, it might have been too bad for Our Boys. Johnson could not go to the mound each day and he gradually weakened under the strain.

Neither Joe McCarthy nor Connie Mack has a Walter Johnson, yet the respective champions rode to their honors on the power of clever slab staffs rather than on superiority in other departments.

You can find several infield combinations in the major leagues, for instance, that are superior to the foursomes that will be on display in the inter-league fights. But the teams with these classy first defenses do not have the pitching staffs owned by the opposing champs.

Numerically, Joe McCarthy's staff has the bulge on the division bossed by Connie Mack. But in a short series two or three stars may easily swing the result if they are in their best stride.

CUBS SUPERIOR

The Cubs, I figure, are a bit better than the Athletics and in a long test would show their superiority. They might win the honors in five games, provided their fingers are in form, but I think they are a better bet to win the series if it continues to six or seven games. They should get stronger all the while.

Marse Joe has a great staff in Pat Malone, Charley Root, Freddie Blake Hal Carlson and Art Nehf, not to mention the lesser lights.

Connie Mack's best bets are Bob Grove, George Earnshaw, Rube Walberg and Jack Quinn. The latter is the oldest pitcher in the majors, but he must be given consideration owing to his spitball. Burleigh Grimes showed what a good spitball will do for the National League champs.

Rogers Hornsby, in dwelling on the opposing club's pitchers, informed the writer that he expected trouble from Quinn.

At this writing Altoona Pat Malone appears to be McCarthy's best bet; there is much to indicate that the big righthander will be on the mound in the opening game.

Pat Malone Guy Bush

MALONE HAS SPEED

Pat, according to rival hitters, has as much speed as Dazzy Vance That is a broad statement, but it has been made by reliable athletes.

Malone, however, has had scant experience as compared with Vance. He seems to be a high-strung boy, too, but apparently he has lots of confidence and nerve. He stands well to be an outstanding player in the series.

Guy Bush has had a great season, but Bush is not regarded as highly as Malone; in fact there are followers of the game who would have more confidence in Fred Blake as secondary choice.

Anyhow, Marse Joe has Bush, Blake, Root and Carlson, four crack right handers on whom to draw, aside from Malone. Art Nehf is a good bet on account of his previous experience, and the fact that he is in better shape this season than he has been for some time. Little Mike Cvengros also is a possibility.

Connie Mack may open up with Lefty Grove, yet he would not surprise a goodly number of well-known baseball folks if he were to pass by Grove and Rube Walberg, the other clever southpaw, to throw George Earnshaw at the Cubs.

Athletes intimate with Earnshaw think he will prove a bagaboo to the Cubs. Among those who hold this contention is Ervin Brame, one of the stars of the Pirate slab staff.

Brame naturally wants the National League to finish in front, but he looks for trouble when Earnshaw goes to the slabs. He insists that the rightander, who is just about as tall as Brame, is not only a good pitcher, but a great one.

The Buccaneer flinger pays a tribute to the speed owned by his pitching friend. He also declares that Earnshaw is a pitcher in the sense that he is always doing something smart. In other words, he is not a "thrower."

SURE STARTERS

Grove and Walberg, however, are both almost sure shots to start at least one game. How these left-handers will fare against the right-hand attack thrown up by McCarthy is a matter of keen curosity. Every now and then a good southpaw would stop the Bears, but the odds are against the lefthanders, regardless of how clever they may be.

Summing up the pitching question one might be justified in giving a draw, but I am inclined to favor the senior circuit club. The decision may be unfair to the Athletics as it easily could be influenced by sentiment, or by lack of appreciation of Mack's hurlers.

Normile to Open Pleasure Resort

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Gene Normile, former manager of Jack Dempsey, announced here he was one of the sponsors of a new pleasure resort, to be opened at Ensenada, Lower California, 60 miles south of the American border, next month.

Normile said the new resort would represent an investment of approximately $1,000,000 to consist of a large club house, hotel, golf course, beach and pier. He also said M. P. Phillips, Los Angeles capitalist, had secured concessions from the Mexican government for a period of from 30 to 40 years for the resort, which will be called "Playa Ensenada."

Jack Dempsey and many prominent Hollywood stars have invested in the resort, Normile said.

SHARKEY MEETS LOUGHRAN

a bruising fighter, goaded to desperation, and a master boxer—and, in 99 cases out of 100 of this sort, it is wise to string along with the boxer. Sharkey is a better than fair boxer but he doesn't rate with Loughran in the matter of ring science, as he will readily learn once they get under way. Then he will have to resort to mixing. He doesn't hold his head very well when the going becomes hot, and a fighter in that frame of mind figures to be ducksoup for a fast-moving, circling sharpshoter like Loughran.

Sharkey's advantage in weight should not prove much of a factor. Loughran will scale around 185 pounds and Sharkey probably will have about 10 pounds on him. That doesn't cut much ice between heavyweights, especially when the lighter man is fast and smart enough to keep out of the clinches and thus prevent his opponent from using his weight on him.

Loughran is fighting Sharkey because Max Schmeling, the German hope, ran out on Phil Scott and was set down by the New York Boxing Commission. Now Max is cooling his heels in Germany and Tommy is getting the chance that would have been his but for the Teuton's stubbornness. Tonight's winner will stand out as the pick of American heavyweights, and in due time he will be called on to meet either Scott, the English champion, or Schmeling, the European champion, for the world title and will be a big favorite to win, so that, to all intents and purposes, the crowd sitting in on tonight's soiree really will be seeing the successor to the retired Tunney in the making.

U. S. REGAINS TITLES

Incidentally, with the defeat of Andre Routis, the Frenchman, by Bat Battalino, at Hartford, Conn., the other night, all of the world ring titles are back in the United States. The flyweight crown is in dispute, with all of the real contenders Americans; Al Brown, the New York Negro, is the bantamweight champion; Battalino the featherweight king; Tod Morgan the junior-lightweight ruler; Sammy Mandell the lightweight ace; Mushy Callahan the junior welterweight champion; Jackie Fields boss of the welters; Mickey Walker the middleweight titleholder; the light-heavyweight title is in dispute following the resignation of Loughran, and the heavyweight throne lies between Loughran and Sharkey.

Two good 10-round preliminaries are carded with the Loughran-Sharkey feature. Tom Heeney, the Australian, who only a year ago faced Tunney in the latter's last stand as champion and was knocked out in the eleventh round, boxes George Hoffman, former National amateur champion, in one of them and Jim Maloney, Sharkey's chief stepping stone, is in with Armand Emanuel, of California, who has given Loughran two fine fights.

The main bout is scheduled to be in the ring at 10 o'clock, daylight saving time. There will be no radio broadcasting. Bleacher seats sell for $1.65 and the ringsides are scaled at $26, including tax.

SPECIALS LEAVE PHILLY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—(INS.)—The greatest outpouring of Philadelphia ring fans to any out-of-town bout will take place when six special trains leave here at 5 p. m. today for the site of the Loughran-Sharkey bout in New York tonight. More than 4,000 Loughran rooters will be aboard the specials.

About $30,000 worth of tickets were sold to the Philadelphia delegation. Ray Curran, who is running the trains, estimated this forenoon. Interest here is at a fever-heat in the bout.

LOCAL GOLFERS SET PACE AT RIVERSIDE

SILLIMAN THIRD

E. H. Silliman, of Jamestown, N. Y., defending champion, was next with 148. Ninety-six players started match play this morning, with the final round set for tomorrow:

As was the case in his first round the first nine holes caused Nash the most trouble yesterday. He was out in 39, five over par, and came back in 37, two over. His card:

Out ...5 4 5 5 4 4 4 3 5—39
In ....4 3 4 3 4 5 5 5 3—37—76—71—147

McClure, however, found the first nine a stroke easier than the second, taking a 36 going out and a 37 coming back. A six on the sixteenth hole was the worst spot on the round. His card:

Out ...5 4 4 2 4 5 3 5 3 5—36
In ....5 3 4 3 4 4 4 6 4 4—37—73—74—147

Silliman's 72 card proved the best of the day. He shot the first nine in 36, two over par, and duplicated the score coming back. Fives on the ninth, sixth and eighteenth holes, forced him to slip over par figures. His card:

Out ...5 4 3 4 4 5 3 3 5—36
In ....4 4 4 3 3 5 4 4 5—36—72—76—148

SERIES HALTED

WEST BADEN, Ind., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Rain caused postponement of play for the National Baseball Federation title here yesterday. The series was resumed today.

MOUNTAINEERS WORK

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 26. Practice for the important State game with Davis and Elkins College was continued by a weary West Virginia University squad here yesterday afternoon.

VINCE RICHARDS IN SEMI-FINAL

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Three years of professional tennis have not taken any of the fire out of the spectacular volleys that marked the play of Vincent Richards. Charging into the net Richards crushed the veteran Philadelphia chop stroker, Wallace F. Johnson, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, yesterday to reach the semi-final round of the national professional singles championship, in which he is defending his title.

Karel Kozeluh, the Czecho-Slovakian, subdued Phil Bagby, of Kansas City, Mo., at 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, in the third round.

Howard Kinsey, reached the semi-finals by winning his quarter final match with Edwin Faulkner, Philadelphia, at 6-4, 6-2, 6-1.

"STANDARD" MOTOR OIL
is a specially processed oil that resists wear

Oilier? Yes—positively! But how could the new "Standard" Motor Oil be oilier than any other oil? That's where the experience of more than 58 years in the petroleum business enters into the picture. "Standard" Motor Oil is now a specially processed oil. It's different from any other motor oil on the market and that difference is greater oiliness.

Is oiliness an advantage? Certainly. Oilier oil flows more freely. Gets to those points of friction faster. Clings better when it gets there. Even before the engine warms. "Standard"—the oilier oil—is on the job. It protects the engine from getting too hot. Motor hot—motor cold—no matter. "Standard" soothes it. Cools it. Protects it from dry spots and friction. Dissipates heat.

Once Pennsylvanians had to drive far out of their way to get these advantages. But now—right in your own home town—you can get, at the same moderate cost, the same "Standard" Motor Oil that has helped thousands of motorists along the Eastern seaboard keep their oil and repair bills at the lowest possible figure.

HARVARD CUP PLAY ADVANCES

LADS BATTLE TO ENTER FINAL

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

Youthful net aces presenting four institutions will clash on the Arnold School rectangles, Braddock avenue, at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the semi-final round of the seventh annual Harvard Cup tennis tourney for the inter-scholastic singles championship of Western Pennsylvania. In the upper half of the draw, Maurice Saperstein, clever and experienced Bridgeville High School star, will encounter Maxwell, rangy Shady Side Academy luminary, in what promises to prove a closely contested baseline duel, while in the lower sector, the slashing Redmond, Peabody southpaw, will attempt conclusions with Milton King, hard-hitting stylist of Kiskiminetas Prep, in an affair that should be productive of considerable brilliantly slam-bang battling.

Following today's semi-final features, the scene of action in the tilting for the Crimson bowl will be shifted once more, this time to the University Club gallery court, where the final fracas will be staged tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., between this afternoon's survivors. Yesterday's summary:

Round four: Saperstein, Bridgeville, defeated Rennells, Wilkinsburg, 6-2, 6-0; Maxwell, Shady Side, defeated Clouse, South Hills, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4; Redmond, Peabody defeated Black Kiski, 6-1, 6-1; King, Kiski, defeated Malts, Peabody, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

Walker-Hudkins Title Go Arranged

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—(A.P.)—A second chance to dethrone Mickey Walker was placed within reach of the battering fists of Ace Hudkins today when the champion was expected to sign for a 10-round scrap with the Nebraska Wildcat at Wrigley Field here October 29.

Matchmaker Wadhams met with Jack Kearns, manager for the title-holder, and straightened out final details for the bout.

Walker's contract is expected to call for 47½ per cent of net receipts, with a possible guarantee of $100,000, which Kearns had demanded for the champion. Hudkins has agreed to a 12½ per cent cut. The fight was not made certain until the rugged Nebraskan disposed of Joe Anderson, of Kentucky, by a technical knockout in a bout Tuesday night.

Sharpsville High Seeks Grid Game

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 26.—Sharpsville High, one of the leading Class A schools of Mercer County, is without a football game for Saturday, September 16, and would like to book a game away from home with some Class A school of the Pittsburgh district. Schools interested are asked to communicate with Coach H. L. Wells, Sharpsville High School, Sharpsville, Pa.

Hugs will close the home season with two games with the Cards, winding up in Chicago the following day, October 6. The Giants gained half a game yesterday, but the Corsairs are still so solidly entrenched in second place that if they win only half of their remaining eight games, the McGrawites will have to make a clean sweep of eight games to nose them out.

Joe Amadee

SEVERAL pitchers have placed two no-hit games to their credit, but now comes the news of the surpassing feat of two such games pitched in succession. It is believed to be the first instance of the sort in any class of baseball. The youngster who achieved it is Joe Amadee, pitching for the team now representing the town of Morganza, La. Recently Joe pitched two consecutive games against different teams in which he did not allow a run or a hit. Now several big league scouts are said to be on his trail.

SANTIAGO BAN LIFTED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Armando Santiago, Cuban boxer, was indefinitely suspended by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission for fouling Benny Bass in their bout at the Phillies' ball park on September 18. The suspension will be lifted in order to permit Santiago and Bass to meet in a return bout here on October 11.

The commission also suspended indefinitely the permit of the Pine Knot A. A. (amateur) of Northumberland, Pa. Other boxers suspended included:

Gene Baldoni, Hilldale, Pa., indefinitely for conduct unbecoming a licensed boxer at Town Hall A. C., Scranton, on September 23.

Mickey Fedor, Canton, O., indefinitely; he must honor his contract with the Majestic A. C., McKeesport, Pa., before competing elsewhere.

Mickey Solmen, New Castle, Pa., 30 days for fouling his opponent at the Majestic A. C., McKeesport, September 19.

George (TNT) Gibbons, Canton, O., 30 days for fouling his opponent at the Armco A. C., Butler, Pa., September 20.

Paul Ewick, Erie, Pa., 30 days for fouling his opponent at the Erie A. C., September 13.

Joe Newhouse, Gleason, W. Va., indefinitely for unsatisfactory services at Everett, Pa., September 19.

Clifford Stuffi, Ralphton, Pa., indefinitely for unsatisfactory services at Everett, September 19.

Farmer Sweitzer, Everett, indefinitely for unsatisfactory services at Everett, September 19.

A. C. Stuckey, an Everett promoter, also was suspended indefinitely.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Montreal—Al Foreman knocked out (technical) Johnny Dundee, 10 rounds.

THREE GOLF EVENTS TODAY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Three tournaments are on the district's golf card for today, winding up the week's play, except for the Riverside Golf Club's tournament at Cambridge Springs, which winds up tomorrow.

The Sons of the American Revolution linksmen are competing in their special "Cogswell tournament" at the Hannastown Golf Club, near Greensburg. This event more than likely will bring S. A. R. golf activity to a close for this season. Col. Franklin Blackstone, chairman of the state committee, is in charge of the affair.

Mrs. Anderson, captain of Section 2, is directing that group's team matches at the Westmoreland Country Club today. Only one more tourney in this section of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania's league is on the books, and that is listed for the Aleoma Country Club next Wednesday.

The Castle Shannon Golf Club is the scene today of the tournament of the Syria Temple Legion of Honor. Following the golf competition, a dinner will be held in the evening.

The Hotel, Club and Restaurant Golf Association expects to make its tournament at the Pittsburgh Field Club one its best because it will bring its season to a close. The hotelmen were one of the most active independent organizations in local golf this year.

Entries for the Riverside Golf Club open tourney next Monday and Tuesday close on Saturday with William Baird, at the Riverside Hotel, Cambridge Springs. The event is only open to members of the professional golfers' association.

STADIUM GRID PARTIES FOR CHILDREN

When Pug Parkinson, the smashing Pitt fullback, and the rest of the Panthers go into action against Waynesburg College players in the Stadium aSturday, there will be a lot of shrill cheering from one end of the big bowl.

That will be the Boy Scout Gridiron Club.

This club will have its first meeting in the Stadium Saturday afternoon and thousands of children are expected to be present at the kickoff at 2:30. It is sponsored by the Allegheny County Council, Boy Scouts of America, the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology to give every boy and girl under 16 in the Pittsburgh district an opportunity to see football games at low cost. It is not confined to Boy Scouts, but is open to every child.

SPECIAL TICKET

A special ticket will be sold for 25 cents which will entitle the child to admission to the game and also provide street car transportation for him to the Stadium and back home. The pass will be good over the entire system of the railways company.

These tickets will not be sold by conductors, but will be distributed from several stores in conveniently located parts of Pittsburgh. They go on sale tomorrow at Spalding's, 608 Wood street; Joseph Horne's; Honus Wagner's store, 813 Liverty avenue; Stauff's, 3506 Forbes street; Beacon Pharmacy, 1937 Murray avenue; Mayflower Drug Company, Forbes and Murray; Cullen's drug store, 4609 Center avenue, and all offices of the Pittsburgh Railways Company where street car passes are sold.

TO SEE SEVERAL GAMES

In addition to the Pitt-Waynesburg game Saturday, the Boy Scout Gridiron Club will meet in the Stadium under the same arrangements for the Carnegie Tech-Thiel game October 5; the Pitt-West Virginia game October 12; the Carnegie Tech-Washington and Jefferson game October 19; the Pitt-W. & J. game November 9; and the big Pitt-Penn State game on Thanksgiving, November 28.

Al Foreman Stops Dundee in Tenth

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Al Foreman, lightweight champion of Canada, won on a technical knockout over Johnny Dundee, of New York, former featherweight champion of the world, in the tenth and final round of their bout here last night. Dundee was knocked down five times in the tenth round before the referee stopped the fight.

main bout debut against Johnny Pisi, of Greenville, Pa., in the feature event of 10 rounds; Frank Monroe, of Fair Haven, and Florida Howard, Negro, of New Kensington, middleweight, box the second bout, and Paul Balint, of the North Side, and Sammy Paris, of the Hill, bantams are in the opener.

Another interesting semi-final is that arranged for the Davy Abad-Augie Pisano bout featuring the re-opening card at Motor Square Garden Monday night. It brings together George Panka, sensational young heavyweight, of Homestead, and Frank Fiorian, of Cleveland. Fiorian holds two victories over Young Jack Dempsey and has boxed Frank Moody and other good ones and should provide the acid test for young Panka. Georgie Chambers, of the North Side, will be one of the principals in the second preliminary.

DOTHARD TO BOX WINSO

Amos Dothard, Negro middleweight star, of the Emerald A. C., and Billy Winso of the Duke O'Hara Club, of McKeesport, have been matched for one of the principal bouts on the all-star card of 10 battles that make up the benefit show to be staged in Motor Square Garden next Tuesday night for Matt Cooney, former Homewood athlete, who suffered the loss of a leg in an accident at Toledo last spring and is in need of financial assistance. The committee in charge hopes to round out the program today.

The Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., will stage another of its amateur shows in its open-air arena in California avenue, North Side, next Tuesday night.

Georgie Tomosky, of Turtle Creek, and Tommy Ready, box the main bout of a show at Clarksburg, W. Va., tonight. Jess Hoak, of McKeesport, and Casey Hayes, of Homestead, box in preliminaries.

Johnny Ray has matched his southpaw bantamweight, Al Iovino, of Swissvale, with Johnny Haggerty of Lawrenceville, for the six-round semi-final at Oil City next Monday night. Henry Firpo, the middleweight, will be one of the main bout principals.

SUNDAY GRID SCHEDULE INTERESTING

By TOM BIRKS.

Next Sunday's card on the independent gridiron will be one of the finest in many years in the early part of the season. The leaders will not be together but practically all of the outstanding aggregations are tackling outfits that might upset the dope.

Manager Muzzio expects a great crowd and a good battle at West View when the Eastern Bridge, of Uniontown, visits the Parkers. On the same day, the East Pittsburgh Firemen tangle with the Smock A. C., from Fayette County, and seeing that Smock and Eastern Bridge battled last Sunday, the appearance of both clubs, with reputed college stars in the lineup, should attract the fans.

Ullery former Penn State luminary, will be the chief attraction in the Smock lineup, but Jaquette, Sims, and Gordon, the last two named from Waynesburg and Politz, who the fans will remember was on the famous Brownsville and Elcho teams, will also be there.

The Firemen and East View had something soft last week, both clubs playing setups, but there is a feeling that next Sunday's games are going to be entirely different.

Eastern Bridge and Smock are anxious to break into the Western Pennsylvania independent schedule permanently, and making a good showing against either club is a good way to do it.

Tube City fans will have a good week's football. On Saturday, Tarentum Firemen, highly touted, will clash with Roy Quinns' Glassport Odds. This is going to be a real battle. Manager Weber feels that the Firemen are one of the best coached clubs in the Allegheny Valley, and Tube City fans should see this session. Sunday will find Monessen Olympics and McKeesport Olympics renewing then feud of last season. With the greatest following of any independent club, and a real coached team with a variety of plays to get the fans enthused, the Olympics from up the Monongahela River can be expected to seriously threaten Iverson's right to stay in the eliminations. Smiling Jack Mier popular manager of the upriver club, states that the Yellow and Black is stronger than last season, and this statement alone will satisfy the fans.

Port Vue Quakers will open their improved field with the Charleroi Whippets opposing the home outfit. The Whippets suprised by holding the Ambridge Mystics to a scoreless tie last Sunday. And Port Vue is one of the best independent football towns in the circuit.

Market Rallies | Lone Star Gas Strong

HEAVY BUYING PUTS STOCK PRICES UP

Wide Advances Made in Specialties and Active Shares as Market Turns

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP.)—The stock market, which was in a state of despair bordering on panic yesterday, regained its poise today when it became apparent that there was no foundation for the many wild rumors in circulation, and prices rallied briskly under heavy buying for both accounts.

Extreme gains in the active issues ran from 1 to 10 points, with a few high priced specialties marked up 12 to 30 points.

Some uneasiness developed around mid-day when heavy selling broke out in the motor stocks, presumably in reflection of the decrease in August sales reported by the General Motors Corporation, but this selling caused only a momentary interruption to the general advance. Chrysler broke below 60 to a new low level for the year and General Motors sold down 2 points, but buying support was quickly supplied. The statement of Walter Chrysler that current motor car sales and earnings warranted higher prices for automotive securities helped to restore confidence in that group.

RATE RAISE DISCOUNTED

Wall street apparently had been prepared for the increase from 5½ to 6½ per cent in Bank of England discount rate, placing it at a premium of ½ of 1 per cent above the New York Federal Reserve rate. Fears that the higher London rate would result in a heavy withdrawal of foreign balances from New York were set at rest by New York bankers, who pointed out that the volume of money loaned in the money market by British interests was relatively small.

Call money renewed at 9 per cent with indications that the rate would be maintained all day. Although the peak of the fall commercial demands is believed to be close at hand, bankers do not look for any marked relaxation in money rates for the balance of the year, barring a further drastic liquidation in stock prices. In view of the sharp decline in stock prices last week, traders naturally expect a decrease in federal reserve brokers' loans but the calling for payment of the large Lehman Corporation issue this week may upset earlier estimates.

MAKE WIDE GAINS

Adams Express soared 30 points to 660 on the announcement that it would be included in a large investment trust, but broke to 620 on profit taking. Columbian Carbon extended its gain to 19¼ points by touching another new high at 299. Warren Brothers ran up 14 points and National Biscuit, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Freight, Standard Gas and Electric, Union Carbon, A. M. Byers, American Water Works, Underwood Elliott Fisher, Louisville Gas and Electric, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies and Burroughs Adding Machine sold 5 to 10 points higher.

Recent strength and activity of Houston Oil was based on unconfirmed reports that a huge natural gas merger was pending in the southwest.

Standard Brands To Add Widlar Co.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Standard Brands, Inc., will acquire Widlar Food Products Company on the basis of approximately 77-100th of a share of Standard Brands common stock for one Widlar common share. Widlar preferred stock will be retired.

Superior Oil Net Higher for August

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Superior Oil Corporation, August profit was $330,682 after expenses and interest but before depreciation and depletion, compared with $244,826 in July. Net Oil production is in excess of 14,000 barrels daily.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Raw sugar was unchanged today at 4.08 for spots duty paid with sales of about 20,000 bags of uncontrolled Cuban reported at this level. Futures opened at advances of 1 to 2 points and continued firm throughout the morning with the list at midday 2 to 3 points net higher. The volume was not large, but there was very little offering and prices advanced on covering and buying by houses with Cuban and European connections. The buying was promoted by the steadiness of the spot market and the strength abroad together with reports of continued drought in European producing countries.

All refiners are now quoting fine granulated at 5.50 basis, but as buyers had covered their requirements for some little time to come no new business was reported at the new level, although withdrawals on old contracts were of fairly large proportions.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Rome Iron Mill Sold.

The Wrought Iron Company of America has acquired the Rome Iron Mill, Inc., of Rome, N. Y., one of the oldest and best known wrought iron companies in the country. Terms of the acquisition are not disclosed, but it is stated they will not make necessary any new financing on the part of the Wrought Iron Company. The corporate identity of the Rome Iron Mill will be retained and the policy of the new owners will be to maintain the high quality of the Rome Company products that have for years been recognized. Rome trade-marks and trade names will be continued.

Godchaux Sugar Melt.

Godchaux Sugars melted 50,800,000 pounds of Cuban raws in July and 51,700,000 pounds in August as against 43,200,000 and 47,300,000 pounds for July and August in 1928, respectively. Sales for July, the first month of the fiscal year, were 46,800,000 pounds as against 38,000,000 pounds in July, 1928, while sales for August totaled 52,100,000 pounds as against 51,100,000 pounds in August, 1928. For the calendar year of 1929 the melt is 16 per cent above that of last year.

Insurance Net Up.

Merchants and Manufacturers Fire Insurance Company reports earnings and gain to stockholders for the first half of 1929 of $956,547, equal to $4.78 a share on 200,000 no par common shares recently outstanding after federal tax provision versus $4.78 a share for the entire year of 1928 on the same share basis.

Airways Control.

Control of Northwest Airways, Inc., has been purchased by St. Paul and Minneapolis business men. It had been controlled by Detroit, Mich., interests. R. C. Lilly, president of the First National Bank of St. Paul, has been made president and A. R. Rogers, of Minneapolis, chairman of the board. H. C. Piper, of Minneapolis, and Col. L. H. Brittin, of St. Paul, are vice presidents. Col. Brittin will continue as general manager.

Cotton Supply Warning.

Official estimate of 14,825,000 bales of cotton in the United States, based on condition of the crop as of August 31, is a warning to the cotton industry of a shorter supply situation developing. World consumption of American cotton this current season is expected to be as large if not larger than in the past season.

Record Cantaloupe Shipments.

More than 243,000,000 cantaloupes, or 19,858 car loads of them, have been shipped out of Imperial Valley, Cal., this year, according to E. W. Clapp, traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Railroad. This breaks all records. Last year 18,389 car loads were shipped, the high record to date.

Allied Aviation Orders.

Unfilled orders for airplanes and engines amounting to more than $100,000 are reported on hand by Allied Aviation Industries, Inc. This secured business is the largest booked in advance by the company and it is expected that with only average sales during September and October, the company's plants will be kept on a full production schedule during the autumn months.

Enters Cuban Market.

The Continental Can Company has acquired the Sociedad Industrial De Cuba which makes 80 per cent of all cans produced in Cuba.

FIREPROOFING IN DEMAND HERE

Stock Jumps Three Points Over Night; Lone Star Up; Mayflower Drug Recovers

A sharp overnight gain in National Fireproofing, a further advance in Lone Star Gas to a new high and continued strength in International Rustless Iron marked the trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today.

Fireproofing opened 3 points above last night's final price and maintained the gain easily. Buying was attributed to earnings' outlook, which is said to be the best in many years.

The strength in Lone Star was a continuation of the rally which took place late yesterday after the stock had sagged back to a level under 65. In the initial dealings today it sold up to 68, the best price so far recorded.

Rustless Iron's rally also started yesterday afternoon after it had been forced back to around 7 on profit-taking professional selling induced by the midday weakness in the New York market. At the start today the stock was handled at 8⅛, up ¼ from the previous close.

Mayflower Drug came into the market around $7 a share, but there was not much stock changing hands. This price represented a recovery of 2½ points from the last previous price, recorded last week. On Monday of last week a 100-share block of Mayflower sold at 4½, which represented a decline of 4½ points from the preceding sale price, recorded July 25, last.

Executives Sell Their Own Stock

By B. C. FORBES

THE executive of one nationally-known corporation recently disposed of all his holdings in his own company and sold the stock short.

Almost every industrialist I meet confesses that he regards his shares as selling at unjustified heights.

Does this mean much or does it signify nothing?

THE speculative bull's comment is:

"Its executives are usually the poorest judges of the potential value of a company's stocks. They are so engrossed in day-to-day routine work, and are so familiar with every little and big difficulty which arises, that they are unable to take a longe-range view.

"Executives, most of them, have been so badly wrong in their judgment of the stock market that they are about the last people I would pay any attention to. There is no reason for assuming that they are right today."

TWO conversations with employes of a very large enterprise whose shares have been boomed dazzlingly may be worth repeating.

An office employe holding a moderately responsible position said to me:

"I hope you have some of our stock. Although it has gone up more than $100 a share, I know it will sell at $1,000 within the next two or three years—five years at the most. I wouldn't sell under $1,000 a share."

Said a chief executive of the company when asked his opinion entirely informally:

"My judgment is that almost every stock on the exchange is selling too high. I feel exactly the same way about the different companies I am connected with. I wouldn't buy—at current prices; it has been going up far too fast and is selling ridiculously out of line with earnings or any earnings within sight in the reasonable future."

And he mentioned the stock that the minor employe was holding for $1,000 a share.

ON the other hand, some of America's most prominent bankers who were sure last year and in the fore part of this year that the stock market had gone crazy and was on the eve of a terrific crash, have since lost much of their alarm. They admit that the country has enjoyed a measure of prosperity beyond anything they foresaw. They admit, too, that they have lost much of their fear regarding the dangerousness of having several billions of nonbanking ("bootleg") money on loan in Wall street. For a long time they were apprehensive that unregulated outside lenders might "pull the plug" without warning and plunge both the money market and the stock market into demoralization.

But nothing of the kind having happened, the disposition among these bankers now is to assume that nothing of the kind will happen.

They, therefore, have ceased being unqualified bears and are inclined to go along with the market.

IT is said that man can get accustomed to anything except hanging. Were you and I to be transplanted to the slopes of Vesuvius we doubtless would be frightened for a while, but in time we would probably become as accustomed to it and think as little of danger as do those who have long lived there.

May it not be that it is simply the long continuance of the abnormal speculation that has lulled most people into accepting the abnormal as being normal?

MAYBE it is stubbornness, maybe it is ignorance, maybe it is shortness of vision, maybe it is a sign of age—whatever the cause, I cannot interpret 8 to 10 per cent call money and 9 per cent or higher time money, and brokers' loans swiftly expanding by the billion, as normal, nor can I regard continued soaring of stock quotations as normal in face of the existing monetary conditions. Nor, in my fossilized opinion, is it normal, even in this land of immeasurable wealth and resources and development, to have stocks sell at anywhere from more than twenty times to fifty times, not to mention one-hundred-any-fifty times, their earnings.

THIS old-fashioned view has been so utterly wrong heretofore as applied to 40 per cent of the stocks dealt in on the New York Stock Exchange that it may continue to be as wrong as the judgment of corporation executives who feel more disposed to sell than to buy their own boomed stocks at current prices.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The Curb Market developed a fairly steady undertone today and a fair amount of discriminating buying made its appearance. The list in general made little headway, however, and further liquidation appeared here and there, causing considerable irregularity. Market sentiment appeared to have been well prepared for the increase in the Bank of England's discount rate, but continued tight money and rather pessimistic commission house advices prevented any renewal of strong operations for the advance.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Carriers' Revived Prosperity To be Reflected in Buying Of Cars and Equipment

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Railroad stocks as a group have not been bid to the fantastic price-earnings ratios to which favored industrial and public utility shares have.

And yet, the carriers as a whole are currently establishing new peak levels of net earnings. The revived prosperity of the railroads will in all probability be reflected in heavier buying of cars and other equipment next year. There has already been a spurt in such purchases.

Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific Company, in a message to this column, in referring to equipment purchases, said:

"Unquestionably heavier traffic and good earnings, such as all the principal railroads have had during the past few months, create confidence in making up the coming year's program."

Queried concerning the ambitions which the newly reorganized executive staff of the Southern Pacific has for the road, Mr. Shoup pointed out:

"The objectives of our company are, as always, to secure that increase in traffic which our plant can handle, and that is very considerable indeed, and to care for new traffic by local additions to that plant as necessary; to increase the efficiency of that plant by availing ourselves of every modern improvement and practice suitable to our activities; to create better roadbeds and structures in connection with renewals in order that there may be less curvature, less grades and less wear and tear in proportion to traffic.

"Among the great advances made by the railroads in the last few years are the use of heavier power, the operation of locomotives for longer distances, in which our company was the pioneer; the effort to give faster and scheduled freight train operation that is wholly dependable, which latter especially tends to create traffic, especially perishable; use of equipment to nearer approach the maximum use by avoiding haste in movement of empty cars; securing higher tonnage per locomotive and train mile, and securing better loading of freight cars to make more effective the energy derived from power. And finally, but very important indeed, the growing capacity of officers and employes to understand and solve successfully the problems of their work."

The next question relates to the prospects for further railroad expansion in the United States.

"It seems," Mr. Shoup felt, "as though further railroad building in any extensive way in the United States will be limited. Extensions for long distances to take care of the development of the country are no longer necessary. Our company has built more new mileage for the purpose of serving territory not already served within the last few years than any other railroad, due, of course, to its location in the West and Southwest, where the country commercially is still new and capable of extended growth. But there are few areas now left that will justify, so far as the present vision goes, any extensive new construction. On the other hand, demands for capital running into several hundred millions of dollars per year to add to and render more efficient the existing plants, is growing. Increased terminals, added double tracks, more equipment, heavier rail, better balasted, improved and larger repair shops, industrial spurs, grade crossing separations—such items as these are requiring very large sums of new capital. With all the efficiency that has been gained from existing plants, the pressure of commerce upon them keeps additions constantly necessary."

Railroad executives are contributing to the desirability of railroad investments by envisaging themselves as merchants of transportation. Instead of fighting buses and airplanes, they are tending to absorb them as supplementary agencies.

Speaking for the Southern Pacific, Mr. Shoup disclosed:

"We are using motor buses extensively as an auxiliary to highway service and have an approximately one-third interest in the largest motor bus corporation on the Pacific coast. Where equally satisfactory service can be rendered by them at less cost, they are in a limited way being used to replace trains. They perform a larger service in gathering up and distributing passengers, a field that has not yet been fully developed. The co-ordination of airplane and rail service is not yet in an experimental stage. As to your inquiry with respect to steamers, railroad companies have so far found it best to deal with steamship lines engaged in foreign business as friendly connections rather than as stockholders. The field open to the greatest co-ordination of rail and steamship service, that is, the steamship service through the Panama Canal, is closed by law against railroads."

Asked if the present rate structure is satisfactory, Mr. Shoup remarked:

"The tendency is to whittle down this changing rate structure at various points. So long as the volume of business is great and there are new sources of traffic supply arising from development of industry, this whittling tendency is not so perilous as it will be when commerce reaches a static stage. But it is a serious factor now and to be reckoned with."

Spang, Chalfant Has Record Quarter

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE third quarter of 1929 will be the best in the history of Spang, Chalfant and Company, Inc. July and August were exceptionally good months. September is maintaining a large volume with production of seamless tubing at 70 per cent of capacity and of welded pipe at 85 per cent.

Orders on hand indicate that October will be another good month. The last quarter of the year is normally marked by a seasonal slump, but there are indications that the final three months will at least make a good start.

Demand for oil country pipe has been increased during the past few weeks by the development of the Oklahoma City pool. At present 150 wells are being drilled and this may be increased to 300 within a short time.

Alloy Steels

THE production of pipe made of special alloys which have corrosion-resisting powers is increasing. While this does not run into large tonnages, the product sells for a higher price than ordinary steel pipe and is becoming an important item in the company's operations.

The company is now shipping seamless tubes in lengths up to 48 feet to the California fields. Production of these longer lengths has not yet reached large proportions but further development in the market is expected. Until recently 38 feet was the maximum length pipe which the company could make.

Earnings Gain

NET profit in the three months ending September 30, 1929, will be greater than that of $1,105,442 or $1.19 a share earned on common stock in the second quarter of the year. This quarter also established a high record.

Spang, Chalfant and Company was merged early in 1928 with the Standard Seamless Tube Company. The consolidation gave Spang the benefit of seamless tube production, a field in which it did not participate in the past.

Profit in the first nine months of 1929 will be about equal to the earnings of the full year of 1928 when $3,226,188 or $3.34 a share on common was reported.

Funded Debt

WHILE very satisfactory earnings are being shown on the 750,000 shares of common stock, after providing for dividends on $13,750,000 of 6 per cent preferred, it is rather unlikely that the common stock will be placed on a dividend basis for some time. It has been the policy for most of the companies in which J. H. Hillman, Jr., exerts an influence to free themselves of funded debt before distributing earnings to the junior stock. On April 1, 1929, $8,980,000 of an original issue of $10,000,000 of first sinking fund 5s were outstanding. It is quite probable that profits are being devoted to further retirements.

The affiliation with the Oil Well Supply Company, established after the Spang-Standard Seamless merger, by which Oil Well's 90 stores distribute Spang, Chalfant pipe, is becoming increasingly valuable as a sales outlet. Since the establishment of this connection there has not been a really active market in the oil fields. The future will probably show the value of the arrangement to Spang, Chalfant to a more pronounced extent than the past.

The arrangement is also advantageous to Oil Well Supply. In the past it was sometimes selling in competition with National Tube, which was its source of supply for pipe.

Stock Exchange Topics

Bright Prospects for Gain In Earning Power of United Gas.

DIXIE GAS AND UTLITIES and its parent company, United Gas Company were among the few stocks to advance on the curb in the early trading today. United Gas is understood to have bright prospects of increased earning power through negotiations now in progress which have as their aim the expansion of the company's gas facilities. Earnings are also expected to benefit from the growth of Duval Texas Sulphur, in which United Gas holds a majority interest, and from other sources related only indirectly to the natural gas field.

Only routine business was transacted at the meeting of directors of Baldwin Locomotive Works today. An announcement of great importance to stockholders is looked for from the management of Baldwin Locomotive Works on October 3, when they meet to ratify an increase in common shares from 200,000 of $100 par value to 2,000,000 no-par shares. The September operating schedule of the company's plant at Eddystone, Pa., will carry over into October. The company will have $14,000,000 in orders on its books entering October.

IN addition to reflecting the prospect of a four-for-one split-up of the precent shares Columbian Carbon's uprush of more than 50 points from Wednesday's low on the stock exchange was taken to foreshadow the taking up of an option on a substantial block of stock, which influential banking interests hold at $300 a share. Columbia Gas, which is sponsored by the same banking group, has also enjoyed an extensive advance over the last week. Simultaneous strength in the two stocks was believed to indicate that important developments were near with regard to their natural gas properties. It is felt that the situation holds interesting possibilities of extending the distribution of natural gas from this area to greater distances than heretofore considered feasible by means of interconnecting gas utility systems in a manner similar to that already employed in electric superpower groups.

Only the regular dividend was voted by the Anaconda Copper board at its quarterly meeting held at midday. There may have been some disappointment over the outcome of the meeting, but if so it was certainly limited to quarters that had set their hopes too high. Recalling that the dividend on Anaconda had been raised three times in the last year, from $3 to the present $7 rate, and that in the interval shareholders had received rather valuable "rights" making for additional income. The street had not placed much faith in reports around recently that an increase to $8 would be voted at this time. The action of the stock indicated that the outcome of the meeting had been in line with expectations of the rank and file.

ITS low levels reached in the forenoon General Motors was within less than 2 points of the year's bottom price. Reason for the persistent selling that has forced this pivotal industrial back steadily in recent weeks, is found in evidence of slowing down of motor car demand revealed in the monthly statistics of the company. Sales to dealers for August were 168,185 cars against 189,428 in July and 186,653 in August 1928. Dealers' sales to users were 173,884 units against 187,851 last month and 187,463 in August last year. Sales by dealers to users for the eight months exceeded the same period last year by only 8,865 units while division sales to dealers ran 90,039 units ahead of the total for the same period last year.

The abrupt slump in Chrysler, which carried that stock into new low territory, brought a statement from the head of that company in which he declared that present low price levels of motor stocks are not warranted by business conditions. The company sold 85,863 units in the period form July 1 to September 21 this year, he pointed out, against 88,265 units in the same period last year and 78,740 units in that period of 1927. "In the case of Chrysler at least," he was quoted, "there has been none of the disastrous decline in retail sales currently rumored throughout the industry, and there is ample evidence that motor stock prices are following the trend of the stock market rather than any real trend of the automobile business."

ENGLISH BANK INCREASES RATE

Directors Take Action to Retard Outflow of Gold; Minimum Discount 6½%

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The Bank of England today increased its minimum rate of discount 1 per cent to 6½ per cent.

The 5½ per cent rate had been in effect since February 7, 1929, when it was advanced from the 4½ per cent rate, which had been effective since April 21, 1927.

The step was taken in order to protect the bank's gold stock, due to the continued outflow of gold which this week totaled over £3,000,000 and which since the beginning of the year, totals £21,000,000.

TRADE HANDICAPS

Business experts say today's rise will be a handicap to trade and industry, but the authorities think it is necessary to attract to London some of the gold which has been drifting away.

Some banking authorities thought that yesterday's rise in the American dollar exchange would perhaps prevent the bank rate from rising.

The effect of the higher bank rate was reflected immediately in foreign exchanges, where rates moved sharply in favor of London. New York transfer rose to 4.85 9-16. French and German exchanges improved and most other continental central exchanges were adjusted to meet the new situation.

STOCK EXCHANGE STEADY

Discount rates advanced in sympathy with the new bank rate and banking staffs were busy revising the higher loan and interest rates necessitated by the change.

On the stock exchange the movement had been largely discounted since the continuous gold withdrawals and gilt-edged stocks eased only a fraction from yesterday's level.

RESERVE RATIO SAME

The Bank of England statement for the week ended September 26 shows ratio of reserves to liabilities at 29.7 percent, unchanged from the preceding week.

SWEDISH BOOSTS RATE

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 26.—The Riksban has raised its discount rate to 5½ per cent from 4½ per cent.

NORWEGIAN RATE UP

OSLO, Sept. 26.—The Norwegian bank rate has been raised to 6 per cent from 5½ per cent, effective tomorrow.

DENMARK RAISED

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 26.—The Danish Bank rate was raised to 5½ per cent today. The rate had been 5 per cent since June, 1926.

Railroads Seeking 79,956 Tons Rails

Chesapeake and Ohio, Hocking Valley and Pere Marquette Railroads are making inquiries for a total of 79,956 tons of rails.

Improved Net for Barnsdall Company

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Barnsdall Corporation reports net earnings for eight months were $5,316,626 after all charges and reserves versus $1,986,016 in the 1928 period.

President Reeser states earnings are equal to estimate made earlier in the year and all available for dividends and building up of cash position. To comply with conservation movement, especially in California, output of crude and refined products has been reduced. Notwithstanding this policy, earnings are maintained as estimated.

Pacific Gas Order Goes to Smith Co.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The A. O. Smith Corporation, of Milwaukee, Wis., has received an order from the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for 348 miles of 22-inch, 20-inch and 16-inch pipe for immediate delivery for use in natural gas lines. The order calls for about 54,000 tons of material.

124% Increase

Net earnings of Columbia Pictures Corporation show an increase of 124% in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929—over the previous year.

The company's common stock, listed on the New York Curb, has not discounted this gain which should be further increased during the current year.

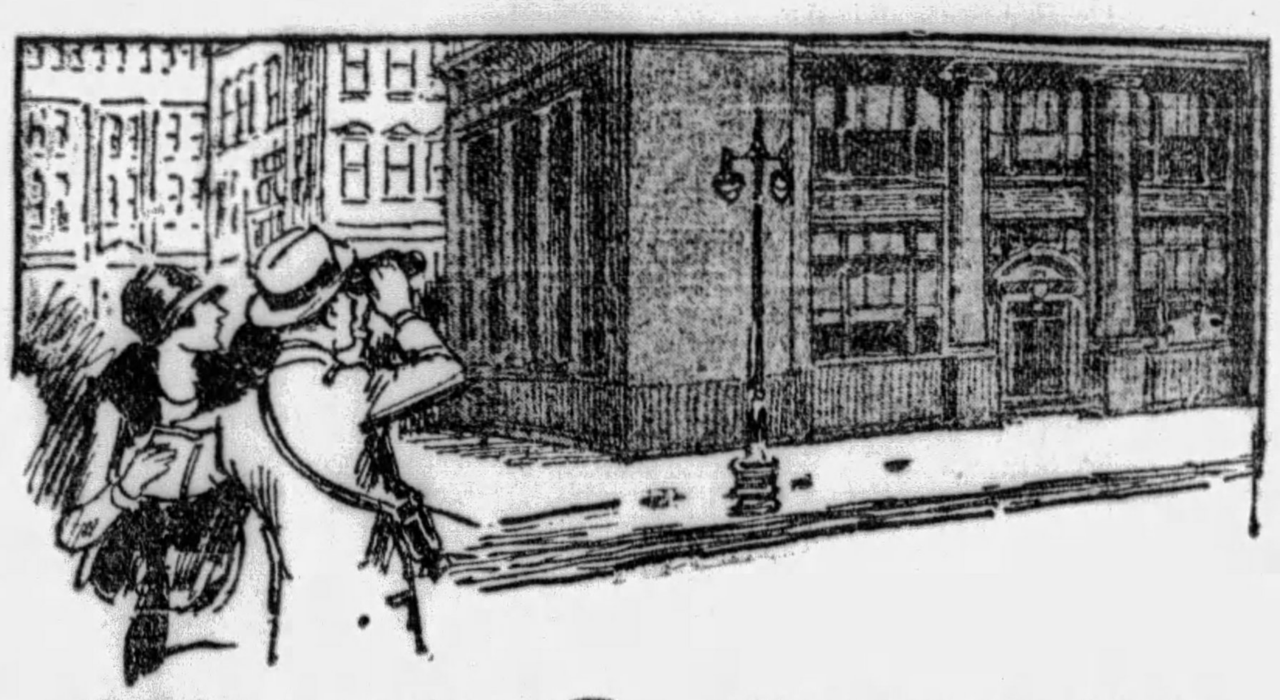
What to See at a Bank



HERE are some of the points of interest that you may have overlooked in your previous visits:

THE TRUST DEPARTMENT, for example, where many estates are being settled.

HERE plans are being perfected for continuing a business, to be disposed of under the terms of a will.

HERE on his thirtieth birthday comes a young man to receive the money left to him, in our care, by his father.

HERE a college girl comes for her quarterly allowance provided for her in an insurance trust, or a mother is signing the necessary papers to set in motion a steady flow of income for her support.

THE members of many families often come in for counsel and advice on investments and the wise management of money.

To get the whole picture of the many ways in which our Trust Department can serve you, we invite you to step in "behind the scenes" and have a talk with our Trust Officer.

Company has no mortgage indebtedness.

*40,000 shares additional reserved for issue against exercise of stock purchase warrants attached to debentures.

Mr. John Sheerin, President of the Company, has summarized, as follows, his letter to us regarding the business of the Company.

BUSINESS: Shamrock Oil and Gas Company has been organized for the purpose of producing oil, gas and casinghead gasoline, and has acquired approximately 5,000 acres of oil leaseholds in the Pampa Field, Gray County, Texas, and approximately 20,000 acres of dry gas leaseholds in Moore County, Texas. The leaseholds of this Company are producing a high grade of oil, free from sulphur, and with gravity ranging from 40° to 44°. Most of the well known oil companies are operating in this field. Moore County, Texas, is a part of the Panhandle Gas Field, the largest continuous dry gas field yet discovered.

The Company has completed a casinghead gasoline plant for the production of gasoline.

EARNINGS: Operations on the properties acquired commenced in January, 1929, and production has increased steadily since, amounting in July to 95,521 barrels, from 11 producing wells. Net earnings for July, 1929, after deducting all charges, including $54,556.42, for depletion and depreciation, but before Federal taxes, were $74,718.60.

It is expected the net income of the Company for the ensuing year, after all charges including bond interest and Federal income taxes, will amount to not less that $529,000.00, or $2.35 per share on the common stock.

DRY GAS LANDS: The Company has large available gas reserves. No arrangements have been concluded for the sale of commercial gas, but the Company is confident such an outlet will be found in the future, and when this is done large earnings should result therefrom.

ASSETS: Net tangible assets of the Company as of July 31, 1929, amounted to $2,250,000.00.

The properties have been examined by Mr. Ralph E. Davis, Petroleum Engineer, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who has appraised their combined value at $5,690,000.00, the same being carried on the books of the Company at $4,119,922.79.

MANAGEMENT: Operations in the field are in the hands of the President, John Sheerin, and the Vice President, J. M. Baldridge, who have had many years of experience in the Mid-Continent Field. The Officers of the Company will be John Sheerin, President; J. M. Baldridge, Vice President and Secretary, and J. B. Orr, Treasurer. The Officers, together with H. C. Fownes, II, R. T. Wilson, and W. C. Fownes, Jr., Chairman, will constitute the Board of Directors.

All legal matters relating to this issue, will be passed upon by Smith, Buchanan, Scott and Gordon, Esqus., of Pittsburgh, Pa., for the Bankers, and Humphrey Morris, Esq., of Pittsburgh, Pa., for the Company. Titles to the leaseholds have been passed upon by Underwood, Johnson, Dooley and Simpson, Esqs., of Amarillo, Texas.

We offer these securities when, as and if received by us and subject to approval of counsel.

Parting After a Quarrel

YOU looked at me with eyes grown bright with pain
Like some trapped thing's. And then you moved your head
Slowly from side to side, as tho' the strain
Ached in your throat with anger and with dread.

And then you turned and left me, and I stood
With a queer sense of deadness over me,
And only wondered dully that you could
Muster the courage that would make you free,

Till you were gone. Then all the air was thick
With my last words that seemed to leap and quiver;
And in my heart I heard the little click
Of a door that closes—quietly, forever.
—Bebe Kidd Heath.

The Chic Sales Influence

GENE FOWLER, crack editor of oh so many newspapers, was recently engaged for an executive job with the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel soon to rise. His first day brought him in contact with someone who said: "Mr. Fowler, we all have titles, what title do you want?"

"I need no titles," said Gene, "just call me Fowler."

"But everyone must have a title," persisted the other, "it looks good; come now, name the title you want."

"Well, if you insist," said Fowler, "call me 'The Specialist.'"

Haw!

Lester Allen tells the story of a third rate theatrical company who were giving a performance of a pantomime in which a large number of supers were employed. The audience was scanty, but noisily unfriendly. Finally one of the actors came down to the footlights and, addressing them, said: "You had better be careful. There are more of us than there are of you!"

Little Cold Broadway?

THE one line that appeared here Monday urging her old friends and admirers to forward some coin to help Truly Shattuck, once the toast of Broadway and now in distress, brought $111 the first morning, and we thank the senders fervently for being such good sports. Forty-six dollars came from a group of Friars who'd rather not have their names listed here. Fifteen dollars came from Dorothy Fields, the lyric writer of "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" and other delightful songs, and Finch, Wilson & Co., of 120 Broadway, enclose $50 with this note: "Dear Sir: We send you herewith our check in amount of $50 for the Truly Shattuck Fund for an unnamed client of ours."

Gracia!

Little Things

A string of pearls—a fond caress—
The strain of an oft-sung tune.
A scarlet gown, a silent church,
The thrill of the night's new moon.

Our pulses throb to such little things,
A letter—a new chapeau,
It doesn't seem quite right to me
That hearts keep aching so.
—Martha Lee.

Oh, Mr. Wilstach!

RECOMMENDED to Frank J. Wilstach's book of best similes: James Branch Cabell's: "She had a mouth like a red button on a shoe" . . . Polly Moran's: "The Zeppelin looked like Marie Dressler in a hammock" . . . Louis Untermeyer: "Prattled, like the talk of brooks to tolerant stone" . . . William Bolitho's: "A perfect critic, like a perfect dog, is largely a matter of taste and prejudice" . . . Russel Crouse: "As superfluous as a shooting gallery in Chicago" . . . The Great What?

The Great Raymond, as he bills himself, always enjoyed the distinction of being Houdini's only rival. Wherever he appeared he posted $1,000 with the local bank, offering the sum to anyone who could invent a lock or prison from which he couldn't escape.

In Rutland, Vt., however, he was in a tough spot, and waited three hours in the hotel foyer for his press agent, who had to climb through a window to open Raymond's door, because the very great Raymond dreaded telling the clerk that he couldn't locate his key.

Quietso, Quietso

IT WAS at the Colony Restaurant where the snootier set sip and sup at so much a karat. At one table, frixample, was George Jean Nathan. At another sat Adele Astaire, and Ralph Barton, and at other spots sat Billy Baxter, the best known Man About Town; Edgar Selwyn, Ruth Wilcox, and so on.

"Ah me," ventured the lady sitting with Harry Reichenbach, "as I look about me I realize what a lot of four flush there is in New York."

"I don't agree with you at all," observed Harry, "New York is the greatest experimental laboratory in the world, where you get the acid test and either come through it gilt edge or tin!"

By Way of Report

Revenge is an obsession which finds expression in divers ways. Murder, arson, rape and slander are a few of them. But the strangest of all, probably, is that of Karavaeff, former partner of Anna Pavlowa, and now dancing for the Loew's theaters.

Because he was born without thumbs, Karavaeff was rejected in boyhood by the masters of the Russian Imperial Ballet to whom he applied. He was a thing imperfect. So he taught himself to dance, without a single lesson, working in tea shops and vodka mills until Pavlowa discovered him and brought him to dance with her at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Ziegfeld later found use for his talents, and his fame was recognized. But revenge was the uppermost thing in Karavaeff's mind—smoldering resentment against those who had rejected him. And now he has found it. He has made a burlesque of that beautiful Russian ballet art which they hold so dear by turning it into a tap dance.

Always Belittlin'

Frisco, the hoofer, and the Broadway columnist with whom he is tiffing, encountered each other again in a restaurant last night and the irritated hoofer was striving to be comical again. He whispered something to a go-between and added: "Relay that for me, will you?"

"Hey," shouted the go-between across the room, "Frisco just said something very clever!"

"Well," was the retort, "it's high time."

DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

Exceptions Taken To Bank Accounts

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Exceptions to the final account of Frank W. Jackson, receiver for the defunct Peoples' Bank of Farrell, were filed in Mercer County Court by United States Attorney John D. Meyer, of Pittsburgh.

The claim contends that the receiver erred in not allowing a full claim by the Postoffice Department in connection with a sub-station maintained at the bank. A balance of about $1,000 is sought.

Three Plead Guilty To Series of Thefts

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Three alleged members of a theft ring headed by George Holland, slain by Niagara Falls, N. Y., police 10 days ago, pleaded guilty to robbery charges when arraigned in Wetzel County court.

Raymond Styres was sentenced to 10 years in prison and Elbur Burkey and William Bonar, who confessed to store robberies here, two years each.

Sam Is Arrested After Joe Loses His Nerve And 'Squeals'

CHAPTER XXX.

CHESTY, the doorman, came out of Sam's office rubbing his eyes.

"Sam," he said, "Scabby wants to see you."

"Tell him to come out here," said Sam.

"No," said Chesty, "he wants to see you private."

"Hey, Sam," said Kid Bean, "give us a deck of cards, will you?"

"No," said Sam, "you don't even know what they're for." He pulled himself slowly to his feet and turning to Chesty went on: "Get these guys a pack of cards and lock 'em up some place. They'd bump each other off for two bits and I don't want this nice carpet spoiled."

Yawning and stretching, Sam went into his office and shut the door. Scabby was standing in the middle of the room, biting his nails.

"Want a bottle of wine or something, Scabby?" asked Sam.

"Hell, no!" cried Scabby.

Sam stared at him, then dropped into a chair.

"Well," he said, "you look like you got something on your mind, so spill it."

Scabby was so nervous that he couldn't control the muscles of his face.

"You're damn right I got something on my mind," said Scabby. "Joe spilled the works."

Sam opened his eyes wide.

"Joe who?"

"Joe Massara," said Scabby, "they nabbed him on the Courtney business and he squawked."

Sam's jaw fell and he ran his hands over his face in a bewildered way.

"Yeah?" he said.

"It's the God's truth," said Scabby; "boy, the bulls sure played this one slick. Listen, I didn't even know nothing about it. They kept the newspaper guys out and when a couple guys who were in the know came looking for Joe they told them that they must have him at the Chicago Avenue Station. And out at Chicago avenue they sent 'em some place else. Yeah, it's all over now."

This was too much for Sam. He just sat there staring at Scabby.

"God, Sam," said Scabby, astonished, "don't you get me? It's all over. Listen, if it wasn't for you I'd be on my way right now.

I don't know whether I'll be named or not, but I ain't taking no chances. Love of God, don't just sit there. You got to do something."

"Joe spilled everything?" asked Sam, taking it in slowly.

"Yeah, he stuck it out for four hours, but he didn't have a chance."

There was a flash of the old Sam Vettori. He got up and took Scabby by the arm.

"Is Rico wised up?"

"No," said Scabby.

"All right," said Sam, "you keep your mouth shut."

"You don't have to tell me," said Scabby.

Sam looked about him, bewildered.

"But, good God," he cried, "what am I gonna do?"

"Well," said Scabby, "I got a can down here and I'm hitting East. Want to go with me? I'll take a chance."

Sam looked his bewilderment. Things were moving too fast for him. Why, he hadn't been out of Chicago for 20 years. He hadn't been out of Little Italy for over five. Just pick up and beat it.

"What the hell!" said Sam, "I got a good business. . . God, what am I gonna do?"

Scabby stared at him.

"Why, Sam," he said, "you must be losing your mind."

Sam wiped the sweat from his face and sank back into his chair.

"Joe spilled it, huh? Rico said he'd turn yellow."

Scabby took him under the arms and tried to pull him to his feet, but Sam pushed him away.

"No use running," he said, "they'll get you sure. I ain't gonna go running all over hell and back and a bunch of bulls chasing me."

Scabby swore violently in Italian.

"No," said Sam, "no use running."

"Well," said Scabby, "this bird's gonna pull his freight. Sam, you must be full of hop."

Sam sat staring at his shoes.

"Listen," said Scabby. "I can't waste no more time. Are you gonna pull out or ain't you?"

Sam didn't say anything.

"O. K.," said Scabby; "I'm moving."

"Wait," cried Sam. "Scabby, listen to me. I been good to you, ain't I?"

"You sure have."

"I give you the money to bring your old man over here, didn't I? And I give you the money to bury him, didn't I?"

"You sure did."

"Well, listen, Scabby, if Rico gets away, pop him. Damn him; he's busted us all. Pop him, Scabby, for old Sam."

"He won't get away," said Scabby.

"You don't know that guy," said Sam, getting shakily to his feet; sure to God, you don't know that guy. He's got a run of luck and it may last."

"If he gets away I'll pop him," said Scabby.

The door was flung violently open and Killer Pepi stepped in.

"I heard you rats," he said. "The Kid told me there was something up. Double-crossing the boss, hunh?"

"Go to hell," said Sam.

Scabby raised his gun, but it missed fire. The Killer shot from his hip, then ran out, slamming the door.

"Did he plug you, Scabby?" cried Sam.

"No," said Scabby, "but I heard her sing."

The window behind Scabby had a bullet hole in it.

"He'll spill it sure," said Sam, his face puckered.

"Won't do him no good," said Scabby, "cause the bulls are on their way. Well, Sam, I'm moving."

Sam just looked at him. Scabby raised the window and climbed out on the fire escape.

"Love of God, Sam," said Scabby, "you got to do something."

Sam took his hat from the hook."

"I'll go see the Big Boy."

"It won't do you no good, Sam."

They heard someone running down the hall, then there was a shot, followed by a rush of feet. Chesty flung open the door.

"The bulls!" he cried.

Scabby disappeared down the fire escape. Sam took out his automatic and put his back against the wall. Spike Rieger put his head in the door, then drew it back hastily.

"Sam," he called, "better give up."

"All right," said Sam, flinging his gun on the floor.

Spike Reiger came in, followed by two policemen.

"Put the cuffs on him," said Spike.

Sam held out his hands and one of the policemen snapped on the handcuffs.

"Spike," said Sam, "did you pick the Killer up on the way in?"

"No," said Spike, "we don't want him for nothing." Turning to the policemen Spike said, "All right, put him in the wagon."

"Listen, Spike," said Sam, "did you get Rico?"

"I don't know," said Spike. "Flaherty's after him. I guess you know Gentleman Joe squawked, don't you?"

"Yeah," said Sam, indifferently, "but you ain't got no case against me."

Spike laughed.

Three Badly Hurt As Auto Hits Pole

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—Three persons were in a critical condition at the hospital here as the result of an automobile accident near Ruff Creek today. John Hoy, his baby daughter, Jenevieve and his brother, James, all of Brave, were seriously hurt when the Hoy car, driven by John, hit a telephone pole in an effort to avoid collision with a car coming from a side road.

Mrs. John Hoy and Mrs. James Meighen, passengers, were less seriously hurt.

Man Held in Sale Of Toy on July 4

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 26.—(AP.)—A Fourth of July accident resulted in Harry Solomon being held for court under $500 bond on a charge of selling to a minor a toy pistol capable of firing cartridges. The charges were filed by John Lucas, whose son, John, 11, suffered a badly mangled hand when the pistol exploded.

Dance Hall Near Franklin Burns

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 26.—(A.P.)—Kings Palace, a well-known dance hall near here, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin. Damage was estimated at $10,000. Firemen were handicapped by lack of water, and apparatus sent from Oil City arrived too late to save the structure.

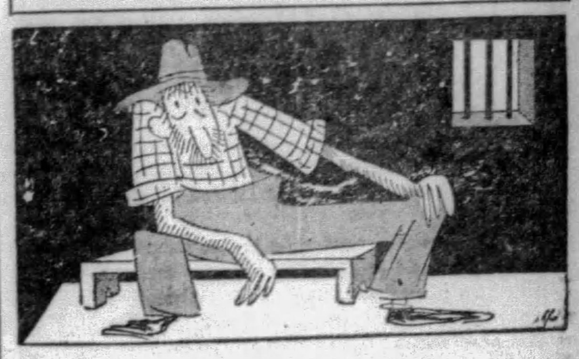
PATHETIC BALLAD OF THE LONESOME HILLBILLY



News Item—

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Jim Moore, in jail for moonshining, led Federal officers to his son's still and asked them to arrest him because the father wanted to teach the "boy"—who is forty years of age—a lesson.

Locked up in the jailhouse for makin' moonshine booze
Pap Moore meditated and got religious blues—
It made him mighty downcast to contemplate the crime
His youngest son (now forty) indulged in at the time.

So Pappy called the jailers and led 'em through the hills
Until they came to whar young Bill was 'tendin' of his stills.
"Howdy, son," said Pappy, with a sad and saintly wail,
"Low as how you better come along with me 'ter jail."

Now, Bill, at first, was angry and showed it on his map,
"'Pears to me yer gone and done me dirty, ain't yer, Pap?"
"Ain't no sech thing," said Pappy. "Stop thet baby whinin'
You and me has now reformed an' quit this here moonshinin'.

"Ain't no future in hit—figger hits a crime—
I thought it out all keerful like while I was doin' time."
Bill took out his terbacker, bit off a vicious chaw,
"Shore hope," he finally whispers, "yer don't go snitch on maw."

More Miles From Tires.

Make your old tires help you pay for the new! It may be economy for you to buy new tires when the old ones show wear, but it's needless waste to throw the old ones away.

There are many hundreds, even thousands, of miles of service still in them—and many auto owners who have the time and mechanical ability are seeking just such as you have been throwing away.

So advertise your used tires in the Classified Ads—it's economy for you, and economy for those who come to buy.

Cascara is Good for the System

What do you do when a sluggish system tells you the bowels need a little help?

The best thing yet discovered for the purpose is still the little candy Cascaret! Take one whenever the liver and bowels are not functioning as they should.

Cascarets are pleasing to the palate, and pleasant in their action. You eat them just like candy. They work while you sleep. Gentle, but thorough. Cascarets don't stir-up the stomach or upset the system. But they cleanse the entire thirty feet of bowels in one comfortable, thorough action that leaves the system clean and sweet; leaves you with an untainted breath, uncoated tongue, and clear head.

Cascarets are made of cascara—long regarded one of the most beneficial laxatives known to medical science. They are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice. Children love them. So do most grown-ups! Why take anything harsh when constipation threatens? Whenever a dull headache, lassitude, or sick stomach with loss of appetite warns you of poor elimination, a Cascaret or two is the most harmless form of help you could give a lagging system.

Take a candy Cascaret tonight and see how fine you'll feel in the morning—and for days after.

If Mosquitoes Were Wiped Out

The Forty-eight States Could Do It.

A division of a nation into separate states, with separate governments, has its DISADVANTAGES as well as its great advantages.

If all the states would unite in one campaign to destroy mosquitoes it would be possible to destroy them all.

But one place destroys them while another place encourages them. When they are discouraged in one place they travel on the inside of automobiles and railroad trains and soon re-establish themselves elsewhere.

Co-operation among states, directed and encouraged by the national government, is what the country needs. Imagine the entire country free of mosquitoes, free, in consequence, of malaria and all danger from yellow fever.

That COULD be accomplished if all 48 states and Uncle Sam would work together. It's an engineer's job. President Hoover might do it.

The Old, Old Dilemma

Senator Heflin's Sympathetic Case.

Consider the role of Senator "Tom Tom" Heflin, for the moment, with genuine sympathy.

Here is a man blowing hurricanes of oratory into his own sails.

He thunders. He trembles. He grows purple with rage. He stamps the boards. He thrusts at imaginary foes. He charges up blind alleys. He punches straw men in the nose.

And he is a national clown in the estimation of his critics.

Suddenly fate turns with ironic bitterness and thrusts Senator Heflin into a humble role. While striving to attract the attention of the universe, he is transformed into a tragic figure on his own doorstep. For who can feel other than sincerely sorry for Heflin the father, baffled by his own son's deportment?

Why a Protestant King

A Dublin Clergyman Asks

British law says the British King must be a Protestant. A Dublin Jesuit priest, the Rev. R. F. Devane, demands that this law be abolished, in order that the Irish Free State may be on an equality with other parts of the Empire.

"Why," asks Father Devane, "should we, as a Catholic people, be penalized, relegated to a place of inferiority, merely on the ground of our religion? It is not the written law of the United States that a Catholic must not be President, though it may be the unwritten law."

He demands that Great Britain's law be changed to allow the King "to serve God as his conscience dictates."

Ipso Facto

He Is a Song Writer

Jordan S. Murphy is a popular song writer. Or, rather, he writes popular songs. He is in prison, having been adjudged an habitual criminal. However, he believes he has found a flaw in his conviction and he seeks release.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea for somebody to go have a heart-to-heart talk with Song Writer Murphy? He should be told that there are already too many song writers at large. Even though his conviction was technically irregular, the fact remains that he IS a song writer. It is not often that one of these fellows is locked up. It doesn't seem right that he should be let out again on a technicality. He admits he is a song writer.

Vicious Circle

Progress in Transportation

Those of us who sit with long faces and view-with-alarm or observe-with-regret are rather stumped by the progress in transportation.

We sigh and ponder.

Assume that it will soon be possible to get from one place to another so fast that we meet ourselves coming back. In annihilating distance are we annihilating any excuse for covering it? The world is becoming so uniform that we must travel half way around the world to find anything different. Doesn't that disturb you just a little bit? Oh, very well.

A Far Better Way

Good Place to Put Stockings.

Mrs. Annabelle Young, of New Haven, believes that students at Yale and girls of the vicinity should be saved from themselves. And to gain this end she suggests an ordinance forcing all girls over 12 to wear stockings.

Now, the modern silk stocking may save the wearer from adverse criticism. But it is too flimsy a thing to do all the saving Mrs. Young would like to accomplish.

But Mrs. Young might gain her end by slightly amending the proposed ordinance. She should provide that the silk stockings be wrapped around the eyes of Yale students.

Bible Passages

A Thousand Years

(II Peter 3, 1-14.)

THIS second epistle, beloved, I now write unto you; in both which I stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance.

That ye may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Saviour:

Know this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts.

And saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation.

For this they willingly are ignorant of, that by the word of God the heavens were of old, and the earth standing out of the water and in the water.

Whereby the world that then was, being overflowed with water, perished.

But the heavens and the earth which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men.

But, beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.

The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentence.

But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up.

Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness,

Looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?

Nevertheless, we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness.

Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot and blameless.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

KIDS often bring their parents good news. Like Bobby, that came in and says to his dad, "Say, Dad, I thought George, the chauffeur, didn't like you, but I heard him standing up for you today."

"Zat so? Why, of course George likes and respects me. Why shouldn't he? I pay him, don't I?"

"Well, he was for you, anyhow, and he made the gardener look foolish, too."

"Good for George! What was the argument about?"

"Why, George claimed he had worked once for a man that was a bigger sap than you and the gardener wouldn't believe him. But George said that this other guy he worked for didn't even have sense enough to keep out of jail, while you do. That finished the gardener, because he couldn't think of any answer."

MR. MELLON ON OPPORTUNITY

By Herbert Kaufman

SENATOR FESS now leads by a length in the Foolish Question Contest. He asks Secretary Mellon if the present holds as much promise for young men as the PAST offered.

Whereupon, Mr. Mellon, born in 1855 and notoriously conservative in his estimates, tells him and YOU that opportunities are TEN times greater than in his own youth.

In 1855 John D. Rockefeller hadn't heard of gasoline . . . Seattle was an empty mud-flat, Alaska considered a bad buy at EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS . . . and lots of folks were still unconvinced that the Louisiana Purchase was the biggest real estate bargain since the Manhattan Island deal.

In 1855, buffalo herds were browsing on the sites of Kansas and Panhandle wheat fields—Marshall Field was personally serving customers in the frontier town of Chicago—George Pullman was earning carpenter wages and Andy Carnegie tapping out board and lodging on a telegraph key.

OMAHA was a teepee camp—Los Angeles a clutter of 'dobe huts—the Dakotas uninhabited—the ore beds of Michigan and the copper deposits of Montana and Arizona still awaiting discovery.

Neither Jim Hill nor Jay Gould had yet seen the inside of a railroad coach, and Collis Huntington was grub-staking Forty-niners at his false-front, general merchandise store in San Francisco.

Cow-bells tinkled at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-ninth street—Washington Square was uptown New York—and the entire revenues of the Empire State weren't equal to 1929 tax yields from the Wall street district.

In 1855, the founder of the three and a half billion dollar National City Bank was a barefoot lad, rowing ferry boats between Brownsville, Texas, and the Matamoras shore—the Strauses of R. H. Macy and Company, helping out in father's village emporium in Georgia—David May hadn't set sail from Germany to establish his vast retail chain—Cyrus McCormick was choring on a West Virginia farm, and the Knickerbockers were snubbing the Vanderbilts.

IN 1855, the total manufactures of Pittburgh employed less than 15,000 hands, and Philadelphia was boasting that Stephen Morris' stove and iron works covered all of two acres.

In 1855, 95 per cent of Americans hadn't entered a high school or even imagined their immediate descendants would have free colleges, paved residential streets or piped gas and sanitary plumbing in their homes.

Apprentices THEN worked until voting age for clothes and keep—orphans were sold into bondage—delinquents jailed for debt—and men and women with one TRACEABLE drop of Negro blood were vendible chattels without legal title to their own off-spring.

IN 1855, there wasn't a trades union in the country, a compensation or child labor law on the statute books, or a compulsory education act in the thoughts of government.

In 1855, the foundations were unlaid for our chemical and electrical industries—steel was largely produced by manual processes—not a section of rail had reached the left bank of the Mississippi—the possibilities of hydro-electric power were unsuspected—Bell hadn't begun to experiment with the telephone—there were no transit systems, phonographs, pneumatic devices, automatic office equipment or typewriters—no motion pictures, no radios, nor any of the thousand sources of vocation and fortune which have since made millionaires as common as one-horse carriage owners were at Mr. Mellon's earthly debut.

Whatever HAS happened is a trifling performance compared to what's ABOUT to occur.

A first-class tomorrow can always thrash a history full of yesterdays.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

HELEN wants to write. She says she "can't stand the deadly monotony and discipline of ordinary work." She's sure there must be some lovelier, livelier way to live and she thinks that maybe writing's it. So will I please tell her something about writing, particularly "what's hardest about it?"

It's evident that Helen thinks that writing is one of the Sacred Mysteries, and expects me to give a dramatic account of my spiritual travail. What a surprise that girl is going to get!

THE HARDEST THING ABOUT WRITING, HELEN, IS TO STICK TO YOUR SEAT AND STAY STUCK.

Which was, when I first started writing, as rude a shock to me as it must be to Helen. In common with most humans, I had highfalutin' ideas about Art. I thought that people who committed literature were a Special Breed by themselves, of rare and exquisite sensibilities, subject to no common law. Human humming birds, as it were. On no account must these unique specimens be treated like ordinary guys, lest their genius be cramped. They should do their stuff either under lofty pines and spreading oaks or in dim, draped rooms with a lot of incense and maybe soft music. There they should await the Mood.

The Mood, I thought, was the big idea with writers. You couldn't write unless you were "in the mood." It descended upon you like a spiritual sunstroke and gripped you like the colic. While in its throes you perpetrated Art—and nobody n' nothing must, on any account, interrupt the Mood.

Such was my idea of the sacred calling of Writing. Then I started to write. AND WHAT A KICK IN THE SHIN I GOT! For it immediately became apparent that WRITING WAS JUST ANOTHER JOB! Maybe I didn't think so but my editor did, and he was boss.

Did anyone treat me like a humming bird? Did anyone protect my Moods, or sequester me in silken seclusion with incense and dim lights 'n' everything? They did NOT. They gave me a busted chair and an old typewriter and told me to hop to it and make it snappy. And from that time to this, Helen, my main concern has been TO STICK TO THAT SEAT UNTIL I FINISHED MY JOB.

All the rest of it—the thinking of lovely thoughts, the picking of pretty words—is secondary to that grim business of holding my lazy, fidgety, peevish, silly self down on that chair long enough to do something worth while.

And indeed, as I look from that chair out at life, I perceive that that is the fundamental requirement in any real job—STAYING PUT. For that is the basis of all good work, all fine art. HARNESSING YOURSELF—FIGHTING THE RESTLESS, ANIMAL IMPULSES WITHIN YOU THAT PROMPT YOU TO DREAM AND DAWDLE. You must conquer those impulses before you'll ever amount to shucks, Helen. Until you have CONQUERED you can't CREATE.

It isn't his SOARING but his STICKING that makes a man great.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Dull Days

DULL days come sometimes and then
I can steal away
To a quiet, hidden glen
Where the willows sway.
Willow branches trail and bend
With a dancer's grace
Where the sun's slant beams descend
On their emerald lace.

Robin of the cherry breast
Pauses here to find
Just the bough to keep a nest
Rocking in the wind.
Dull days, lazily, I hear
Where I sprawl at ease,
Linnets' lyrics, blithe and clear,
Bluebirds' melodies.

Jade-green lizards, butterflies,
Squirrels swift and shy . . .
Dull days? Why, each hour flies
In such company!

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The recent house-cleaning in the N. V. A., the vaudeville organization, and the elevation of Eddie Cantor to the presidency, marks the passing of a supreme dictator who ruled it for 15 years. The dethroned ruler is E. F. Albee. The big sub-rosa power behind the throne is William Fox.

But the greatest victory of all was achieved by an obscure fighter in the background. He is Sime Silverman, the editor of the theatrical weekly Variety. For more than 10 years Variety has been snapping at Albee's heels. And in the end its yaps did much toward unhorsing the King.

Sime's stand brought the sheriff and a pretty seal to his door several times. But he fought on. Variety reporters were persona non grata in the Albee offices, and advertising matter was denied the journal. As it was then primarily a vaudeville organ, it was a heavy loss.

The editor of Variety, however, had viscera—ritz for wnat you call it—and never weakened although at times the scramble to meet the payroll was hectic. Strangers who merely admired his courage often came to the rescue. And today Variety prospers.

Albee was a remotely pious figure in the wise cracking world of flip talking vaudevillians. A New Englander, he had the ministerial manner and stained glass dignity of a parson. He is indeed active in church affairs in his home at Mt. Vernon. His recreation is buying old masters.

Enemies charged he used the N. V. A. for personal exploitation and that back of his austerity a "publicity hound" tugged at the leash. True or not, his activities used up much printer's ink, but not effectively. In the field of variety he was not a very genial figure.

However, he is a multi-millionaire and the loss of his crown will not weigh heavily. With his removal has arisen a sort of Will Hays of the two-a-day. This honor falls to the widely beloved Pat Casey, who has been knocked about with little recognition for many years.

The N. V. A. Club is one of the few clubs preserving the trouping atmosphere. In its lounges one hears the picturesque patois of the theater and sees the high belted, loud shirted "piff-awmers" swinging canes and strutting as well as hearing them mouth extravagant hopes. There is always a laugh at the N. V. A. One story concerns skylarking out front one evening. A cop accosted a group with "Move on quietly, boys." An acrobat gravely walked into the club on his hands.

Gyp taxis hanging about night clubs find the sledding a bit rough these days. The public has learned most of these cabs are piloted by petty racketeers with fixed meters. They operate on the theory a fare leaving a night club at 3 a. m. is not likely to be a stickler for details and doormen are often in league with pirates. Today wise fares drift to the corner and "hail their own."

Broadway now has a new dingus to carry along with the vest pocket lighter. It is a hooch tester—a thermometer looking contraption turning green if the liquor is good and blue if poisonous.

A tip-top writing man offers comfort with the belief being childless has advantages. "We have two," he writes, "and one fell off a wall and cut her face up so she may have to become a New Jersey school teacher instead of marrying an advertising expert."

Norman Anthony, Jr., gave a young lady hat checker a dollar bill, expecting change. Instead she slipped it into her cash box. "What did you do to the hat," he archly inquired. "Block it?"

By some clever weaving in and out—I'm a sketch as a clever in and out weaver—I was able to reach the center of a huge crowd suddenly massed on the west side of Times Square yesterday afternoon. The tumult was inspired by a soap box gospeler holding a banner reading: "A Decent Woman Will Never Be Caught Smoking a Cigarette." And a companionate neck craner must have been the Horrible Example. For she was a beautiful young girl puffing a cigaret.

Newspapermen who attain the dignified classification of journalists are confusing to old timers. I talked to one today who spoke of the "research work," he had to do before turning out his story. In my days in the editorial room "research work" had something to do with the face of the office clock.

In a Yiddish cafe, with one of those window signs resembling a bubonic plague germ under a microscope, I asked the waiter if I might have a glass of water. "If you like," he responded, suppressing a yawn and pointing to a water cooler in the rear of the room.

THE WORLD SERIES

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

DON'T know whether Chicago-Philly world series is a job for baseball writers or war correspondents.

"Bugs" Baer

Both towns have Class A police forces.

Connie Mack is 60 years old this election.

He waited 15 years for this chance. He should have postponed it another 15.

We have lived in both towns Connie, and the only place where gray hairs are respected are in soup.

It may be baseball. And it may be a mob war.

Don't let them give your outfielders a picnic in a garage.

Keep the baseballs in the waterbucket. They might be pineapples.

Notice that Ring Lardner is going to cover the series in his old home town. Ring lived in Chicago 15 years but never made the rifle team.

That story he ran in Collier's about our game at Bayside was all true except the facts.

We were on third base when Ring smacked one at the pitcher. Ring states the pitcher made a startling catch on the eighth bounce and that Ring then ran to third base to talk it over with me.

The truth is that the pitcher, who was Jim Corbett, threw to third to catch me napping.

Ring was at the plate and swung at the throw to third. The outfield consisted of Tad, Hershfield, Sterret, Frank Craven, Grantland Rice and another bridge dummy.

They all ran to cover up the third baseman which left the batter without any support. Ring claimed he was out on both fronts.

All we remember was that Ring was dressed in white flannels. And nobody could touch Ring out under those conditions.

When Lardner dressed in white and stood on a foul line you couldn't see any Lardner.

The camouflage was perfect. Ring admits that he was trying to bat. So when he spoke to me the umpire declared me out for talking to a spectator.

If we remember rightly, the game was played for the American Legion, who denied it.

And it wasn't the ball that bounced eight times. It was Bill McGeehan.

Anyway, it was a great game and was stopped by darkness about three weeks later.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

YOU have a friend whom you would like to have join you as a member of an expensive club. You know his income is less than yours and he follows a savings system which he will not break. But you think he should be willing to go along with you, even though neither of you can afford the required expenditures.

You may be satisfied to be of, but not a part of, the society which this club represents.

He might not be willing to occupy such a position.

Unless he can be taken in on a basis that enables him to maintain his self-respect, he does not care to become affiliated with the organization.

It is unkind of you to urge him under such circumstances. With his make-up it would be embarrassing to him to have to refuse you. His position is such that it would be hard for him to check the thought that he is not what he should be as a money earner.

But if he is the sensible sort, making a definite saving each year representing what you are foolishly spending, is he not the more sensible?

He has an objective, while you may be merely driving along with little thought of the future.
